

TURKS MAY DECLARE WAR ON GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—While the allied powers are feverishly endeavoring to arrange a peace conference to clear the slate between Turkey and Greece and prevent more fighting in the near east, rumors of impending hostilities continue to come from Constantinople and the Dardanelles. A relatively small force of British troops is holding Chanak, while the Turkish nationalists are concentrated outside the neutral zone at Ismid and Chanak, awaiting the word from Mustapha Kemal Pasha to advance. The Kemalists, official French dispatches say, have available for use 1,000 modern field guns, 5,000 machine guns and enough ammunition for a two years' campaign, which they captured from the Greeks. If their spokesman at Constantinople is to be believed, the Turks are determined that the allies shall not (Continued on Page Four)

TO REBUILD DEVASTATED FRENCH AREAS

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The Berlin newspapers announced today that a contract was concluded in Paris September 14 between an association comprising eighty-eight building firms and a Berlin firm for the purpose of reconstruction work in the devastated areas of France. It is expected 150,000 workers, of whom 40,000 will be Germans, will be employed on the work. The contract, it is said, already involves 336,000,000 francs.

SHORTAGE OF LABOR

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—A shortage of 500 common laborers here was reported today by H. R. Weller, director of the state city free employment bureau. Many employers from points just over the state line in Pennsylvania have made requests for men also he said.

TO LIGHT A BLAST FURNACE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The blast furnace of the A. M. Myers Company, in Girard, Ohio, was lighted today after a three months' suspension. Its resumption will mean further employment in the operation of the Myers puddling furnaces, half of which are now working. Of the 47 blast furnaces in this district, 24 are now in operation marking the passing of the 50 per cent mark in number of furnaces active. Their capacity is 65 per cent of the rated capacity of the district.

FORD PLANTS TO REOPEN TOMORROW

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The plants of the Ford Motor Company in the Detroit district closed last Saturday because of the coal situation, thereby throwing 100,000 Ford workers out of work in different parts of the country, will re-open tomorrow morning, it was officially announced today. Orders for the re-opening of the plants were telegraphed here today by Edsel B. Ford, president of the motor company, who is in Cincinnati. Mr. Ford said cancellation of the interstate commerce commission's service order number 23 had made it possible again to obtain coal. The telegram reads: "Cancellation of the interstate commerce commission's service order number 23 has made it possible again to secure coal. Movement of coal to Detroit has started and we feel justified in re-opening the plants tomorrow (Friday) morning. Post notices calling the men back to work and notify the newspapers." Henry Ford was said to be traveling in Ohio on his railroad, the Detroit, Toledo, and Ironton. He was understood to be on the way to join police station, netted the police six Edsel somewhere in the southern states with a view to making permanent arrangements for an uninterrupted coal supply for the Ford Company.

GOVERNOR DAVIS LEAVES FOR REST

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Governor Davis left the executive office today for a few days' recuperation at a rest place outside the state. For several days his physical condition has been growing more strained from constant application to executive duties during the summer and on advice of his physicians the rest period was decided upon, it was stated.

SOCIETY

Among the attractive social events of the week was the lovely bridge party and miscellaneous shower given this afternoon at the handsome home of Mrs. Charles V. Wertz on Fourth street when her daughter, Mrs. Walter Willhite (Margaret Wertz) of Baltimore, Md., entertained for the pleasure of Miss Mildred Prichard, whose marriage to Mr. Roy Jewett will be one of the charming events of October third.

The house was artistically decorated throughout with a profusion of bright colored fall flowers, dahlias, roses, asters and zinnias.

Handsome cut-glass vases and Marie Antoinette baskets of these beautiful flowers filled corners and were placed at vantage points on the lower floors, making a pretty background for the four tables of bridge which formed the diversion during the forepart of the afternoon. Each table was centered with cut-glass bud vases, and after several interesting games the guests were served with a delicious ice course. Mrs. George Nagelschen and Mrs. Stanley Prichard, mother of the home guest, assisted Mrs. Wertz in serving and entertaining the guests. The favors were dainty little pink and white shoes and traveling bags filled with pink and white mints.

The decorations in the dining room were especially beautiful. The round mahogany table was centered with a large flat art basket filled with vari-colored fall flowers, from which peeped little blue, white and red love birds. These cunning little birds were also perched here and there among the flowers in the living room and reception hall.

Preceding the refreshment course, little Billie Wertz, winsome young son of the household, presented the pretty bride-elect with a basket of beautiful gifts. The basket was decorated with white and yellow crepe paper and topped off with two long stemmed pink roses tied with a huge bow of pink satin. Miss Prichard was also presented with a beautiful basket of roses by Mrs. Helen A. Cadot.

Those participating in the pleasures extended by so gracious a hostess as Mrs. Willhite were the Misses Mildred Prichard, LeAnne Jackson, Dolly Egan, Mary McClure, Miriam Neudorfer, Ruth Fitch, Grace and Gladys Hughes, Dorothy Eck, Mildred Purdum, Mrs. Norman McGuigan, Mrs. Fred Klingman, Mrs. Franklin Page, Mrs. Richard Kendall, Mrs. Charles Ahrend, Mrs. Harold Hayes, Mrs. Howard Gehres, Mrs. Anselm Skelton, Mrs. Loren Cunningham, Mrs. Harold Flood, Mrs. Robert Townsend, Mrs. Clyde Fitch and Mrs. Paul Dupuy.

Lovely roses, dahlias, and other fall flowers were used in decorating the beautiful country home of Mrs. Katherine Haggerty, McCullough last evening in preparation for the surprise dinner given in honor of her charming daughter, Miss Mary Haggerty. Miss Haggerty visited friends in this city yesterday and during her absence details of the party were arranged. The table was prettily appointed for the occasion and places were laid for the following guests:

Misses Ben and Mary Donahoe, Minnie and Elizabeth Seidel, Mayne McQuillie, Mary Kelley, Lena Huber, Dan Flanagan, Emory Williams, Mr. and Mrs. George July and children, Bernard and George July, and Clarence Barry, all of Portsmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Slaydon, Miss Marie Payne, Sara Johnson, Virginia Hurley and James Hurley, Earl and John Payne, P. D. Taitman, all of McDermott.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McManaway and children, Veronica, Anna, Thomas, Edward, Clarence, and Mr. Earl Watkins, of Lucasville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Walsh, the Misses Catherine, Helen, Ruth, Walsh, James and Michael Walsh, George Finn, Clem Wheeler, and Mr. and Mrs. William Kraft, all of Otway.

Miss Alice Cochran, Miss Margaret Graf, William and Edward Graf and Richard Rindley, of Pond Creek.

Miss Mary McManaway, of Vernon Place, Cincinnati; Misses Rose and Ella Finn, of Baker Place, Cincinnati.

James A. Haggerty, Andrew Haggerty, Mrs. Katherine Haggerty and Miss Mary Haggerty, of McCullough.

After the dinner the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing and playing Five Hundred. At midnight refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served. The large white birthday cake, which was baked by Miss Rose Finn, was mounted with "sixteen" candles. Music for the dancing was furnished by Payne Brothers.

The Misses Minnie Seidel, Mary McManaway and Ella Finn assisted in serving the refreshments.

Miss Haggerty was showered with many beautiful and useful presents.

Interest in the younger society set centered in the attractive bridge party given this afternoon by Miss Helen Haldeman at her hospitable home on Gallia street, complimenting Miss Gillie Ann Riley of Porto Rico, who is the charming house guest of Miss Alice Vincent.

Fall flowers in profusion were used in decorating the rooms and bridge furnished the diversion of a pleasant afternoon that passed all too quickly. At the close of the game a handsome trophy was awarded for high score. Guest prizes were also presented to Miss Riley and Miss Lawson Ross of Knoxville, Tennessee.

Those who enjoyed the happy occasion with the gracious hostess and the home guest were the Misses Alice Vincent, Christine Selby, Dorothy Bennett, Lena O'Neil, Edna Hancock, Lawson Ross of Knoxville, Tenn., Virginia Algor of Hyde Park, Cincinnati, Thelma Riekey, Eleanor Haldeman, Mrs. George Breece, Mrs. Eric Ferguson, Mrs. Loren Ellett, Mrs. J. Leigh Watkins, Jr., Mrs. David C. Williams and Mrs. Paul Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cunningham, Miss Mabel Moritz and Mr. R. A. Thompson left yesterday on a week-end motor trip to Detroit and Toledo.

FINE PAID; SHOEMAKER RELEASED

James E. Shoemaker of Kinney's Lane, who was confined to the Scioto county jail Tuesday night following his trial in the United States District Court at Cincinnati, where he was found guilty of contempt, secured his release about six o'clock Wednesday evening when the fine of $250 was paid and a sum of money large enough to cover all costs was deposited with Sheriff E. E. Riekey.

Deputy United States Marshal Thomas Donovan, who brought Shoemaker to Portsmouth, and Sheriff Riekey were unable to learn from Cincinnati yesterday just what the costs in the case would be.

Mr. Shoemaker went to jail Tuesday rather than ask Judge J. W. Peck for time in which to raise the money, or leniency in the form of a bond. He remained in the local county jail from Tuesday midnight until yesterday evening, the local men casting his lot with all the other prisoners in the jail, instead of going into a special cell.

While Deputy Marshal Donovan was here, Wednesday, the fine of John E. Morgan, striking N. & W. shopman, who was also found guilty of contempt Monday in Judge Peck's court, was paid. The fine was $100 and costs and was paid by friends. Morgan was given 48 hours in which to pay his fine.

Henry And Edsel Ford On Way To Ironton; Plan Gateway For Ford Coal Shipments

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Edsel Ford, who with several company executives spent yesterday here in conference with coal operators of Kentucky and West Virginia, left for Ironton early today. Before leaving the Ford party observed the closest secrecy regarding the results of the conferences yesterday.

Mr. Ford continued, "All our coal men are in the field scouting and our traffic men are constantly in touch with them to arrange shipment in case fuel is found." he said. "At Ironton we are building a great unloading pier by which we can take coal off boats and barges that come down the river and get it up to our railroad to be brought down to Detroit."

"There's a lot of good coking coal along the 'Big Sandy' river in West Virginia, which we hope can be bought at an honest price and brought down the river to Ironton. From the Pennsylvania railroad we've obtained six big locomotives and if we can get the coal down the river to Ironton we expect to be able to send it to Detroit in short order."

Mr. Ford again criticized the interstate commerce commission in connection with the coal situation.

LIMA, O., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Henry Ford passed through Lima south bend over his road, the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton at two o'clock this afternoon.

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The problem of the Ford Company is not only to get coal, but to get the grade of coal that can be used in the Ford ovens, Henry Ford said today. Efforts to obtain this fuel are being pressed vigorously.

Henry Fyffe, aged 48, well known Jefferson township farmer, was arrested Thursday by Sheriff Riekey. He is charged with incest and the complainant is his 18 year old daughter, Nellie Fyffe.

33rds To Select Meeting Place
CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Selection of the next meeting place marked the end of the six day convocation of the 110th supreme council, 33rd Degree, Masons of the Northern Masonic Jurisdiction of the United States of America here today. In accordance with the custom of the council, no invitations for the next convocation were made.

Stiller Nabbed

IRONTON, Sept. 21.—Deputy Sheriff Matt Wilson and Constable Geo. McKee yesterday afternoon surprised E. J. Boyd in the act of operating a moonshine still on the river bank in Coal Grove at a point about opposite the Ashland wharf boat. About a gallon of the fire water had already been manufactured by the industrious operator. The still was operated with an oil stove.

Dirigible Is Enroute To El Paso

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 21.—The United States Dirigible G-2 was enroute to El Paso, a 614 mile leg of its coast to coast air route mapping flight. Major H. A. Strauss and his crew of seven men maneuvered the craft from Brooks Field at 12:30 o'clock this morning and expected to make the border city by noon.

The dirigible carried 400 gallons of gasoline and was so heavy that it was estimated eight hours would be necessary for it to gain full equilibrium. By that time it was figured the ship would be enabled to make sufficient altitude to cross the Davis mountains.

White House Entertaining To Be Ended
BY HARRY D. HUNT
WASHINGTON—Radical curtailment of White House entertaining during the remainder of the Harding administration is certain, whatever the outcome of Mrs. Harding's present illness.

For it is the strain of these social functions, particularly of the big formal receptions, which are largely responsible for Mrs. Harding's breakdown.

Long hours of standing in receiving lines, without a moment for relaxation or relief, aggravated the old kidney disorder from which the First Lady had suffered a decade ago, and set afoot the complications that culminated in her collapse.

On a dozen occasions Mrs. Harding has stood in receiving lines at the White House for periods of from two to four hours without a minute's relief.

During her first summer at the White House, Mrs. Harding was hostess at four immense garden parties on the White House lawn, attended by thousands, at which she greeted each visitor personally.

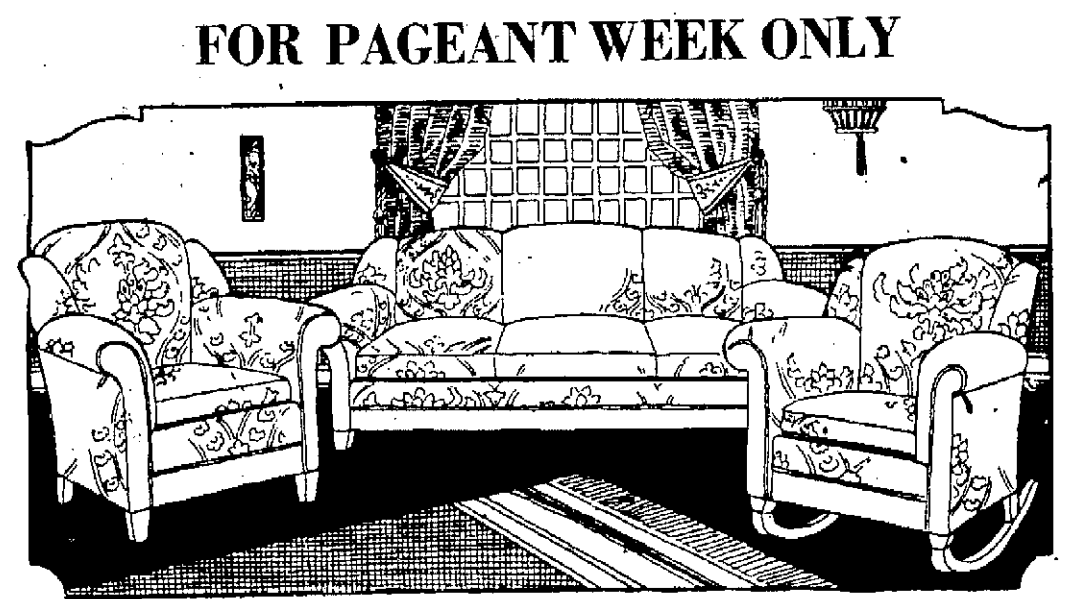

Formal entertaining, banned during the latter years of the Wilson administration, was renewed by President and Mrs. Harding last winter. In addition to a long list of formal state dinners, there were the big diplomatic, congressional and army and navy receptions, each of which kept Mrs. Harding for more than two hours in the receiving line.

The public New Year reception, when open house was held for all friends and well-wishers, kept Mrs. Harding on her feet for the entire afternoon as the line passed through the big East Room.

The hours on a receiving line, which Mrs. Harding cheerfully accepted as part of her responsibility as mistress of the White House, will not again be attempted.

Plan Aerial Freight Line

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—An indication that the airplane as a business proposition is emerging from the experimental stage was given today in the filing with the state railroad commission of the tariffs and schedules of the Pacific States Express for a proposed air service between San Francisco and Modesto, Calif. The service will start with one round trip daily and the freight charge will be 35 cents a pound or fraction thereof, with a minimum charge of $1. It is planned later to extend the air delivery to Stockton and Fresno. The company plans to carry emergency freight chiefly, specializing in automobile and machinery parts.

75,000 Survivors On Quarry Destitute, Distracted And Abandoned; No Aid Offered

SMYRNA, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Although eight days have passed since the obliterated Smyrna, 75,000 survivors remain exposed on the quay, destitute, distracted and abandoned. No allied vessel has offered to salvage this last wreckage of human life in the greatest disaster in Asia's history. Nearly a dozen war ships remain in the harbor, but none show a disposition to aid the wretched population except the American destroyers. Deportations continue and Turkish soldiers are beginning to carry off the Greek and Armenian girls leaving their parents in a frantic state. Sporadic shooting and thefts continue. Smoke is still emerging from the ruins. The Turkish authorities explain that this is due to the burning of human bodies. Dr. Wilfred Post of New York, medical director of the near east relief, has urged the Turks to bury their dead, in order to prevent pestilence. He also has appealed to them to vaccinate every one in order to guard against cholera and smallpox.

Odor Of Good Liquor Led Officers To Catch

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The odor of good liquor wafted from the sea going tug Jessica L. M. Kehoe toward the noses of the crew of the United States revenue cutter Newberry, today led to the seizure of the tug, the arrest of its crew of 13 and the confiscation of Scotch and rye whiskey with a bootleg value of almost $200,000. The capture took place off Ambrose Lightship. Federal authorities asserted the catch which included 2,112 cases of high grade stuff, was the most valuable made in this port since the eighteenth amendment became effective. The Kehoe is owned by the J. J. Kehoe Lightering and Coal Company. Customs inspectors said they learned the tug had met an ocean liner about eight miles out at sea and had taken the wet cargo off the big ship.

Killed By Policeman

CANTON, O., Sept. 21.—Louis Laglaise, 26, this city, was shot to death early today by Motorcycle Officer John H. Wise, after he had fired two bullets at the police officer. Laglaise, armed with an automatic pistol, had been terrorizing residents of the Southeast end. Police were called when he fired two shots at a girl. Wise responded to the call and encountered Laglaise in the street. The officer twice ordered the man to drop his pistol and throw up his hands. Instead Laglaise started toward the policeman and when 15 feet distance fired twice at Wise. The officer then fired four shots, all the bullets taking effect in the body of Laglaise.

Quality Goods at Lower Prices

We started out to give the patrons good dependable merchandise at prices less than they had been asked to pay for cheap merchandise. From the start, it seemed as though the people welcomed such a store, and every day since we have been complimented upon the character of our goods and the modest price asked for them. We want again to reiterate that you will find here in "the store that treats you right" a most complete line of MEN'S AND BOYS' CLOTHING AND SHOES FOR THE ENTIRE FAMILY—Merchandise that is new—honestly made—at prices lower than you have been asked to pay for inferior stuff. We have built up a clientele along the lines of honest dealing and there are hundreds of folk who come direct to this store to do their shopping—they never think of looking elsewhere because they realized long ago that they get not only 100 per cent merchandise but that their dollars go much further here.

We invite you to call around during the three big days—we will do our best to make your stay pleasant, regardless of the amount of your purchase. We are here to stay because we have made good on the quality and price line—and it does not cost us a penny to throw in a great big bundle of courtesy.

Oldier Bonus Bill Fails; Senate Sustains The President's Veto

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—For a third time the soldiers' bonus legislation has failed of enactment. The senate late yesterday sustained President Harding's veto of the Fort-McCumber bill the vote of 44 to 36, four short of the two-thirds majority that would have been necessary to have made it law over the executive's signature. The action of the senate makes invalid the bonus compensation legislation at least until the next session of congress. Meantime, however, it is the purpose of some proponents to fight the fight and the bonus has become an issue in some of the congressional and senatorial campaigns this fall.

Favor Turks Controlling Constantinople

ROME, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Catholic party has passed a resolution declaring that Constantinople should be given to the Turks, with sufficient hinterland to insure its political and economic life. The resolution says the civil and religious rights of the Christian population should be safeguarded and the neutrality of the straits maintained.

Drys Plan To Make Effort To Get Beer Case Before The U. S. Supreme Court

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Every effort will be made by the Anti-Saloon League to have Ohio's beer case appealed to the United States supreme court, according to Superintendent James A. White, of the Ohio League.

The Ohio supreme court last Tuesday ruled that Secretary of State Smith must submit the beer and wine amendment at the November election. The ruling was made on mandamus action brought by the Association Opposed to Prohibition after the Ohio secretary of state had refused to place the beer proposal on the ballot.

The Anti Saloon League was not a party to the suit before the Ohio court and will not directly be able to appeal to the federal court. However, Superintendent White said today that efforts were being made to find some way in which to get the case to the United States supreme court.

Secretary of State Smith and the Anti-Saloon League contend that should the beer amendment be adopted by the voters, it would be in contravention of the federal prohibition law and that the vote necessarily would be nothing more than an expensive "straw" vote.

Despite the possibility of an appeal to the nation's high court, plans are going ahead by both the wet and dry for a lively campaign.

To Increase League Council

GENEVA, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The council of the League of Nations decided today to increase the non-permanent membership of the council from four to six. This will make the council membership ten, with the non-permanent members in the majority.

October 9 Set As Fire Prevention Day

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Harding today issued a proclamation designating Monday, October 9, anniversary of the great Chicago fire of 1871, as national fire prevention day. The fire waste in the United States year after year, the president declared, reaches appalling figures which are not approached in any other country. There ought to be special efforts, he added, to minimize such losses.

The chamber of commerce of the United States at the same time announced that local commercial bodies throughout the United States "will take the lead" in observance of fire prevention week, from October 2 to October 9. The chamber in a statement said:

"In 1921 more than 15,000 lives were lost and property valued at half a billion dollars was destroyed by fire. This was simply the total of many separate fire losses and was not the result of any great conflagration."

Utility Men Making Investigation

WELLSTON, O., Sept. 21.—Responding to a demand of the Jackson County Operators' Association, C. C. Thorpe and H. M. Evans, inspectors representing the State Public Utility Commission, arrived in this city today for the purpose of investigating the miners' train service on the Cornelia branch of the D. T. & L., and the distribution of emphysemas to the various mines by the railroads serving this field. There has been much complaint of this distribution which is said to be caused by the lack of power to handle the cars if loaded, but this is being overcome by the return of shophmen to work and it is believed the service will begin to improve in this regard soon.

Chief Inspector Thorpe stated that Ford, in addition to handling coal loaded on his railroad, has agreed to handle some cars loaded on the Hocking Valley to Toledo and there turning it back to that road. It is said that by such routing the congestion in the Hocking district will be appreciably relieved.

The inspectors are here for the purpose of giving relief to the roads and mines by straightening out the difficulties so that work may proceed without innumerable delays.

Four Hundred To Give Dance

Parent-Teachers Association Meets

The Parent-Teachers Association of the Eleventh street school held the first meeting of this school year Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 p. m. There were about 20 present, all of whom seemed enthusiastic to make this year the best in the history of the association.

Mrs. Stanfield was elected delegate to the annual convention of the Parent-Teacher Association which is to meet in Columbus, Ohio, October 11 to 14. Mrs. Lane was elected alternate.

Mrs. Crafts was made a member of the program committee.

The time of meeting for the Association was set for the third Thursday afternoon in each month.

After transacting all business the meeting adjourned to meet again the third Thursday in October.

Turks

stand in the path of their desire to occupy Thrace. An Associated Press dispatch quotes the spokesman, Hamid Bey, to the effect that the Kemal army will certainly declare war on the British if they attempt to interfere with a movement across the straits.

A ray of hope, however, is seen in the conference at Smyrna between Mustafa Kemal Pasha and General Pellet, French high commissioner to which Yusuf Kemal Bey, the nationalist foreign minister, has been hastily summoned from Ankara. The meeting is of Yusuf Kemal points to the discussion of important and delicate questions and the consequent delay raises hopes that the Turkish attack, if it takes place at all, will be retarded until the British reinforcements may arrive.

If fighting breaks out before that time the question of the safety of the comparatively small British force at Chanak will become an anxious one.

Drys Plan To Make Effort To Get Beer Case Before The U. S. Supreme Court

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Every effort will be made by the Anti-Saloon League to have Ohio's beer case appealed to the United States supreme court, according to Superintendent James A. White, of the Ohio League.

The Ohio supreme court last Tuesday ruled that Secretary of State Smith must submit the beer and wine amendment at the November election. The ruling was made on mandamus action brought by the Association Opposed to Prohibition after the Ohio secretary of state had refused to place the beer proposal on the ballot.

The Anti Saloon League was not a party to the suit before the Ohio court and will not directly be able to appeal to the federal court. However, Superintendent White said today that efforts were being made to find some way in which to get the case to the United States supreme court.

Secretary of State Smith and the Anti-Saloon League contend that should the beer amendment be adopted by the voters, it would be in contravention of the federal prohibition law and that the vote necessarily would be nothing more than an expensive "straw" vote.

Despite the possibility of an appeal to the nation's high court, plans are going ahead by both the wet and dry for a lively campaign.

To Increase League Council

GENEVA, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The council of the League of Nations decided today to increase the non-permanent membership of the council from four to six. This will make the council membership ten, with the non-permanent members in the majority.

October 9 Set As Fire Prevention Day

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—President Harding today issued a proclamation designating Monday, October 9, anniversary of the great Chicago fire of 1871, as national fire prevention day. The fire waste in the United States year after year, the president declared, reaches appalling figures which are not approached in any other country. There ought to be special efforts, he added, to minimize such losses.

The chamber of commerce of the United States at the same time announced that local commercial bodies throughout the United States "will take the lead" in observance of fire prevention week, from October 2 to October 9. The chamber in a statement said: "In 1921 more than 15,000 lives were lost and property valued at half a billion dollars was destroyed by fire. This was simply the total of many separate fire losses and was not the result of any great conflagration."

"During the first seven months of the current year, property valued at $23,000,000 was added to the nation's ash heap."

Soldier Bonus Bill Fails; Senate Sustains The President's Veto

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—For a third time the soldiers' bonus legislation has failed of enactment. The senate late yesterday sustained President Harding's veto of the Fort-McCumber bill the vote of 44 to 25 falling four short of the two-thirds majority that would have been necessary to have made it law without the executive's signature.

The action of the senate makes impossible veterans' compensation legislation at least until the next session of congress. Meantime, however, it is the purpose of some proponents to renew the fight and the bonus has become an issue in some of the congressional and senatorial campaigns this fall.

The first bonus bills were introduced in the house and senate early in the special session of the sixty-seventh congress which began May 19, 1919. The ways and means committee on hearings on the different bills on September 20, 1919, but was delayed.

Hearings were reopened by the committee on March 2, 1920. The "five fold" plan was drafted and reported to the house on May 21. It was passed eight days later and sent to the senate, which reported it to the finance committee on February 28, 1921, but it failed on the adjournment of the 68th congress.

The present congress was called into extra session by President Harding convening April 11, 1921. The finance committee on June 20,

Favor Turks Controlling Constantinople

ROME, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The Catholic party has passed a resolution declaring that Constantinople should be given to the Turks, with sufficient hinterland to insure its political and economic life. # Rinso takes the place of bar soap

Just soak in big lasting Rinso suds
They safely loosen the dirt. Only the very dirtiest places need a light rubbing. Dissolve Rinso in boiling water. Use enough to get big lasting suds.

If you like to boil your white cottons
Let the safe Rinso suds boil through and through them. There is nothing so good as Rinso in the boiler. Use enough Rinso to give you the suds you like.

For the very dirtiest places
A little dry Rinso sprinkled directly on the dirtiest places makes even the most obstinate dirt disappear with just a light rubbing.

If you use a washing machine
Use enough Rinso solution to make rich suds. Operate your machine in the usual way. Rinse thoroughly. You need no other soap—no washing powder with Rinso.

Made by the largest soap makers in the world. Sold everywhere. It comes in the regular size and the big new package. Get Rinso today—at grocery and department stores everywhere. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

For the family wash Rinso is as easy and safe as Lux is for fine things

The Importance Of The Pageant

Portsmouth, will soon present its historical pageant, an event everyone of us should justly feel proud of,—proud of our city's past and grateful for our present prosperity.

Its huge success is assured, judging from the enthusiasm and co-operation already displayed, by our loyal citizens, and again we prove our readiness when it comes to work for the betterment of Peerless City.

They all stand combined as a great army of enthusiasts, laboring unceasingly for the city's advancement.

They never forget the fact that its possibilities are unlimited, and they never lack the courage of going after the very things the city really needs to help make up a prosperous community.

Thus, we keep on reaching out for more and more all the time, and it will therefore not be surprising, that some day we became a great city. It would rather be expected from us, and looked forward to by all who know us.

And so let us keep up the good work and our reward is bound to come. Let us all come out to this historical event, a history we are all eager to learn more about and acquaint ourselves with.

The Pageant Spirit is already on, and has about reached its full tide. It will surpass anything our city has ever experienced and it is on everyone's tongue.

The various committees in charge of the work, which is no easy task, deserve all the praise in aiding this enterprise which means so much for the civic and educational life of the community.

Yours for a Greater Portsmouth

A Store's Activities, A Part Of The City Life

The store in each community is a part of the community, as a state is a part of the nation.

All of the blood of its vitality is drawn from the community. It thrives with the city's health, and it sickens with its maladies.

The art of civilization is simply the art of getting along with each other, the secret of prosperity is co-operation. "No man liveth to himself," and neither can any business be sufficient unto itself. The veins and tissues and nerves of life are in every part.

The store has a civic responsibility, the store keeper has his duty and privileges as much as the preacher has, or the judge, or the school teacher.

Every store every day ought to be silently proclaiming the gospel of square dealing, of courtesy, of respect for the law and of all the other fundamental virtues that go to make the town a decent place to live in.

Every activity of the city reacts upon the store. If there is financial distress at the bank, the store feels it. If there is a spell of cold weather, a rainy day, or an epidemic of some kind the result can be detected in the store.

All this is not a matter of sentiment merely, for it is indicated on the cash register.

The first requisite for a prosperous store, is a prosperous community. The store is going to pay its bills, keeps its supplies up-to-date and be a credit to the town only as it is nourished and supported by the right kind of customers.

The store is interested in the farmer that he should have good crops, a good market, good roads and good credit.

It is also interested in every other store in the community, for the day has passed in American business when one concern prospers only on the destruction of another. The right kind of a store prospers best when every other store in the city is the right kind of a store and is prospering also.

A store in the city is every man's silent partner, they naturally help or hinder each other. The living blood vessels and nerves of industry, connect the store with every man's success, with the lawyer, the real estate agent, the factory, the waterworks, the electric light plant, the gas company, the school house, the church and the home.

The city is not a loose aggregation of casual pebbles. It is a living organization of correlated parts and the health of one is the health and prosperity of another.

These are the fundamental facts in working for the betterment of a community.

The Season's Style Intimations

"In like a lamb and out like a lamb"—so must the saying be phrased if it is to describe a very fashionable Gerona Cloth Coat, whose lining of beige colored baby lamb, laps over the outside to form collar and cuffs.

In a little game of turning the tables, the lady of fashion takes a tip of the porter instead of the other way about. The porter is a Russian whose costume has inspired many smart suits, notably those of the wide sleeved embroidered genre.

Pack all your style in an old blanket roll and you'll be smart, smart, smart, for one of the newest stunts is a coat collar composed of a roll of the fabric tied at either end just like a soldier's blanket roll.

Tampering with that favorite Wisconsin song "If you want to be a badger just come along with me" we might evolve, "If you want to be in fashion just trim your coat with badger fur." It's absolutely the thing of immediate style importance in gay Paro.

The snail has certainly got a move on himself. He has even caught up with fashion, the most rapidly moving of all institutions. Indeed snail shells in different colors are actually showing the way among new trimmings for evening gowns.

From the ornate Spanish combs of a season back, the combs in today's favor are much more simple, bread and butter affairs, or to be more exact, fork affairs. The prongs catch the coiffure of course and the flat narrow handle is on display. Cross one of these combs over the other to form a huge X and you become the hall-room's unknown woman of mystery.

Addressed To Men Only:

It is not so much that fashionable wives will indulge in the indoor sport of pilfering your clothes for loose change, as that they'll be tempted to "borrow" your cuff links. You see double-headed jeweled pins just like giant cuff links are being worn on the left hip this season to hold the side draperies of Madame's frock in position. And so when you miss your cuff links don't be alarmed, for if it's worth while carrying them, wife has got them.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—In regard to your answer the other evening to "A Clerk," I want to say this. I work with that girl every day and it would be hard to find a dearer or sweeter girl than she. I have never yet seen her with a frown on her face or a cross word on her lips, although I have seen her work until she was nearly ready to drop for the same ladies that come in and tear up her nice clean counter. I have been a clerk for four years and every day that a clerk works she must take every little piece of merchandise from off her counter and brush and clean every place and put it back in its own place. Now you must understand that that is no small job, especially when there is always someone ready to move it some place else, just to "pass their time." If a few more ladies would answer the clerk approached with a "No thanks, I have been waited on," or "I was just looking, thank you," without tearing up their counter when they know very well they don't want to buy, they would not see so many frowns behind the counter. I could tell you of many things that hurt a clerk's feelings. Here's one. The other day I saw a lady go to a counter, pick up a towel and I said to her: "May I wrap your towel for you, please?" and she threw it down and said: "You act as though you think I would steal your towel." Now, Dolly, that was a very hateful thing to say to a clerk who will stand up till nine o'clock on Saturday and till 5:30 every day in the week to serve the public. They expect the clerk to smile and say "Thank you!" I wonder why they don't say it to the clerk once in a while.

Now, I know there are some clerks who are not as pleasant as others, but they are at least entitled to a smile if they are expected to give one in return.

"ANOTHER CLERK." The only thing I have to add to what I told your friend the other night is that girls who feel as you do about clerks ought to get something else to do. Your work seems to be getting on your nerves. People should do what they like to do, and enjoy doing, and judging from your letters you don't like to "wait on trade."

Dear Dolly—As you have helped so many, will you answer a few questions for me, through your columns? I am going with a nice looking young man and I love him dearly, but he has a very bad temper. He wants to marry me, but he says I must obey him and his mother also. He sometimes gets angry at me and slaps me and curses me, but still he says he loves me. Do you think I would make him a good wife. I never say anything back to him. He says there are plenty of other girls he can get. Dolly, do you think he could? If he treats them as he does me? I would let him try it but I am afraid I would lose him. Don't you think he will be better to me after we are married? Dolly, I have black curly hair and blue eyes. People tell me I am very pretty. Do you think I am? I am 18 years old and am just dead to get married. Don't you think I had better get married, as I am a lonely little country girl. I have a girl friend who has a sweetheart who just goes with her when there is no other girl around. Do you think she ought to go with him?

CURLY LOCKS. I don't know what kind of a wife you would make him, but I do know that he would make you a bear of a husband. No matter how badly you want a man, don't get married until you are old enough to judge a man's character and know what kind of a husband you are getting.

Dear Dolly—Some time ago you printed a way to keep tomatoes in brine but I have lost the recipe and I wish you would please run it again. MRS. X. Y. Z.

Tomatoes picked when just ripe and with a portion of the stems retained and at once covered with a brine composed of a teaspoon of salt dissolved in a gallon of water, can be kept nearly all the year without noticeable loss of freshness of taste.

If there are any country girls going to school in the city who would like to get their hand and room free in return for helping with light housework before and after school I wish they would send their names and addresses to this department. I know of several places of this kind for the right kind of girls.

SOCIETY

The ladies of the Fourth Circle of the First Evangelical church will give a lawn fete this evening at the home of Jacob Brunner, 724 Fifth street. There will be games, music and refreshments, and the general public and congregation are cordially invited to attend.

The West Portsmouth, W. C. T. U. elected the following delegates and alternates to attend the county convention to be held in Bigelow church tomorrow, September 22nd.

The delegates are Mrs. J. W. Ricker, Mrs. James A. Maxwell, Mrs. J. J. Geisler, Mrs. Ray Seales, Mrs. Hannah James, Mrs. Belle Smith, Mrs. J. R. Gikerson, Mrs. Emma Denison and Mrs. John McLeod.

The alternates are Mrs. George D. Selby, Mrs. Kate Kugelman, Mrs. Louella Mingo, Mrs. Lilly Wingo, Mrs. Charles May, Mrs. W. L. Liston, Mrs. Albert Graf, Mrs. Hugh Higgins, Mrs. Minnie Foster and Mrs. Jessie Lang.

Wednesday was the fifty-fifth birthday anniversary of Mr. Charles Lyons, who lives near Stockdale, and because many of his friends could not be present at a celebration yesterday, they decided to surprise him last Sunday and his neighbors and friends, to the number of seventy-nine, assembled at his home with well-filled baskets and gave him the surprise of his life. At noon the table was set on the lawn and fairly groined under the weight of good things to eat. William Wells, Brian Hickman and L. L. Lyons took part in an eating contest, and Mr. Wells came out the winner. After the dinner the remainder of the afternoon was spent in playing games and pitching horse shoes. All returned home late in the afternoon wishing the honor guest many happy returns of the day.

Mrs. C. C. Coverston of Highland avenue has returned from a ten days visit with relatives and friends in Columbus.

Miss Emma Catherine Arbenz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Arbenz of South Watts street, Chillicothe, and John Osborne Areldhold of Lancaster, N. Y., were married Wednesday afternoon at half after twelve o'clock in St. John's Evangelical church, Chillicothe, with the pastor, Rev. Karl A. Roth, officiating. The bride is well known in this city.

Miss Georgia Hurn of Ironton is the guest of Miss Anna Louise Robb of Offshore street.

Mrs. William Crawford of Ironton is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ben Reilly of Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray Lohr have returned to their home in Columbus after spending the past week with her mother, Mrs. Pauline Livingstone and other relatives.

Mrs. J. R. Coleman of Highland avenue is in Columbus attending the Northern Baptist Conference.

Mrs. Katherine Bateman and Miss Merle Dettie have returned to their home in Piketon after a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Haywood, 1215 Seventeenth street.

E. W. Ervin, Toledo, is spending a few days at the home of his sister, Mrs. E. C. Jackson, 725 Second street.

H. E. Frederick and H. E. Riggs, representing the Goodyear Rubber Company of Columbus, are spending several days here.

Mrs. J. M. Stockham, Beechwood Heights, has returned from a pleasant several weeks visit with her daughter, Mrs. E. E. Thompson at her summer cottage at Seaside Park, New Jersey. She later went to Philadelphia for a short visit with relatives, and was accompanied home by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Jinks of Philadelphia, who will spend the winter at the Stockham home.

Honoring her house guest, Miss Florence Mars of New York, Miss Ada Mae Lammer entertained informally at dinner at Blue Bird Inn last night. Guests included: Miss Florence Mars, Miss Edna Streich, Miss Laura Halderman, Mrs. Charles Waldron and the hostess, Miss Lammer.

In celebration of the fifty-eighth birthday of Mrs. L. G. Welch, relatives and friends were invited to six o'clock dinner at the Welch home, 1514 Eleventh street, last night. A centerpiece of roses in a large cut glass vase adorned the table, and a six course dinner was served.

Mrs. Welch was the recipient of many pretty remembrances of the occasion. Guests enjoying the dinner and social evening which followed were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Welch, Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Reeg and children, Bobbie, Janet and Vernon David; W. Lloyd Mitchell, Miss Darlene Welch, Miss Rowena Welch and Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Welch.

Quite a wide surprise and interest was created yesterday by the announcement of the marriage of Miss Annett Thomas, charming young daughter of Mrs. Mary Thomas of 1026 Eleventh street, and Mr. Roland Scott, son of Mr. Frank Scott of 711 John street, which occurred on August 30th in Columbus. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. L. Oldfield, pastor of the St. Clair Avenue Presbyterian church, the bride and groom being at that time attending the State Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott returned to this city the same day and managed to keep the wedding a secret until yesterday, when formal announcement was made. Mr. Scott is employed at the Whitaker-Glessner Co., and for the present they are residing at the Thomas home, 1026 Eleventh street. Mrs. Scott was formerly employed at the Selby office.

Mrs. James Patterson entertained as her guests at dinner last night at the Blue Bird Inn, Wheelersburg; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Patterson of Miami, Florida; Mrs. Jessamine H. Church, Mr. Salem Shaw, Miss Gertrude Moody and Mr. Clint M. Searl.

Richard Maddock, Beechwood Heights, will leave next Tuesday for Columbus where he will enter the freshman year at Ohio State University. He will be entertained next week by several popular fraternities.

Women Who Care

Now beautify teeth in this way
Millions of them—the world over

Careful people, well advised, now use a new teeth-cleaning method—millions of them in every clime, and largely by dental advice.

Beautiful teeth you see everywhere show the results of this method.

It is something you should know. Learn what it means to you and yours. Make this free ten-day test.

Combats the dingy film

It is film that makes teeth dingy—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Food stains discolor it, then it forms thin cloudy coats. Tartar is based on film.

The ordinary tooth paste does not end film. So most teeth, in the old days, were more or less discolored.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film. Under old methods, they were constantly increasing. The most careful people rarely escaped.

Two combatants now

Dental science, after long research, has found two film combatants. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it. Able authorities have amply proved their efficiency. Now leading dentists the world over are urging their daily use.

A new tooth paste has been created, based on modern research. It brings five effects now considered essential. It avoids several old mistakes.

This tooth paste is called Pepsodent. And those two great film combatants are embodied in it.

Other desired effects

Modern research has found other things essential, and Pepsodent brings those effects.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize the acids which cause decay.

Thus Pepsodent gives manifold power to Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. It polishes the teeth so film less easily adheres. Old-time tooth pastes, based on soap and chalk, brought just opposite effects.

In these ways, Pepsodent is bringing a new dental era. Already it has brought to millions whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. The peoples of fifty nations are being taught to use it. And their children will get life-long benefits which your childhood missed.

Why Men's Teeth Gladden everywhere today

The film on teeth of men who smoke becomes especially discolored. But note how men's teeth gladden nowadays—men who remove the film. Note how men and women, when they smile, are showing pretty teeth. Those are Pepsodent effects, now attained by millions, largely through dental advice. They do not come by scouring teeth in any harmful way, but by scientific film removal.

- Beat eggs until thick. Add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly.
Drop by the teaspoonful on a buttered tin; spread slightly. Place half a nut meat on top of each and bake about 10 minutes in a moderately hot oven. This recipe will make from 24 to 30 small cakes.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

When Jack reached the little town of Emmerford, he stopped at a feed store and gave orders to the owner to take care of his horse and dog, and to feed them.

Jack enjoyed the novelty of walking down the paved streets of the little town. He thought he was a big fellow, and he decided to stop at a restaurant.

Eating one he sat down and glanced over the menu. He knew this was a breakfast time, but he was hungry, so he ordered a full course dinner.

This is the Lone Wolf by Louis Joseph Vance Copyright International Magazine Company

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 The reformed cracksmen, MICHAEL LANYARD, known to the police as the LONE WOLF, is attempting to recover the stolen jewels of EVE DE MONTALAI, the woman he loves. Lanyard, who met Eve in southern France, where he rescued her from robbery at the hands of the brutal Parisian Apache. DUPONT, suspects a motoring party, consisting of the American, WHITAKER MONK, his secretary, PHINUIT, the latter's brother, JULES, and the COUNTESS DE LORGNE.

De Lorgne is murdered by Dupont. Lanyard, searching Paris finds the countess. She is introduced as ANNE DELORE.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
 Liane Delorme. These syllables were like a spoken spell to break the power of dark enchantment which had hampered Lanyard's memory ever since first sight of this woman in the Cafe de l'Univers at Nant.

A great light began to flood his understanding, but he was denied time to advantage himself immediately of its illumination. Liane Delorme was quick to parry and riposte.

"How strange monsieur should think he had ever known me by a name. . . . But no matter! For now look more closely, I myself cannot get over the impression that I have known Monsieur Martin, did you say?—somewhere, sometime. . . . But Paul Martin? Not unless monsieur has more than one name."

Then it would seem that made-mademoiselle and I are both in error. The loss is mine. . . . While the waiter fetched additional chairs, the woman made her es-corts known: Messieurs Benouville et Le Brun, two extravagantly insignificant young men.

Champagne frothed into fresh glasses. As soon as the band struck up another dance, Athenais drifted away in the arms of Monsieur Le Brun.

Liane gazed round the room, acknowledging the salutations of several friends, and issued peremptory orders to Benouville.

"Ask Angelo to dance with you. I desire to afflict Monsieur Martin with my confidences."

With the utmost docility Benouville effaced himself.

"Eh, bien, Monsieur Duchemin?" "Eh, bien, madame la comtesse?"

Liane slipped at her champagne, making impudent eyes at Lanyard over the brim of her glass.

By what appears, you have at last torn yourself away from the charming society of the Chateau de Montalais!

"As you see."

"That was a long visit you made to the chateau, my old one?"

"One had the misfortune to fall foul of an assassin," Lanyard took the trouble to explain.

"And you were wounded?"

Lanyard assented. The lady made a shocked face and uttered appropriate noises. "As you know," Lanyard added.

"What an experience! Still—"

Liane again buried her nose in her glass and regarded Lanyard with a look of mysterious understanding. Re-emerging, she resumed: "Still, not without its compensations, eh, mon ami?"

"Indeed," Lanyard agreed with his most winning manner. "For instance, I recovered speedily enough to be in Paris tonight and meet mademoiselle without losing time."

"And where is that good Monsieur Monk tonight?" he asked.

"Ah, monsieur, but I am desolated. He has returned to his barbarous America, with his kind heart, and all his millions!"

"And the excellent Phinuit?"

"That one as well."

Lanyard compassionately fished a bottle out of the cooler and refilled her glass.

"Accept, mademoiselle, every assurance of my profound sympathy."

"I will reply sympathetically with sympathy. I have already forgotten that I ever visited the Chateau de Montalais. So how should I remember I met monsieur there under the name of. . . . but I forget."

"The name of Duchemin?"

"I never knew there was such a name—I swear!—before I saw it in type today."

"It appeared in Le Matin today, this quaint name Duchemin, in a dispatch from Milan stating that a person of that name, a guest of the Chateau de Montalais, had disappeared without taking formal leave of his hosts."

"One gathers that he took something else?"

"Nothing less than the world-known Austruther collection of jewels, the property of Madame de Montalais nee Austruther."

"But I am recently from the Chateau de Montalais, and in a position to assure mademoiselle that this poor fellow, Duchemin, is unjustly accused."

"My friend, you must forget that name as utterly as I have forgotten another."

"He was really a count?"

"Who knows? It was the style by which he had always passed with us."

"Alas!" sighed Lanyard, and bent a somber gaze upon his glass.

"What is this?" she asked sharply. "You know something about de Lorgnes?"

"Had you not heard?" he countered, looking up in surprise.

"Heard—"

He saw her eyes stabbed by fear, and knew himself justified of his surmises. All day she had been exacting de Lorgnes. One could imagine the strain of care and foreboding. She was on the rack.

But there was no pity in Lanyard's heart. He knew her of old, what she was, what evil she had done.

And purposely he delayed his answer till her patience gave way and she was clutching his arm with frantic hands.

"YOU HAVE TORN YOURSELF AWAY FROM THE CHARMING SOCIETY."

"What is the matter? Why do you look at me like that? Why don't you tell me—if there is anything to tell—?"

"It is in all the evening newspapers—the murder mystery of the Lyons express."

"De Lorgnes—?"

Lanyard inclined his head. The woman breathed an invocation to the Deity and sank back against the wall, her face ghastly beneath its paint.

Liane Delorme made an effort to speak, but only her breath rustled harshly on her dry lips. All the muscles of her face relaxed and her years peered out through that mask of artifice which alone preserved for her the illusion and repute of beauty.

Liane Delorme stirred abruptly. "The assassin?" she demanded. "Is there any clue?"

Briefly, Lanyard told her of seeing the Comte de Lorgnes in Lyons and the tragic sequel.

"Ah!" she murmured bitterly—"if only we knew the name of that snail cocoon!"

"We do."

"We—monsieur?"

"I, at least, Albert Dupont," he announced abruptly.

Unquestionably the name meant nothing to the woman. She curled a lip. "But that is any name?" Then thoughtfully:

"What had Dupont to do with de Lorgnes?"

"If you will tell me that, there will be no more mystery in this sad affair."

The woman brooded heavily for a moment. "But if it had been you, he was after, I might understand."

He caught the sidelong glimmer of her eye upon him, dark with an unuttered question.

But the wait was at an end. Athenais and Le Brun were threading their way through the intervening tables.

The interruption could not have been better timed; Lanyard was keen to get away.

Now Athenais was passing beside the table, and saying with a smile as weary as it was charming:

"Come, Monsieur Paul, if you please, and take me home. I've danced till I'm ready to drop."

"But tell me about Liane, if it isn't taxed to her apartment. You have not her before tonight."

"Oh, that was so long ago and such a trifling thing, one wonders at remembering it at all. . . . I happened, one night, to be where I had no right to be. That was rather a habit of mine, I'm afraid. And so I discovered, in another man's apartment, a young woman, much more than a child, trying to commit suicide. You may believe I put a stop to that. . . . Later, for in those days I had some little influence in certain quarters, I got her a place in the chorus at the Varieties. She made up a name for the stage: Liane Delorme. And that is all. You see, it was very simple."

"And she was grateful?"

"Not oppressively. She was quite normal about it all."

Mother-To-Be, Read This—

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers. When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment of joy free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined.

An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It may be that first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend."

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Write for free book, "Motherhood and the Baby," containing important information, and all about "Mother's Friend," to Dr. J. C. Bennett, 1500 N. 2nd St., Atlanta, Ga. "Mother's Friend" is sold by druggists everywhere.

How good you are!

"It unites me glad I have so well forgotten ever meeting him."

"Ah!" said Lanyard— "but about Madame la Comtesse de Lorgnes."

Danced In Biggs House In 1872

Prominent citizens, advanced in years, danced the Virginia reel at the grand opening of Biggs House ball in 1872. The following made up the list: John Wright, and Miss Marie McFarland, Geo. Johnson and Mrs. McFarland, Geo. Johnson and Mrs. McFarland, Geo. Johnson and Mrs. McFarland.

Geo. Johnson, Francis Cleveland and Mrs. Dan McFarland, T. J. Graham and Mrs. A. McFarland, O. F. Moore and Mrs. P. C. Kinney. John Wright and Marie Montgomery had led the dance at the opening of the Watson

House that stood on the present site of the Biggs House in 1836. Courier's band of Cincinnati was present at the 1872 ball and later played at the dedication of the Soldiers' Monument in Tracy Park in 1875.

THE FASHION STAGES STYLE SHOW

Patrons of The Eastland Theatre enjoyed an unusual style treat last night when The Fashion, the women's wear shop at the corner of Gallia and Gay streets, staged its semi-annual fashion promenade. To the tune of strains of sweet music by the Eastland orchestra, seven local young women, clad in the newest creations in coats, suits and dresses, paraded across the stage and on a runway extending out into the auditorium proper, which was especially constructed by Manager Woods, of the Eastland, for this occasion. The young women who wore these new creations to such an advantage were the Misses Beatrice Atkinson, Martha Burkhardt, Ruth Stenshorn, Helen Bradbury, Mae Sanders, Lulu Evans and Mrs. Sprecher.

After months of the short skirt mode, Portsmouth women, thrilled at the novelty of seeing frocks with hem lines only five or six inches from the floor and in some instances well down below the ankles, for this is Jane Fashion's new edict and we must, of course, all obey her commands.

About forty garments were shown by these striking young women, and judging from the exclamations of admiration, each one was prettier than the one before. A few of the garments which drew more than the usual share of favorable comment, were as follows: Wrappy coat of rich black velvet with genuine blue collar and cuffs; a new blue frock of satin faced cotton, long flowing sleeves and flounce faced with poppy red crepe embroidered and embellished with flowers of velvet ribbon; Maroon suit in Sorrento blue, collar and cuffs and bottom of jacket trimmed in genuine ermine; misses frock of tulle and embroidered with silk floss of poppy red and

Jack Dempsey Says Newer Form of Iron Increases Strength

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital, (Out-Door Department), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, in commenting on Dempsey's statement says: "No man without plenty of good red blood-rich in health-giving and strength-building iron can go through life filled with vigor, force and power."

"Every thinking person should realize if men as physically fit as Jack Dempsey, Zack Wheat, Harry Hooper and dozens of other leaders in the world of sport have helped to maintain their supremacy by the use of this newer form of iron which is called Nuxated Iron, how much more important it is for the average man to see that there is no lack of iron in his blood. A surprisingly large number of people suffer from iron deficiency. Without iron in the blood you cannot be your best, either mentally or physically, because lack of iron not only makes you nervous, irritable, and easily fatigued, but robs you of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. To help make strong, hard, red-blooded Americans there is nothing in my experience which I have found so valuable as Nuxated Iron. Get a bottle of Nuxated Iron today. Take it for two weeks, and if you have not, like thousands of other, obtained most surprising health, strength and energy, the manufacturers will promptly refund your money. Nuxated Iron is sold with this 'satisfaction or money back' guarantee by Stewart's Cut Rate, Flood & Blake, Fisher & Streich.—Advertisement.

John W. Carroll, well paper dealer of 542 Second street, yesterday purchased from the Grimes estate and Mr. Simon Lohnd the two story brick building at 539 Second street now occupied by Harry McNeer, dealer in Harley Davidson motorcycles and bicycles and Nash automobiles.

Mr. McNeer's lease has more than a year to run.

It is Mr. Carroll's intention, when he obtains possession of the property, to tear it down and erect a handsome business block, part of which he will occupy himself with his wall paper store.

The price paid for the property, while not made public, is said to indicate a decided stiffening in the property values of lower Second street, as compared with those of the past eight or ten years.

Mr. Carroll stated today that two five room flats would be located on the second floor of his new building.

Oh, What A Change In St. Louis!

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 21.—With the St. Louis Americans trailing the New York Yankees by 3-1-2 games a handicap regarded as very impossible to overcome, St. Louis fandom today seemingly had resigned itself to loss of participation in a world series.

Coming on the heels of the Yankee debate, two defeats at the hands of Washington found the home club cheered at its yesterday's game, compared with the wild encouraged cheers of a few days ago. In comparison with the 30,000 attendance each day at the Yankees' series, the crowd at yesterday's game was estimated at barely two thousand.

Pastoral Conference Closes

A two days' session of the Pastoral Circle of the Southern Ohio District of the Evangelical church closed Wednesday night at the First Evangelical church. Matters of interest to the churches in this District were discussed at each session of the circle. Rev. Samuel Lindenmeyer of the local church presided as chairman. Others in attendance were: Rev. Timothy Lehman, Columbus; Rev. A. Knebeling, Columbus; Rev. W. L. Bretz, Columbus; Rev. J. Weber, Chillicothe; Mrs. C. Roth, Chillicothe; Rev. G. M. Mussman, Pomeroy.

Stevenson, Accused Of Murder, Acquitted In 30 Minutes

Defendant Joins Family

(BULLETIN)

After deliberating only 30 minutes, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty and Stevenson was warmly congratulated by his friends. Later he joined his wife and family.

Evidence adduced by the state in the case of George Stevenson, brought to trial before Judge Thomas and a jury in Common Pleas court Thursday morning on a charge of second degree murder for the killing of Thomas Brewer, greatly favored the accused and tended to support his contention that he fired the fatal shot in his proper defense.

But little trouble was experienced in the selection of the jury to hear the case, only one being excused for cause and one peremptory challenge being exercised. Robert Jantner being excused for cause and Carl G. Van Meter was challenged peremptorily by the defense. The jury as accepted and sworn is composed of these persons: Cornelia Treuthart, John L. Dadds, C. F. Strickland, Charles May, William Ruse, F. E. Brewer, W. J. Shannon, L. C. D. Anderson, Thomas Thompson, Hugh Ellis, A. J. Bleckman and Joseph Belcher.

Russell Brewer, Raymond Horst, Bernard Watkins, Neale Adkins, Ollie Carter and John Riley, all eye-witnesses to the shooting, which occurred at the White Bear hotel, Second and Madison streets, about six o'clock on the afternoon of July 4, last, were the witnesses called to the stand by the prosecution.

Prosecutor's Statement.—Prosecutor Shepard in stating the case to the jury said that he expected the evidence to show that the defendant brought on the conflict by taking offense over a trifling matter which resulted in the death of Thomas Brewer.

In stating the claims of the defense Attorney Thos. K. Pank said the defense expected to show that Russell "Shad" Brewer, son of the murdered man, had accused Stevenson of "blowing his head off" to prohibition officers who had visited the hotel that day and had threatened him with violence for telling the officers about whiskey having been about the place; that Tom Brewer came across the street and struck Stevenson on the head that he had learned of Stevenson having told the officers of the presence of liquor there. He further denied making any threats or quarreling with Stevenson in an effort to cause him to commit an assault but admitted that he had some difficulty with Stevenson over the fire-cracker throwing and that he had told his father of the trouble.

The witness further admitted that he knew that his father had been ordered to keep away from the soft drink place.

Raymond Horst Called.—Raymond Horst testified of Stevenson getting "sore" at "Shad" Brewer over the fire-cracker throwing incident and of hot words following. He said he was standing in front of the hotel in the evening when Thomas Brewer came from across the street and approaching Stevenson with an invitation to come out, saying he wished to speak to him. The witness said that Stevenson was standing in the doorway and on his refusal to come out Brewer slapped him on the head and followed him to the rear and into the hallway where the fatal shot was fired by Stevenson during a struggle. He saw "Shad" shoot Stevenson in the arm as the latter went into a room nearby.

The witness denied on cross examination that he went over to the Brewer home and brought Tom Brewer to the hotel at the instance of Russell Brewer. He said that he and others followed behind when the two men started fighting and retreated towards the rear of the building. He declared that Stevenson wheeled and shot just as Brewer grabbed him at the foot of the stairway. He stated that after the encounter at the front door Stevenson walked backwards facing Brewer who was pursuing him.

Bornier Testifies.—Bernard Watkins, a roomer at the hotel, told of Russell Brewer and Stevenson having an altercation on July 2, because the former threw a fire-cracker into the soft drink place and which burned Stevenson on the leg slightly when it exploded. He testified of meeting Stevenson on the stairs with a gun in his front trouser pocket a short time before the trouble and of trying to persuade him to go back upstairs and not have any more trouble.

The witness said he saw Tom Brewer strike Stevenson and that the latter tried to get away but was followed by Brewer who caught him by the shoulder as he passed out into the hallway and during the struggle which ensued the shot was fired. He said Stevenson did not attempt to draw his gun until after he was first assaulted in the doorway.

John Riley, a roomer, said he was in his room and saw the men clinched in the hall and saw Stevenson fire the shot.

Neale Adkins and Ollie Carter testified of hearing Stevenson threatening to kill any man that threw fire-crackers on him again.

State Rested.

The state rested at this juncture and Attorney Pank in support of a motion to arrest the case from the jury, declared that even the testimony of the witnesses for the prosecution showed that Brewer was the aggressor and brought on the difficulty and that the accused attempting to escape at the time. The attorney insisted that the witnesses for the state had made out a good defense for the accused and hearing out his claim that he was wholly justified in firing the shot to protect himself from the attack of a man much larger than himself.

The court overruled the motion for the time being and the taking of evidence on behalf of the defense started, the accused taking the stand in his own behalf and gave his version of the trouble which led up to the shooting.

He related of having some difficulty with Russell Brewer because the latter accused him of "blowing his head off" to State Prohibition Officer George Bagshaw and Constable Carter when they visited the hotel that day in search for liquor. He accused me of telling the officers about the presence of liquor there and threatened me with violence. The defendant stated, and admitted that he was knocked against the bar in the soft drink establishment in the hotel and of Brewer pursuing him when he retreated towards the rear of the room and into the hallway where a struggle ensued when Brewer caught him and was in the act of assaulting him again when Stevenson drew his gun and fired. It was claimed in his proper self-defense.

Coroner Called.

Coroner J. D. Hendricks called described the wound which caused Brewer's death. He said that the bullet entered just below the right armpit, ranged downward and backward, passing through the liver and lodged in the spine. He stated that death was caused by hemorrhage.

Russell "Shad" Brewer was the second witness called by the prosecution and he related the events which led up to the fatal shooting. He said that Stevenson became angered at him because he had thrown a fire-cracker into the street from an upstairs window of the hotel during the forenoon. The witness stated that he had been a roomer at the place and told of being ordered to leave by the proprietor because of some difficulty in which his roommate, Raymond Horst had been involved during the afternoon. He said that he had taken his clothes over to his parents' home on Front street and returned to the hotel to get a refund due from his room rent when his father came across the street and approached Stevenson, who was standing in the front doorway of the hotel with his hand in his pockets.

Son On Stand.

Young Brewer stated that when Stevenson refused to come out to the sidewalk for a conversation at the invitation of his father the defendant made an effort to draw his pistol and that his father then struck Stevenson. He admitted that his father pursued Stevenson as the latter retreated but denied that he caught hold of him until after the shot was fired. The witness also admitted that he shot Stevenson in the left arm as he darted into a room nearby.

On cross examination Stevenson told of the prohibition officers visit to the hotel that day but denied that he secured his pistol to protect himself, adding that he knew that young Brewer was armed.

Says He Was Frightened.

The witness then related of Tom Brewer striking him as he stood in the doorway of the hotel, the blow knocking him against the bar and of trying to get away by retreating towards the rear. He declared that Brewer got hold of his coat and prevented him from seeking safety in his room upstairs. The defendant asserted that he was frightened and admitted that he drew his gun and inflicted the fatal wound because he thought his own life was in danger.

B. & O. Men Returning

The Chillicothe News-Advertiser says:

"Following a meeting of the local railway federation committee with R. & O. officials, it was generally understood that more furloughed men were to be recalled to work soon and that there was a possibility that several more machinists would be needed at once.

"Monday and Tuesday were days of 'house cleaning.' Old beds and dirty blankets used by strike-breakers who have disappeared, were hauled out, piled up and burned. Debris that had collected about the shops was gathered together and the torch applied."

Benefit Game For Bert Elam

In a well played fast game the Russell base ballers went down to defeat before the strong Ashland nine on the Russell lot Wednesday afternoon by a score of 4 to 2. The game was well attended, it being a benefit game for Bert Elam, who was injured when hit on the head by a thrown ball recently.

All the players in Wednesday's game donated their services and there was no expenses connected with the game, a neat sum being realized.

British Army Head Warns The Turks

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—General Harington of the British army, as the general officer in chief command of the allied forces, has issued a communique in which he declares that responsibility for the consequences of violations of the neutral zone will fall upon the authors of such violations.

Tanks Will Play Athens

(Athenian Register)—A contract was signed yesterday between the manager of the Ironton Tanks, Jimmy Lambert, and the manager of the Athens, O. football club, the latter to furnish a team to appear at Beechwood Park on Sunday, Oct. 8th, for a game against the Tankers.

The Athens club is composed of collegiate stars of calibre from throughout the tri-state section, with a half-back and full-back who have gained national prominence during the college careers.

Ex-Florida Mayor Dies In Hotel

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Myron Gillette, former mayor of Tampa, Fla., and a former president of the Florida Citrus Exchange, died late last night in a hotel here. He was taken ill several days ago. Services will be held tonight and the body will be taken to Akron, Ohio, for burial. Mr. Gillette was 64 years old. He is survived by his wife and a son.

B. & O. Men Return To Work

About ten machinists and shopmen employed at the B. & O. roundhouse in the West End returned to work Wednesday upon receipt of word that shopmen of this division of the B.

& O. had signed an agreement with the railway company.

The B. & O. shopmen here went out July 1st, the time the general strike was called.

To Attend Chillicothe Convention

Close to twenty-five members of Delta Camp, Royal Neighbors of America will go to Chillicothe tomorrow to attend a District Convention of Royal Neighbors. Sessions will be held in the afternoon and evening. The Portsmouth delegation, which is expected to be one of the largest present, will take along four candidates who will receive their degree work there.

Two touring cars will carry some of the Neighbors to the convention, while the Wheelersburg bus has been chartered to carry about fifteen. They will leave Portsmouth about eight o'clock in the morning. Portsmouth's delegation will make an effort to bring the next meeting of the district organization to Portsmouth. Ironton will also send several representatives to the meeting tomorrow.

Bettor Wins Fight For Winnings

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—When an error is made in officially posting the winner of a horse race and a better tears up his ticket on that annual before the error is rectified, he is entitled to receive the amount his ticket called for, even though the pieces had been assembled and cashed by another.

This was a ruling of Judge Thomas R. Gordon, deciding that such a mistake was negligence on the part of the Kentucky Jockey Club, which was on file today in circuit court. R. E. Henderson, the bettor, was awarded judgment for $172.50 which represented the amount a $10 straight ticket on Ring Rose paid in a race at Churchill Downs in the meeting last autumn. Henderson's petition stated that the number of another horse was posted first, whereupon he tore his ticket into bits and threw them away. When Ring Rose was posted as the winner, he was unable to find the pieces, but immediately filed a claim with the Jockey Club. Judge Gordon held this put the officials on their guard and the mutilated ticket should not have been cashed when presented by another.

Vincent Garito, who was said to have pieced the ticket together and cashed it, was brought into court and judgment was rendered against him in favor of the Jockey Club, for the amount called for by the ticket.

Examination Of Professor To Continue

SOUTH BEND, IND., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Direct examination of Professor John Tierman, husband of Mrs. Augusta Tierman, who charges Harry Poulin with the paternity of her ten months' old child, will be continued by Prosecutor Floyd Johnson when hearing of the case is resumed here today.

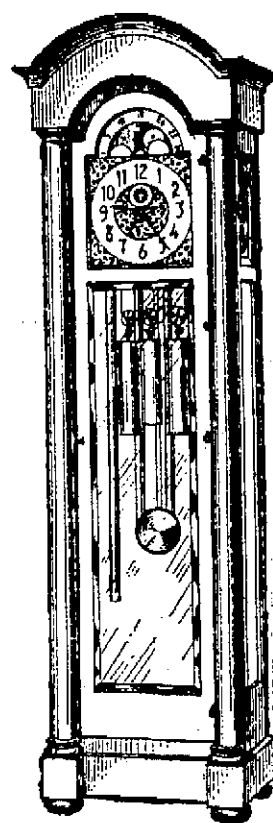

Most of yesterday and part of Tuesday's session was taken up with wrangling by the attorneys over the admissibility of testimony concerning the marital relations between the professor and his wife during a period before the child was born, the testimony finally being ruled out by Judge Ducomb on the ground that the law prohibited the husband giving such testimony in a case of the character of the present one.

An incident noted by Professor Tierman was a meeting on the street with Poulin shortly after the baby was born. Tierman said when he informed Poulin of the birth of the child, the latter turned and with scarcely a word, strode quickly away.

Mrs. Mae Poulin, wife of the defendant, and a witness for the state, will probably follow Tierman on the stand today. Although subpoenaed by the prosecution, she has maintained throughout a staunch belief in her husband's innocence.

JURY COMPLETED.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The jury was completed today for the trial of Wm. M. Creasy, of Fort Thomas, Ky., charged with the murder of Edith La-voy, 20-year-old school teacher of Freeport, N. Y.

Andersons' Store Has Been A "Pageant Of Portsmouth" For Nearly Half A Century.

An "ad-itorial" on civic pride and service

Andersons' store, Chillicothe, Corner Third, Founded 1874

For nearly fifty years the growth and progress of Portsmouth has been reflected in this store. Through all these years Andersons' has been "The house by the side of the road", with always the city and people's welfare at heart. When the city prospered we have gloried; when panics came we suffered together. We have helped honor Portsmouth's prominent citizens and we have mourned their loss. Every civic enterprise in the past half-century has had this store's moral and financial support. We have lived through all the history this city has made since Gen. Grant was president and, turning back the store's pages day by day one might easily have a "Pageant of Portsmouth" disclosed to view. In times of distress our hearts and purses have been open. In times of jollification and prosperity our flags have flown. In days of sorrow our doors have been closed.

As a part of this wonderful city we have endeavored always to be of service to its people. Our efforts have been spent in progress and in making a store worthy of the city. We have continually labored to render a service so good that Portsmouth people would be satisfied to shop in Portsmouth and we are content to let you be the judge of our success.

Whether the scroll of time that is gradually being rolled is ever turned back to view as is the case in the Pageant to be presented next week, it is the aim and ambition of this store to so conduct its affairs and provide service that no history of Portsmouth could ever be written or staged that would eliminate the name of Anderson.

This store belongs to Portsmouth. Its interests are in Portsmouth and like all institutions whose aims are true we want to "Live in a house by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

AN INTERESTING JOURNEY INTO HISTORY OF SCIOTO COUNTY

How The County Received Name

The name "Scioto" is a Shawnee Indian name. A number of definitions have been given to the term and the Editor is unable to determine which one is correct. "Falling Water," "fresh water," and "hairy" are all given as definitions of the word. It is more likely that the first definition is the correct one. The Shawnee Indian language was never reduced to writing, and is now among the dead languages, of no use or value whatever. The only terms which survive are certain names of localities. The first heard of this country in any manuscript is in the Second Charter of Virginia, issued by King James of England, "The wilderness in Christendom" May 25, 1600. In that document there are about 10,000 words of unnecessary verbiage, as was customary in those times, but for our purpose it is sufficient to say that on that date he granted certain persons and societies named in the charter, all the land along the coast of the Atlantic from Old Point Comfort, two hundred miles north and from the same point two hundred miles south, and hence west and northwest from sea to sea. In other words, the north and south lines of this grant were at right angles to the general trend of the Atlantic coast.

This language included all of southern Ohio and much more country. Augusta county, Virginia, was created on the 1st day of November 1733 by the General Assembly of the colony of Virginia. It was named for the Princess Augusta, wife of George II, and the father of George III. Frederick county was created the same year. The act separated all the territory west of the Blue Ridge and extended in other directions to the utmost limits of Virginia. It is said in Waddell's Annals of Augusta County, Virginia, to include nearly all of the states of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Illinois, and, as contended by Virginians, a part of western Pennsylvania. In point of fact, the country was not fully organized until October 30, 1745, when the governor issued a "Commission of Peace" and named the first magistrates of the county, twenty-one in number.

The first of them was James Tanton, second, John Lewis, and amongst others, Robert Ponge and Robert Cunningham. James Tanton was the first sheriff of the county appointed by the governor. The justices met December 9, 1745, and took the oath of office. The first will presented in Augusta county, was that of Robert Wilson. It was executed November 3, 1745, and was proved and admitted to probate on February 11, 1746. The first deed recorded was that of Andrew Dickson to William McPheters for 12 1/2 acres of land for five shillings. In 1749 Robert McClanahan was sheriff of the county and has descendants in Adams county at this time. Prior to 1751, Colonel Richard Henderson and Company claimed to have purchased territory embraced now in Scioto county and perhaps a hundred times as much more from the Shawnee Indians. Colonel George Croghan was at the mouth of the Scioto river at Alexandria in 1752. When he learned of this claim he communicated it to the governor of Virginia and the General Assembly of Virginia passed resolutions to investigate it and did so.

In 1777 a great deal of testimony was taken, among others, the great Patrick Henry testified. On June 4, 1777, Colonel Henderson wanted to take him in as a partner in the deal and also Colonel William Byrd, but Patrick Henry, Esq., as he was then styled, declined the offer because the land belonged to Virginia, and as usual with him, replied with a great deal of eloquence. Several Indians figured in the deal. Among those named are Dragging Canoe, Oconostota, Raven Warrior and others.

While the colony took a great deal of interest as to what Colonel Henderson would say, he never came forward to substantiate his claim and hence the matter was abandoned. In 1793, a new county was created in Virginia known as Botetourt, and then it was that the territory now embraced in Scioto county became a part of Botetourt county. It was named in honor of Norborne Berkeley, Lord Botetourt. He was governor of Virginia in 1768. Scioto county remained a part of Botetourt county until December 20, 1793. It is said there are deeds on record in that county which embrace lands in Adams and Scioto counties. On the date just mentioned Virginia ceded its territory north of the Ohio river to the United States and appointed commissioners to execute the deed which was completed by the Virginia Commissioners on March 1, 1794.

On July 13, 1797, Congress passed the Ordinance of 1797, creating the Northwest Territory. July 27, 1798, Washington county was proclaimed. It embraced all of Scioto county east of the Scioto river. On July 10, 1797, by proclamation of Governor St. Clair, Adams county was created. It embraced within its limits the whole of Scioto county and from that date until May 10, 1803, the territory of Scioto county was a part of Adams county. On April 30, 1802 Congress passed a law enabling the formation of the state of Ohio, and by an Act of February 19, 1803, the state was formally recognized by Congress.

The first Legislature of Ohio met on the third of March, 1803. On the 24th day of March, 1803, the legislature passed an Act to create the county of Scioto which reads as follows: "Be it enacted, etc., that all that tract of county comprehended in the following boundaries, to-wit: the same is hereby erected into a county by the name of Scioto, to-wit: Beginning on the Ohio, one mile on a straight line below the mouth of the lower Twin Creek; thence north to the Ross county line, thence east with said county line to the line of Washington county; thence south with said line to the Ohio; thence with the Ohio to the place of beginning; that all actions, suits and prosecutions now pending in the county of Adams shall be determined in said court, and that all fines, forfeitures and public dues, which have incurred to or which are due and owing to the county of Adams shall be collected by the sheriff or collector of said county. In the same manner as though no division had taken place; that until a permanent seat of justice shall be fixed in the county of Scioto by commissioners for that purpose, Alexandria shall be the temporary seat of justice, and courts held at the house of John Collins; that this Act shall take effect and be in force from and after the first day of May next. (Passed March, 24, 1803.)

On the 6th of April the Legislature appointed for Associate Judges: John Collins, Joseph Lucas and Thomas William Sweeney. These are sketches of John Collins and Joseph Lucas herein, but oh! how has already secured Mr. Sweeney. It is believed that he left the county soon after its organization to go west, but whether for his own good or that of his neighbors is not now known. However, these judges did meet on the 10th day of May, 1803, and organized the county, as will be found under the title "Journal of the Common Pleas Court of Scioto County from 1803 to 1810." The south and west lines of the county have never been changed. The original east line took in about one-third of Lawrence county and from one-fourth to one-sixth of Jackson, and the north line included more than half of Pike county. In 1804 at the second session of the legislature the east line of Scioto county was changed. That part of Gallia county lying west of the seventeenth range of townships was placed in Scioto county. That made the line of the county to start from Ashland, Ky., and run due north to the upper line and took in two-thirds of Jackson county, and retained one-third of Lawrence.

In 1815 Lawrence county was created and the boundaries were as follows: Beginning on the Ohio river, at the southeast corner of the township No. 2, in range 15, thence west to the southeastern corner of said township; thence north to the northeast corner of township 3, range 16; thence west to the northwest corner of said township; thence north to the northeast corner of the township 5 and 7; thence west to the range line between the seventeenth and eighteenth ranges; thence west to the northeast corner of section 4, in range 18; thence west to the northeast corner of section 5, in said township; thence south to the northeast corner of section 5, in said township; thence south to the northeast corner of section No. 29, in said township; thence west to the northwest corner of section 27, in township 4, range 19; thence south to the southwest corner of section 34, in township 3; thence west to the northwest corner of section 3, in township 2, in said range; thence south to the French Grant line; thence southeastwardly to the east corner of said grant; thence southwestwardly to the corner between fractional sections Nos. 3 and 4 in township 1; thence south to the Ohio river; thence with the mainders of the river to the place of beginning." This west boundary includes the southeast and east sides of the French Grant and the north line of Elizabeth township, Lawrence county, to the southeast corner of section 26, range 19; thence the line to the east corner of said grant; thence southwestwardly to the corner between fractional sections Nos. 3 and 4 in township 1; thence south to the Ohio river; thence with the main-

Remodeling Second Floor Of Atlas Store

Carpenters are at work remodeling the second floor department of the Atlas Co. store, preparatory to the removal of all children's apparel to that floor and the establishment of an exclusive children's department.

New display cases and tables are being built for the children's ready to wear and Mr. Atlas expects to have the room ready for the Pageant week Fall opening next Monday.

HEARTBURN AND CONSTIPATION

They Quickly Make One Nervous and Sleepless

Heartburn is simply an indication of the manufacture of poisonous acid and gas in the stomach. The throat becomes the chimney of the stomach through which some of the poisonous gas escapes giving one a foul breath and causing great pain at times. Usually where one has this symptom of stomach trouble it is found that the sufferer is greatly distressed by indigestion and constipation, and especially when there is in every drug store a family remedy that quickly regulates and restores them to health. If they will just get it and use it.

From Muskegon, Mich., Mrs. Crigmon, tells us that she was a great sufferer—that after eating, gas would form in her stomach, giving her heartburn and stomach pains until she could not sleep. Sometimes the gas distended her so that she had terrible pains in the shoulder blades and around the heart. Then from loss of sleep and the gas she found such quick and certain relief that she slept soundly, ate anything she wished without discomfort and had no return of the trouble when she wrote us. You can get New-Worth at any drug store. It is always on sale at the Fisher & Stretch drug store in this city—one dollar a bottle and all druggists are authorized to give the money back if the first bottle fails to give satisfaction. —Advertisement.

What Makes Our
SUITS
Different?

Many a man who has been wearing our Suits for years has asked that question. He knows that their styling is always correct—that their fit and durability excell—but why?

Because we never sacrifice quality for any consideration. We have certain high class specifications as to materials and workmanship that we adhere to rigidly, and the result is that our clothing is as good in every respect as any ready-to-wear garments made and much better than most of them.

MILLIONS POINT WAY TO ABUNDANT HEALTH, JOY AND PROSPERITY

Bring Cheerful, Inspiring And Hopeful Messages To Those Who Are Sick In Body And Spirit.

TESTIMONIALS GIVEN
WOULD FILL VOLUMES

Possible For Everyone To Enjoy
The Good Things Of Life—To Eat, Sleep, Work And Play To The Fullest Measure.

Every human being is entitled to health, happiness and success. It is positively wrong to be satisfied with less. Do not fold your hands and accept ill health as something you can not avoid or overcome.

Tens of thousands of men and women from all parts of the world have testified that life has been made worth living to them after they had almost given up hope.
These are the fortunate ones who have been restored to health and strength by the use of Taniae, by far the world's most celebrated tonic medicines.

If human testimony can be believed at all, and who can be so skeptical as to doubt these solemn and grateful statements, Taniae has a power, a virtue, a merit, such as no other medicine ever possessed before. If these signed and witnessed statements, voluntarily given from a motive of gratitude only, were bound into volumes they would fill a big library and all of them speak the same cheering, inspiring and hopeful message.

They all agree that Taniae brings a feeling of new life and energy to every portion of the body and sends the blood tingling through the veins.

The blood becomes ruddy with the glow of health, the mind casts off its drowsiness and becomes once more alert and active; there comes new life, new energy and a new feeling of ability to do things never thought of before.

There is absolutely no excuse in this day and time for anyone to be classed among the weak, anemic, half-sick, miserable and worn-out specimens of humanity who are being left behind in the race of life. You owe it to yourself, your family and your future to keep fit, for health means happiness and success. Health brings the capacity to enjoy the good things of life, to eat, to sleep, to work and to play to the fullest measure.

John, today, the vast army of those who have been made healthy and strong by Taniae. Throw off the poisons that are ruining your digestion, weakening your strength, wrecking your nerves, making your liver torpid, causing headaches, backaches and crippling you with rheumatism and other destructive diseases.

Bring the color to your cheeks and the sparkle of health to your eyes. Be robust, strong and sturdy.
You can do this and you owe it to yourself, your future, your family, to act now.

Get Taniae from your nearest drugist today and watch how quickly you begin to eat better, sleep better, feel better and work better.—Advertisement

Investigate Arson Case

WELLSVILLE, O., Sept. 21.—The grand jury of the common pleas court will complete its labors today after a very busy session. Ninety-five witnesses were summoned to appear before the body. Probably the most important case coming before the body was the arson charge against Clinton Walton who has made a confession to burning a residence to ob-

W. E. Usseman Talks To Lodge

A good attendance marked the weekly meeting of Portsmouth Camp, Jr. O. U. A. M. held last night when Assistant State Manager of the Bene-voluntary Degree, W. E. Usseman of Utica made a splendid address on his work. He also discussed plans for a class of local candidates who will take this degree in the near future. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

CHILLICOTHE, O., Sept. 21.—Mr.
Mr. Hutsinpillar of Ashland, Ky., were in an automobile accident late yesterday afternoon in which the latter was probably fatally injured while the former was badly bruised and cut.

Mrs. Hutsinpillar is thought to have suffered a skull fracture. She was taken to a hospital in this city.
The accident occurred about three miles north of this city on the Columbus pike and was caused by the machine skidding on loose gravel, the car finally crashing into a telephone pole. Dr. C. A. Scuplock and wife of this city were behind the Ashland car and the physician gave first aid. Mr.
Hutsinpillar was cut by broken glass from the windshield.

Columbus Man Is Missing

The local police department received a message today from H. E.
French, Chief of Police, Columbus, requesting them to keep a lookout for Daniel Thomas who has been missing from the home of his father, D. T.
Thomas, 1242 Highland street, Columbus, Ohio, since six o'clock Monday evening, Sept. 11, 1922.

A description of the man follows:
"40 years of age, 5 foot 8 inches tall, dark complexion, upper tooth out in front, wears dark clothes and straw hat, very nervous and always seeking work, widower, smooth face, had small amount of cash probably $5 to $10.

"Dan has talked of going to Cincinnati to get work, is mentally irresponsible and it has been necessary to place him in a Sanatorium.

"If located keep under observation or detain him and notify the undersigned. H. E. FRENCH.

Miss Edwards Passes Away

OAK HILL, Sept. 21.—Following an illness dated from an attack of influenza suffered last winter, Miss Margaret Edwards, aged 54 years, passed away at her home at Moriah, Sunday, September 10. She was a daughter of the late John D. and Mary Edwards, pioneer Welsh settlers, and is survived by three sisters and one brother, namely, Misses Elizabeth and Annie Edwards at home, Mrs. Tom E. Evans and Dan J. Edwards, all of the Moriah neighborhood. One brother, John G. Edwards, suffered a tragic death about a year ago. Funeral services were held the following Tuesday with interment in the Moriah cemetery.

100 Men Report At Georgetown

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Georgetown University football got under way here today with about 100 men reporting for the varsity and about 60 for the freshman squads. Head Coach Albert E. Exendine, former all-American star at Carlisle was in charge.

This season marks the beginning of the freshman and one year rules in football at Georgetown, a change made possible by the increase in the enrollment at the university. The team faces a heavy schedule, including Georgia Tech, Bucknell, Ford-

Would Mean Big Impetus To Building Boom

In an effort to protect the holders of the 1918 series of war savings stamps which are to be redeemed
January 1, from fake stock salesmen and investments of doubtful value, building and loan officials in Scioto County, through James A. Devine, secretary of their state organization, have offered the services of their institutions to United States treasury department officials. Figures in the hands of treasury department official show that approximately $653,400 worth of war savings stamps of the 1918 issue still remain in the hands of Scioto county purchasers to be redeemed January 1.

It has been suggested to the government that the house shortage existing in Ohio could be materially alleviated if the money to be returned war stamp purchasers was placed in local financial institutions where it could be loaned for building purposes.

"If the money to be returned in January to the people of this county is placed in local institutions which finance home building, what a wonderful impetus it will give to business in this section," said W. D. Tremper of Portsmouth, speaking for the building and loan men in this county.
The government has been cited the record of building and loan companies in Ohio which during the last 30 years have not lost a single penny of their depositors' money. On the other hand it is pointed out that many millions of dollars are lost yearly through investment in worthless securities. "This county needs every dollar that the government is going to refund us for legitimate business," said Mr. Tremper.

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 20.—Three men were injured about 10 o'clock this morning, when a scaffold at the new building being erected on north Second street by Contractor Otto Schweickart, for the Ryan and Gillman Motor Co.

The injured men were Gus Englehart, of south Seventh street; Albert Meeks of Greenup; and John Reeves colored, of this city. The most serious of the injured was Meeks, who was badly cut in the head and leg broken.

Are Writing About The Bureau

From current reports received daily, Portsmouth photo-playwrights, submitting dramatized versions of the work of the Bureau of Community Service, are not finding the slightest difficulty in securing subjects to write about. The Bureau of Community Service plays such a varied and important part in the community life of this city, that the numerous service rendered individuals is unlimited. Some are writing about the care and prevention of tuberculosis. Others are portraying how families asking for help are befriended, and what happens when a baby is deserted, or school children need attention. Some are showing the local condition the community nurse meets in her daily calls. Others are showing the splendid work of the Boy Scouts, future plans for the Fresh Air Camp, while others are telling, in a dramatic fashion how the Bureau handles in delicate fashion, Girl Welfare work.

Many contestants from out of Portsmouth are writing in to ascertain if they are eligible in the contest. To them all, the Scenario Editor replies that everyone with ideas of practical community value is invited to take part.

Today's example of work the Bureau of Community Service is daily doing includes, a case of neglected children, handled by Miss Hubert in the Child Welfare Work. The mother died, leaving a father to take care of his little family of four children, ages—12 months, 4, 7, and 13 years. Work was scarce and there were many strikes and the man found it impossible to keep his home. He came to Miss Hubert for advice. The Bureau of Community Service attempted to keep his home together for several months, but found, without a mother, the children were not getting the proper care and schooling, so the children were placed in homes where they could be educated. Through love and kindness, the father has not been deprived of his children by the court or any court proceedings. These youngsters will grow to be able-bodied and able-minded while the father thanks the Bureau of Community Service for the extended opportunity.

PAMPHLETS WILL AID CONTESTANTS

Lowell Ames Norris, director of the Bureau of Community Service, has a limited number of booklets on hand explaining in detail the work of the Bureau in the city of Portsmouth. These will be of great assistance to any one contemplating to take part in the scenario contest which this organization is at present conducting. The booklets also furnish the unacquainted with the work of the Bureau, a comprehensive knowledge of the functioning of the twelve departments and their officials, and also provide much other information not generally known. The pamphlets are free for the asking, but the number is limited and persons desiring copies are advised to telephone or call at once, in person at the offices on the seventh floor of the First National Bank building.

Is Philosopher Of White House

Save Your Teeth

Make Your Loosened, Sensitive Teeth Firm, Strong and Healthy

Don't lose your teeth. It's unnecessary now. There is no reason why everybody cannot have good, firm, teeth and healthy gums. Go to your dentist and get a tube of MOAVA DENTAL CREAM. All good druggists have this or can get it for you on short notice. Dentists and professional men are astonished at the discovery of this inexpensive yet unfailing prescription for Pyorrhea, bleeding, receding gums with loosened, sensitive teeth. Furthermore, the discoverer wishes all sufferers to know that if after using only tube you are not satisfied that MOAVA DENTAL CREAM will permanently rid you of this humiliating disease, your money is waiting for you. Fisher & Strick Pharmacy can supply you.—Advertisement.

To Pageant Visitors

Portsmouth is going to be the big mecca of Southern Ohio on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, September 26, 27, 28. The Peerless City will have her best foot forward, awaiting the wishes and desires of the thousands of visitors. We know the guests of the city will be shown a glorious time, and we want to do our part in helping to pass courtesy around. So consider this an invitation to visit our big plant at Gallia and Clay streets. We want the pleasure of showing you through one of the most modern dairy plants in the country — where "Quality" goods are bottled and made. We refer particularly to Portsmouth's Best and Most Popular Food

"QUALITY" ICE CREAM

We believe you will be interested in inspecting the plant. One thing sure, you will find everything spic and span, for the sanitary laws are rigidly enforced here. We don't care when you come — anytime the place is open for inspection.

PAGEANT DAYS AND DRESS-UP WEEK ARE TO BE CELEBRATED IN A MOST FITTING MANNER

In conjunction with the other merchants of Portsmouth this store will celebrate Pageant Days and Dress Up Week in a most fitting manner. The days of Pageant are Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, September 26, 27, 28th. Dress Up Week Tuesday until Saturday. During this entire week the doors of this store are wide open to the entire public. A MAKE YOURSELF AT HOME SLOGAN in other words. Our store will be decorated in a most timely manner that everyone may view Fashion's newest conceits. Let this announcement be a cordial invitation to you to come and view our brilliant assemblage of merchandise that will be on display this entire week.

Exquisite Autumn Millinery

Opulence, elegance and gaiety are represented in this formal presentation of Autumn's Millinery Modes.

The hat is the most conspicuous and most important part of the wardrobe, as it completes the general "ensemble."

Much Black will be worn when the Fall season opens.

Salons are displaying gorgeously created models in crepe de chine, canton, velvets, taffetas and felt combinations with crepe weave silks and similar materials.

Feather fancies, monkey fur, metal and silk braids, are among the trimmings.

Reddish or rust shades will be worn, as will royal blue and navy.

Many Of These New Fall Suits Are Of The Three-Piece Style

Which is an economy, that's sure—for the dress and coat may be worn separately. The blouses are of canton crepe in contrasting colors; the skirts with just a suggestion of draping. Of velvet, duvetyne, and duvet de laine, richly fur-trimmed.

Where the suits consist of coat and skirt only, they are more often fur-trimmed, and the sleeves are full at the wrist. Poiret twill and tricotine are the fabrics of which many of the new suits are made.

Hart Schaffner, Marx Mannish Fall Coats For General Or Sports Wear

The Blouse Salon

Beaded designs promise to prove popular in Blouses. Medium length blouses, about to the hip, to be worn either as a costume blouse or as a suit blouse, are the outstanding ones in the new Fall lines.

Embroidery practically covers some of the new models. Many colors are used in extreme contrasts.

One of the most adorable of all the enchanting features is the overblouse type, which are the most popular this fall.

In The Realm Of The New Dresses

Take a trip with us among the beautiful new frocks. Relax and let your imagination run wild while you absorb the writer's observation. Picture gowns, radiant in the richness of autumn colorings; whose lines are long and slenderizing, draped in clever ways to achieve the uneven hem line with sleeves flowing or sleeves tight. Picture gowns in an immense variety of fabrics to grace those informal occasions and formal evening affairs, and you have a panorama of the exquisite in dress wear. Better still, come in and see them. Even a poet's description could not convey the favorable impression that a personal viewing could.

Sturdy Baggage For Travelers

When buying luggage it is well to keep in mind that you want your bag or trunk not only to add zest to your present travel, but to every journey. Good baggage assures this. Speaking of good baggage, we direct attention to our stocks.

Hosiery For Fall

It is a maxim of the well-dressed French women that those observant of fashions see first a woman's feet, then her head, then her hands. Take care of the details of a costume and the costume is more than half made.

Many new and serviceable designs in stockings are now being shown.

Earrings

Earrings are being worn now by every type of woman, and are in great and constant demand. Circlets, pendants, ball earrings, in jet and vivid color. Some studded with brilliants, others are combined with brilliants and colored sets.

Color And Length Mirror The Trend In Fall Skirts

Reflecting the best thoughts, these skirts may be seen here in a variety that permits for a most discriminating choice. The materials are of richly colored fabrics, varying from the beautifully simple fabrics to textures whose elegance is emphasized by its unique weaves. These skirts though all light weight have the necessary warmth to keep the wearer comfortable in sports or ordinary walking in the sharpest days that may come.

Fashionable Furs Are An Essential Part of the Winter Wardrobe

Luxurious rich in their perfect matching of reliable skins are the furs we are showing. The elegance of the quality will immediately win your favor. And when Coats, Capes, Coatees, and small furs in the pelts and styles fashion has set her heart upon are obtainable at such attractive prices as these, plus our personal guarantee of satisfaction, then the purchase of your fur coat or separate piece should be made at this store.

Metal Girdles

Fashion offers many delightful opportunities to wear one's metal girdle. That is the way of Fashion, to originate little things to play a big part in adding a becoming touch to the costume.

Veils

With the choice range extensive as it is, we can safely predict that the veil that fits you best and meets your requirements is here. Every veil in the collection is as becoming as a veil can possibly be.

TUESDAY IS BANNER DAY OF PAGEANT; STORES WILL CLOSE

Sparks From Pageant Anvil

Inasmuch as the merchants, banks, and building associations will close on Tuesday afternoon, it is planned to make Tuesday the banner day of the week. Let the people of the city set a good example by attending Tuesday.

Rehearsals
The Forest will be rehearsed at the High School Gym this Thursday evening at eight o'clock. The steel drill will take place Friday at 3:30 p. m. at Bessman's.

Flags Displayed
Flags will be placed on each corner of the grand stand at the Pageant grounds. This will add materially to the appearance of the great amphitheatre.

Costumes Ready
Costumes will be given out at Wilhelmette Hall tomorrow and Saturday. It will be some task, and any volunteer help will be appreciated.

Colored Chorus
Song Director Picher reports the colored chorus as being in splendid shape, and the members all ready and eager to do their part. They will do well without a doubt.

More Men
Some additional men are wanted to take part in the Harrison campaign episode and persons wishing to help out in this direction should make their wishes known.

Great Cast
It was stated by Mrs. William H. Schwartz Wednesday that at a conservative estimate 1500 people would take part in the Pageant, and that more than likely the number would be 1700.

Generous Acts
Mr. Irving Drew has arranged to have all the boys and girls at the County Children's Home attend the Pageant next Tuesday at his expense. Mr. Simon Labold will treat all the newsmen of the city in a similar manner. The youngsters will appreciate this treat.

Buy Now
The Pageant Association desires that as many persons as possible buy their tickets now and that they buy for Tuesday, Merchants' Day, making it the banner day of all three.

Decorate
Merchants and others are requested to decorate their places of business the coming week. Let all put on the gala attire for a general holiday.

Open Evenings
The reserved seat box office, in addition to being open daily from nine to five o'clock, will also be open each evening from six to eight. All purchasers of tickets should have them reserved, as there is no extra charge.

Remember
The contest will close at noon Saturday, and all who are taking part in it would do well to note this. The final vote will be published in Sunday's Sun-Times.

Dress Rehearsals
Don't forget the dress rehearsals of all participants at York Park Saturday afternoon and Monday afternoon.

Deserves Thanks
Thomas G. O'Keefe has aided the Pageant Association most materially at headquarters, doing much clerical work in a most painstaking and satisfactory manner. He especially has been of much help to the Kah-Taterson Company, publishers of the program.

Programs
Pageant programs costing ten cents each will be on sale at the Park grounds, the Boy Scouts handling them. The music of the song of Portsmouth will be on sale at the book stores at 15 cents.

Chorus No. 1
The last rehearsal of Chorus No. 1 will be held at the High School Friday evening at seven o'clock. Let every member respond and cooperate in making the chorus a great success.

Exhibit Phone
The Exhibit Room has had a telephone installed. The number is 2803. The Box Office ticket sale numbers are 2803 and 2804.

Attending Conference

Rev. J. N. Kayser of the Calvary Baptist church this city, and Rev. Robert Allbaugh of the Immanuel Baptist church, New Boston are in Columbus attending the conference of Northern Baptists which is being held at the First Baptist church in that city. Among the important speakers at the conference will be Rev. Abernathy of the Calvary Baptist church, Washington, D. C.

Here On Business
T. M. Long of Ironton is in the city on business.

Is Better
Mrs. Charles Brunner of Eighth street continues to improve from an operation she recently submitted to.

One Of The Live Wires In Pageant's Personnel

E. C. (JACK) HOOD
As chairman of the Pageant of Portsmouth Publicity Committee, E. C. (Jack) Hood has been kept busy night and day and between times. In fact, he has hardly had time to give his employees even the "interest" on his time. Thanks to Mr. Hood's hard work and the assistance given him by his co-workers, the Pageant of Portsmouth has received wonderful publicity and there is no question but every man, woman and child in this and surrounding counties but knows the big affair is going to be held in the city of Portsmouth on September 26, 27 and 28.

At the request of Chairman Hood, the statement is made that should there be any profit, the money will be used for civic pride purposes—not a penny will be used to enrich a single participant or individual.

Getting the spirit of the Pageant, C. M. Howland, president of the Portsmouth Hat Co. has issued an S. O. S. call for every one of its traveling representatives to assemble at the gates of the Pageant on Thursday afternoon, the last day. Mr. Howland states that every employee of the progressive concern will be on the designated spot at the designated hour.

It is suited to a present day church and community program. Departmental work will now feature the Sunday school organization. The pastor and people deserve the greatest credit and praise for this noble achievement.

Woa! Back Up C. & O. Engine Is Stolen
For downright boldness, two Russell, Ky., youths get the tissue paper bath tub. They stole a C. & O. engine—yes, a real engine and took a joy ride on the iron steed before capture.

Gallia Pike Paving Ready In November

Contractors Harper and Ruel are making fine headway on their job of paving three miles of the Gallia pike west of the Lawrence county line. They have put down a mile and a quarter of the paving. "We are stepping along at a rapid clip and expect to have our portion of the road open to travel early in November," Henry Ruel said Thursday.

New Pastor For South Webster

Rev. O. L. Hall the new M. E. pastor at South Webster comes to the Scioto county church with a splendid record for community work. He was stationed at Waterloo, Lawrence county last year. Recently The Evangel, the Portsmouth District M. E. paper had the following regarding Rev. Hall and his work:

One of the triumphs of the year was the completion and dedication of Waterloo church. Rev. O. L. Hall, the indomitable pastor, backed by a committee of loyal and sacrificing laymen, worked hand in hand until a beautiful modern temple was finished. Bishop Wm. F. Anderson assisted by the District Superintendent Rev. J. B. Hawk, the pastor and Rev. C. E. Hill, a former pastor dedicated the church on June 1, 1922. An immense congregation filled the house and crowded about the windows and doors.

The lumber was sawed, kiln-dried, planed and put into the structure by the people of the community.

The pulpit itself is a work of art and was made and fashioned by Rev. Hall himself. The church has hardwood floors, of oak and walnut and other conveniences that are generally lacking in the rural church.

The building has five rooms and a beautiful choir loft back of the pulpit.

It is suited to a present day church and community program. Departmental work will now feature the Sunday school organization.

Claim Poor Gasoline Is Being Sold In This State

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 21—Ohio needs a new and drastic oil inspection law if gasoline users are to be protected against loss of thousands of dollars annually through forced use of poor quality of gasoline, according to W. H. Phipps, state commerce director.

Phipps is receiving hundreds of complaints from automobile owners in all parts of Ohio protesting against the low grade of gasoline now being sold for automobile use.

Charge is made almost daily that kerosene is being mixed with gasoline and the mixture sold to motorists at the prevailing gasoline price.

Higher Living Cost

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 21—Living costs will be increased about 10 per cent during the coming year, James F. Jackson, Cleveland, told members of the Ohio Council of Family Social Work, meeting here.

Jackson said his estimate was based on a close study of market conditions, including interviews with wholesalers and retailers. Living cost is taken to include clothes, food and rent.

It's Safe To Buy At Baldwin's

Baldwin
Builder of Incomparable PIANOS and PLAYER-PIANOS

WHEN the great Beethoven, emulating nature's own music from bird and brook, gave to the ages the beloved Pastoral Symphony, it was the natural result of genius constantly aiming for the purest and best in musical expression and succeeding through ceaseless toil and willing sacrifice.

Today the incomparable music of Beethoven and other masters is enjoyed as never before because it may be rendered on instruments inspired by the same true motive and produced by the greatest craftsmen with the same tireless zeal.

The Baldwin Company at its very inception dedicated itself to the production of instruments as good as the human mind can conceive. For half a century, Baldwin's one thought has been to build incomparable pianos and player-pianos, and users of these instruments say that it has attained this high ideal.

AUDITOR CHANDLER TELLS COUNCIL THAT EMERGENCY CHECKS ARE ILLEGAL; GAS QUESTION AGAIN BOBS UP

The regular meeting of the City Council Wednesday night was a rather busy one, the session lasting well over three hours, during which much business was transacted, including the passage of several articles of legislation providing for street, alley and sewer improvements.

The entire membership was present and nothing occurred to mar the usual routine except the declaration of the city auditor of his intention to refuse to sign checks for the payment of money provided for in ordinances passed as emergency measures appropriating $500 to pay salaries of special police and $2500 to pay the cemetery labor payroll on the ground that the appropriations were illegal and should have been taken care of in the semi-annual appropriation ordinance.

City Solicitor Johnson also advised council that the appropriations were illegal under the rulings of the state bureau of accounting, notwithstanding council passed the measures under a suspension of the rules by a unanimous vote after Mayor Gableman pointed out that such appropriations were not at all unusual, citing the fact that council had passed 18 similar ordinances already this year and that none of these had been questioned as to their legality. He declared that the records would show that councils ever since Portsmouth had been a city had followed the same procedure in respect to special appropriations and that all cities in Ohio pursued the same course, asserting that it was but good business judgment to do so in order to avoid piling up money in the funds never used by making big appropriations at the usual time. The mayor claimed that the threatened refusal of the auditor to pay the money appropriated would result in the suspension of important work going on at Greenlawn cemetery, where a big fill is being made, which, when completed will bring big returns to the city through the sale of burial lots, he said.

The gas rate problem bobbed up when Mr. Westphal stated that it was high time that Portsmouth citizens be given some definite information on the appeal of the gas company from the action of council to the State Industrial Commission and the solicitor was instructed to ask the commission when a decision may be expected.

In a report on the bad sidewalk situation Solicitor Johnson pointed out the procedure to be followed by the city in laying new walks and assessing the cost against the abutting property. He advised against issuing bonds for the purpose in view of the probability of the property owners paying the assessment in a short time.

A communication from H. J. Davis and five other property owners requesting the laying of a water main on North Kendall avenue was referred to the light and water committee.

Water Works Manager John R. Lynn submitted an estimate of $21,000 as the cost of material and labor on constructing water main extensions west of Chillicothe street.

Plans and an estimate of $490.50 for constructing a sanitary sewer in an alley near Twelfth and Chillicothe street were received and the plans were ordered sent to the state department of health for approval after the solicitor and engineer were directed to investigate and report on the rights of the city to the alley.

An ordinance determining to proceed with the paving of Cherry Alley at an estimated cost of $800 was passed and the paving of an alley between Third and Fourth streets, Slaton to Waller, was ordered. The estimates on this improvement were: brick $2600; concrete $2267.50; bituminous $2077.50.

Plans for the construction of a sanitary sewer at an estimated cost of $800 in the vicinity of Eighth and Broadway were ordered sent to the state department of health for approval.

Legislation for the paving of Twenty-eighth street from Scioto Trail east, at a cost of $6100 was ordered and the construction of storm and sanitary sewers at an estimated cost of $2033.51 was held up pending the approval of the plans by the state department of health.

An ordinance determining to proceed with the paving of Oakland avenue from Kinney's Lane north at an estimated cost of $13,547, including storm and sanitary sewers was passed subject to the approval of the state health department in respect to the sewers.

Improvement of the underground crossing roadway at Sciotoville was provided for by an ordinance passed by a vote of 6 to 3, members Whitl, Bauer and Unger voting against the mon street from Sixth to Eighth streets.

Dr. H. A. Schirman addressed council in respect to establishing a "zone of quiet" on Eighth street, Chillicothe to Washington, in order to lessen the noise in the vicinity of Schirman hospital and have that quiet so essential for the recovery of the sick. His request was referred to the police committee for investigation and report.

The ordinance committee, to which was referred the establishment of funeral homes in residential districts reported that inasmuch as the question is now pending in the Common Pleas court it was deemed inadvisable for council to take any action until the matter has been determined by the court.

The Traffic Amendments The distinguishing features of amendments adopted to the traffic ordinance provide that autos shall not stop on Chillicothe street, Second to Ninth, and Gallia, Chillicothe to Findlay, longer than 30 minutes; prevents the parking of autos on streets and alleys at night except in designated parking places.

A petition to pave Bond street, Front to Second, was referred to the street committee.

Solicitor Johnson reported that in the matter of the improvement of Market Road through the Spitzer addition that he had secured deeds of dedication from all but three of the abutting property owners and he was requested the number of feet of ground it would be necessary to acquire through condemnation proceedings in order to make the proposed improvement.

Adopt New Song

Portsmouth High School is now singing a new school song, recently adopted by the class presidents as the official chant of the school.

It is sung to the tune of the college song of Wooster College, and its stirring strains are expected to cheer P. H. S. grit warriors to victory this fall.

The words of the song follow: On Portsmouth! Proudly at the fore On Portsmouth, on for ever more. Every loyal son will give A rousing toast to you Every loyal daughter loves you true.

On Portsmouth, you shall ever stand The very best to us in all the land. CHORUS We'll be true dear red and blue Our love shall never die; But forever sing the praise Of Portsmouth High. On Portsmouth! Fight right down

How to Have a Beautiful Complexion

By Enid Bennett

Los Angeles, Cal.—I am often asked "How can I have a beautiful complexion like yours?" and what should I use to keep my complexion at its best all the time. I guess I have tried everything for the complexion, but the very best beautifier I have found is Derrville in combination with Liska cold cream. I use Liska cold cream to cleanse and soften the skin and Derrville for the instant beauty it imparts. It's a combination hard to beat, and has become more popular with actresses than anything else I know of. If you would have a beautiful complexion just try Derrville and Liska cold cream, and I think you will become as enthusiastic over these toilet preparations as I am. Derrville instantly gives your complexion a youthful, rosy-white appearance. It softens and stimulates the skin making it glow with natural beauty. A single application will suffice you. The combination is wonderful for sallow skin, tan, sunburn and discolorations of all kinds. Derrville comes in 3 shades: flesh, white and brunette. Try flesh or brunette on your face and white on your neck, hands and arms. Derrville stays on until you wash it off. Therefore perspiration does not affect it. Over a million discriminating girls and women use it in preference to face powders and other beautifiers. Add it to your daily toilet and you will agree that there is "nothing better." "Just as good," or "just like it." Sold at the toilet counters of all up-to-date drug or department stores including Flood & Blake and Fisher & Streich.—Advertisement.

For the festive occasion

WE ARE used to those sudden calls for extra ice the hostess finds she will need.

They test our service—but we know, as she knows, that ice is indispensable these hot days and nights. Without it, "the party is spoiled."

But try and meet us half-way, please, by giving as much advance notice as you can.

The question recently arose in the county if drivers of school motor vehicles used to transport school pupils to and from school would have to pay a license or tax. County School Superintendent E. O. McCowan has received the following from Charles M.
Dean, collector of Internal Revenue at Cincinnati relative to the question:
"In reply to your recent letter requesting information relative to liability for tax of certain operators of motor vehicles transporting school children.

"In reply, you are advised that instructions have been received from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to the effect that while Section 1001 (11 of the Revenue Act of 1918) imposes a special tax upon persons engaged in the business of operating or renting passenger automobiles for hire, the word 'business' in this section is considered to have been used in its narrow sense as signifying a calling for the purpose of livelihood or profit, and although the word 'hire' found therein is considered to mean compensation for the temporary use of the automobile, unless the person is engaged in the calling of operating automobiles for purpose of livelihood, or profit, and generally holds himself out to the public as an operator of such machines for hire, he would not be liable to tax under the Act."

"From statement in your letter it is the opinion, therefore, that unless the operators of the motor vehicles transporting school children hold themselves out to the public generally as operators of vehicles for hire, they would not be liable to tax."

LANCASTER, O., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Willis Tipton, 26 of Bremen, was held to the grand jury today in $1,000 bond in Justice
L. W. Boersler's court on a charge of assaulting his five months old son.
Tipton entered a plea of not guilty.
Evidence developed at the preliminary hearing tended to show that Tipton, quarrelling with his wife, threw a knife at her, the weapon missing its intended victim and striking the babe, held in his mother's arms, in the head, penetrating to a depth of four and a half inches.
The child is said to be in a dying condition at a local hospital.
The village of Bremen is said to be greatly wrought up over the tragedy.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Saulter, a little mining village in Perry county, was raided yesterday by prohibition agents from all over the state and 2,000 gallons of illicit liquor destroyed and twenty stills seized.
Frank A. Hight, prohibition director in Cincinnati, who participated in the raid under Frank K. Norwood, chief of the federal prohibition department of Ohio, reported the results of the raid here today. The agents met no opposition. Luther B. Reed, town marshal, was one of six persons arrested on charges of violating the national prohibition act. Hight stated.

Let Us Be Your Wash Woman During Pageant Week

Perhaps you've thought you couldn't afford laundry service, but probably that's because you haven't tried our damp wash plan. We do the heavy work of washing—then we return your bundle for you to dry and iron. It's a help you'll approve. We launder everything in water as pure and soft as that which you catch in your rain barrel. And to make sure that every piece is ideally clean, we change waters as many as eight times during every washing. Try this once and we are sure you will continue it always. You simply wrap your things in our laundry bag. We return them damp, but sweet and spotless—and most important, it relieves you of all the trying labor of washing.

OUR ECONOMY WASH—All flat work ironed and wearing apparel returned damp enough to iron. 7 cents per pound; minimum of 16 pounds.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Bullish operations were resumed at the opening of the stock market today in independent steel and oil shares, but continued movements took place in other parts of the list. Possibility of a further stiffening in money rates caused some hesitation on the part of large traders. Further increases in the price of kerosene found reflection in the rapid rise of Standard Oil of New Jersey which opened more than a point higher and soon ascended its gain to nearly 3 1/2 points.

Associated oil was pushed up 4 1/4 and Mexican Petroleum 1. Gains of a point each were recorded by Midvale Crucible, Republic and Gulf States Steel. Point gains in Beech Nut and Ohio Copper brought them to new high levels for the year. Iron Products, Baldwin, Mathieson Alkali, and Jones Brothers tea advanced a point or more. Atlantic Coast dropped two points and substantial fractional recessions took place in Union Pacific, Atchafalaya, and Norfolk and Western. New York Airbrake and Cosden also were quite reactionary.

Trading was largely in the hands of the professional element during the morning, but movements in special stocks providing a cover for profit taking in other directions. Reports of increased operations and higher prices in the steel industry were an incentive to the purchase of those shares for the long account. Accumulation also continued in a number of specialties and high grade industrial shares, especially the Standard Oil, tobacco and the preferred issues of well established companies. Foreign oils and some of the public utilities were under pressure. Mexican Petroleum and Columbia Gas each dropped 2 points. Additional new highs were made by Tidewater Oil, Allis Chalmers preferred, Associated Dry Goods, Kresge and Industrial Alcohol, the gains ranging from one to 3 1/2 points. Conspicuous strength also was shown by Sloss Sheffield, Bethlehem steel 8 per cent preferred, American Tobacco, American Waterworks 6 per cent preferred, Market Street Railway prior preferred and United Railway Investment. Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent.

Pressure against speculative stocks combined with the highest call money rate since February in a general impairment of values in today's active stock market dealings. Extreme reactions among the leaders ranged from 1 to 5 points. Sales approximated 1,050,000 shares.

A. & J. Frank, The Say:

Many splendid Ohio Unlisted stocks are now available at low prices. Purchases at present levels should enable investors to average down the costs of their holdings.

We have noted an increased demand for Ohio stocks, especially Central Steel, Republic Rubber 1st pld., and Central Metal Products pld. and common. Higher prices ought to follow such a demand; we predict $50.00 a share on Central Steel, if their present earnings continue.

We are trading actively in the issues of the Geiger-Jones Co., R. L. Dillings Co., and Cleveland Discount Co. pld., common and bonds.

DISCOVER CURE For Sleeping Sickness

LEIPZIG, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press).—That the medical world has won its battle against "sleeping sickness" was announced yesterday to some 3,000 German physicians and physicians attending the centennial of the Physicians Association of Germany.

Professor Martin Mayer told the delegates that a preparation which had proved successful, had been discovered in a laboratory near Cologne. He cited two cases of sleeping sickness that had been cured within a few days at a Hamburg Institute for tropical diseases.

One of the cases, he asserted, had shown no recurrence of the disease after having been watched for a year.

Americans Thrashed By Turk Soldiers

ATHENS, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press).—Official circles here announced that Dr. Alexander MacLachlan, of Kingston, Ont., president of the International College at

To Preserve Stone Carrying Message

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 21.—The state industrial accident commission has been instructed to cut away and preserve that portion of the stone in the mine drift on which William Fessel burned with his lamp the only message left by the 47 miners who were victims of the tragedy at the Argonaut mine. Clarence E. Jarvis, member of the state board of control, said the stone would be kept by the state in memory of the victims.

The words written on the stone, Jarvis said, were "I'm getting laid, 3 o'clock." Below the figure "4" had been burned and a portion of the letter "O" Fessel is believed to have succumbed to the gas at that point.

Children's Nature Shape SCHOOL SHOES

Mother's wanting the little men and little misses' feet properly fitted, should see to it that they have plenty of toe room. I have the nature-shaped, broad toe shoes for the little folks, with full extension sewed soles and spring heels in brown or black. These are ideal shoes for all general purposes and shoes that wear.

If you want to reduce your shoe bill for the children, you had better try a pair of these shoes.

COMPARISON OF WORLD SERIES CATCHERS

SNYDER, NEW YORK GIANTS—Caught remarkable ball in the series last fall between the Yankees and the Giants. Handled his pitching in great shape and seemed to have a thorough working knowledge of the weakness and strength of the Yankee batsmen. Snyder caught in six of the eight games in the series. He led the Giants at bat with an average of .304. During the present season he has been the mainstay of the Giants back of the bat. He's a big, husky fellow, who thrives on hard work, a right-handed batter and hits the ball hard. Throws fast and accurately.

SCHANG, NEW YORK AMERICANS—Has done the bulk of the Yankees' catching during the present season. He did all the work in the 1921 series and ranked second in the Yankees' batting with an average of .286.

Schang is a fine receiver and has a wonderful arm. His throws, however, lack the accuracy of Snyder or Severid. When his aim is right no runner can steal with any degree of success on him. Schang is a turn-around batter. He hits left-handed against right-handed pitching, and shifts to the right side of the plate against south-paws. He is having one of the best years of his career.

There is little to choose between Snyder, Schang and Severid, three great catchers. A draw decision would be eminently fair.

SEVERID

SEVERID, ST. LOUIS AMERICANS—Has been the mainstay of the St. Louis Browns back of the bat. He works with little or no effort, and often his real value to his club is less apparent because of the easy manner in which he does his work. Severid is of an even disposition. The happenings of the game in no way affect his play. He does his work in the same matter-of-fact way and seems to be at his best when the going is hardest. American League pitchers regard him as one of the most dangerous batters in the league. He takes a healthy cut at to ball and hits 'em hard. Has a good arm and gets his throws away quickly. Bats right-handed.

KIWANIANS PLAY GOLF; THAT IS SOME TAKE HE ALTHY CUT AT OLD PILL

Members of the Kiwanis Club turned to golf today at their weekly meeting when business was side-tracked for pleasure.

Good, bad and indifferent players were paired up and no doubt some ludicrous scores were made as many members never before had a golf club in their hands.

At the meeting this afternoon it will be definitely decided as to the number who will attend the district convention to be held at Cincinnati next week. Incidentally, arrangements were completed for the entertainment of the Kiwanians clubs from Chillicothe, Ashland and Huntington who are to be guests of the local club on next Thursday. The visiting Kiwanians will lunch with their Portsmouth brethren at the All Saints' Parish House at noon. Word from Chillicothe is to the effect that fifty of their members will be here, many accompanied by their wives and sweethearts.

Expect Some Of More Drastic Clauses Of Rail Injunction To Be Modified

CHICAGO, Sept. 21—Judge James H. Wilkerson was expected to decide today whether the nation wide strike of railway shopmen can be legally regarded as a conspiracy in restraint of interstate commerce and to determine the extent to which he believes the federal government is justified in going to restrict strike activities.

Closing arguments in the Daugherty injunction case were begun today and Judge Wilkerson's ruling was expected before the temporary restraining order extended ten days ago expires at midnight.

Although Attorney General Daugherty and his legal aides had made no indication of any intention to recommend modification of the order, predictions were made by persons who have watched the proceedings closely that some of the more drastic clauses of the writ would be toned down in the injunction which the government attorneys would ask Judge Wilkerson to sign.

The BETTER and SUREST way to get well. The results I have obtained in Portsmouth proves conclusive. That it is NEVER TOO LATE and that something more CAN BE DONE.

Consult me regarding your troubles.

Fall Fancies in Dress

A display of the new Fall Suits, Coats and Dresses which bring for the inspection of Portsmouth women correctly styled models that will be worn during the early Fall. The new modes are well interpreted in the first showing and you will find them well worthy of your time and attention.

Special Showing Of

Coats $25 to $69.50

The line of coats for Fall is the most elaborate we have ever shown. For the misses are many loose fitting models with inverted pleats or plain backs in solid colors or fancy weaves. There is also a wide range of tailored, belted models to choose from, beautifully made in the soft materials richly trimmed with hand embroidery or fur, many of them with deep collars and wide flowing sleeves.

Suits $25 to $59.50

Chic models for the younger set feature the short loosely fitted jackets in the thirty inch length while the showing of strictly tailored suits for Autumn offers jackets in 36 to 40 inch lengths. The rich embroidery which is so popular in the Fall modes adds its beauty to many of the suits while rich fur on collar and cuffs adorns many others. The special lot we are offering at $25 is a selection of wonderful values.

Dresses $15 to $49.50

Fashion's selection for Fall comprises dainty creations in silk, cotton crepes, satin back crepes and crepe back satins; Wool-poirot twill and tricotine. The wrap around and drape skirt are among the newest offerings with the straight models still among the favored. Beautiful color combinations in which coffee, brown, navy and black predominate, and novelty trimming, of beads or embroidery offer a dress for every fancy, and these we are showing, a value for every purse.

ATHENS, Sept. 21.—The detour trouble of other years is again confronting the motorists of southern Ohio. There are three long billy and rough detours between Athens and Columbus, and there is no prospect of better things until the very late fall.

BIG VOTE CAST IN POPULARITY CONTEST

Herewith the Times presents the vote in the popularity contest. One error was made in yesterday's vote, Harry K. Smith being credited with 421,200, when it should have been 42,200. Nevertheless Harry's friends say he is coming and that Saturday's vote will show him a winner.

Several persons made no gains; at Miller's Drug Store, not one vote was cast. Several new names appear for popular favor. Remember the contest closes on Saturday noon and no votes will be accepted after 12 o'clock. Don't fail to put the votes in the ballot box and do not leave with some clerk. Do not send votes to the Times office, but to Stahl's, Nye's, Miller's, Flood & Blakes, or at the Chamber of Commerce.

Celebrate Anniversary

A social good time was enjoyed by members of Rebekah Lodge Tuesday night when the seventy-first anniversary of the founding of the Rebekah Degree in this country was fittingly celebrated.

The anniversary is being celebrated by Rebekah lodges all over the country this week. Mrs. Margaret Tillett of this city, District Representative to the state meeting of the Daughters of Rebekah, held recently in Cleveland, made a splendid report. She had ten other lodges to which she will have to make report. A reading was given by Mrs. Ernest White, after which refreshments were served to all.

Members of Mantia Lodge are invited to attend an all day picnic that will be held on the Henry Ruel farm, on the West Side, Sunday. Members are to bring well-filled baskets.

To Attend The Pageant

Mrs. Sarah McDowell, formerly a resident of Portsmouth, now of Steubenville, is here for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. George Harding of Front street and Mr. and Mrs. D. Smith of Gallia street.

Mrs. McDowell is a granddaughter of two of the old settlers of Portsmouth. Her grandparents were Abraham and Susan Slack, who came here in 1812 from Bucks county, Pa. They brought with them several children, the trip being made overland. The trip consumed six months, and after arriving in Portsmouth bought ground on what is now lower Second street, between Madison and Massie streets. Part of their land was where Mr. Cross built his blacksmith shop some years ago. The remainder of the land was west of the blacksmith shop.

Death has left but one of their grandchildren, Mrs. McDowell. She will remain here for the Pageant of Progress. She lived in Portsmouth 49 years and left here eleven years ago to make her home in Steubenville.

Will Occupy Special Boxes

The ladies of the Home For Aged Women, twelve in number, will be cared for on Tuesday at the Pageant. Mrs. Geo. M. Appel has provided a box, and Sam'l Horchow one also. This will be a great treat to the members, who have looked forward with pleasant anticipation to attending the Pageant.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Ellen Stanton and daughter, Miss Nelle Stanton and son Frank Stanton and Mary Vallee Harold motored to Cincinnati today to spend the remainder of the week.

Group No. 12 of Trinity Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Stiles, 1540 Twelfth street, yesterday afternoon with nine members present. The election of officers resulted as follows:
Mrs. Gus McAbler, chairman.
Mrs. C. A. Stiles, first vice president.
Mrs. John Egbert, second vice president.
Mrs. Rosa Lauter, third president.
Mrs. Samuel Edgington, secretary.
Mrs. Pearl Newland, treasurer.

Members of the Ketchel Five Hundred Club assembled at the home of Mrs. Fred Schwartz on Scioto Trail yesterday afternoon for their regular bi-monthly meeting. Fall flowers were used in decorating the rooms and at the close of the game Mrs. Arthur Gerlach was given the first prize for high score and Mrs. Max Johnson received the second. Mrs. E. H. Ugh was presented with the guest favor. Later the hostess served a delicious two course lunch at the small tables.

Those present included Mrs. Edward Nagel, Mrs. Jack Dalton, Mrs. J. Oscar Mantel, Mrs. Max Johnson, Mrs. Edward Keras, Mrs. Arthur Gerlach, Mrs. Carl Wolfe, Mrs. Edward Volz, Mrs. Lester Jones, Mrs. E. H. Ugh, Mrs. John Debo and Mrs. Frank Balmert substituted for absent members. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Rupert Spangler on Jackson avenue.

FORD ASSEMBLY PLANTS ALSO TO RESUME IN THE NEAR FUTURE

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Executives of the Ford Motor Company in announcing resumption of operations said work will be resumed at Highland Park, River Rouge and Dearborn, where the three large plants of the concern are located, at midnight tonight. Assembly plants throughout the country that were shut down with the parent plants, also will resume as quickly as their men can be recalled. It is planned to put production immediately on the basis it was at the time of the closing. The resumption is understood at the Ford offices here to be a direct result of a conference Edsel Ford had in Cincinnati yesterday with a group of about fifty coal producers. Just what arrangements were made to obtain coal were not made known here. The closing of the plants last Saturday, styled in business circles as an "industrial strike" on the part of the manufacturer against certain brokers whom he charged with demanding excessive prices for coal, threw approximately 70,000 Detroit men out of work. Henry Ford approved the plan of his son, Edsel, for the reopening. A few minutes later he left for a railroad station, and departed for the south to visit various coal fields. It was assumed at his office that he desired personally to make arrangements for an uninterrupted flow of coal to Detroit. The reopening will bring back to work benches, in addition to the Ford employees, approximately 120,000 others on the pay rolls of accessory companies and machine shops, the bulk of whose products go into the Ford automobiles and tractors. The majority of this class are in the Detroit district. The Ford closing threw between 25 and 50 per cent of the industrial workers in the Detroit district out of employment temporarily.

Vast Amount Of Work Being Done

A vast amount of clerical and other work has been done in preparing for the coming Pageant and members of the various committees who are merchants, have given practically all their time to work in connection with the coming great outdoor spectacle. The ladies who helped in the preparation of costumes have been busy, as have also those engaged in making the many flowers that will be worn by young girls in the dances that will form a pleasing part of the program. The advertising committee have had their hands full, as have, in fact, every member of every committee. The work of keeping the enlistments in order, and various other records has been no small job. The cost of the necessary printing has been considerable, and many unlooked for expenses have been incurred. The procuring of what is known in theatrical parlance as "properties" has been a herculean task, but there has been no shirking on the part of anyone. More men have been needed in some of the chorus and other work, but it is thought the necessary number will be available when the first rehearsals are held at the Park Saturday and Monday.

Committee Grateful To Merchants

The publicity committee of the Pageant of Portsmouth is under last obligations to those liberal-hearted merchants who have donated prizes to be awarded the winners in the popularity contest that is running in the Evening Times and Morning Sun. The winners will receive their presents on each evening of the Pageant, during the presentation of the Monumental Fair. On the third presentation evening the victors will be allowed to carry their presents home as their own personal property. The umbrella to be given to the most popular young man has been donated by the Criterion Clothing Co.; the pattern hat to be awarded the young woman making the best wife, given by Anderson Bros. company; the doll to be awarded to the most popular girl under 12 years of age, donated by Marting Bros. Co.; the prettiest baby under one year of age will receive two handsome presents, a cup donated by The Atlas Co., and a dozen $12 photographs donated by Photographer Ben G. Harris; the handsome Green wrist watch to be given the most popular young lady is now on display at Walter Wilhelm's jewelry store. Mr. Wilhelm sold the watch to the committee at much less than cost, and has thus made quite a contribution; the poker to be presented to the prettiest married woman will have to be purchased by the committee unless some kind hearted butcher steps forward and donates the same. So far no votes have been counted in the most popular minister's contest, and the committee has taken no steps to secure a bath robe for the winner, although such will be done should the winner receive several thousands of votes.

Drastic Clauses Retained In Proposed Injunction

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Attorneys for the railroad strikers closed their final argument against Attorney General Daugherty's bill for a nation-wide strike injunction at 11:30 o'clock this morning, and Assistant Attorney A. A. McLaughlin began the summing up for the government. Attorney General Daugherty had not arrived in court when Mr. McLaughlin began his argument, and the government's attorneys said he had not quite completed the draft of the injunction which they will ask the court to sign. Attorney General Daugherty reached court at 2:30 o'clock and gave his final approval to the injunction draft which his associates have prepared, while Mr. McLaughlin finished the government's closing argument. When Mr. McLaughlin concluded, the attorney general read the proposed injunction to the court. Virtually the only difference between it and the temporary restraining order now in effect, the government's attorneys said, is in the list of persons named. Practically all the drastic clauses of the restraining order have been retained, they said.

Resurfacing Bids Opened

Bids on the repaving or resurfacing of Second street and Gallia street and the paving of the alley between Eleventh and Twelfth streets east of Officers were opened at the office of Director of Public Service William Gergens this afternoon. The bidders were The Brooks Contracting Company of Ft. Wayne, Ind., The Andrews Asphalt Company of Hamilton, Kelley Bros., S. Monroe and Sons and John Grimes. Mr. Grimes bid only on sewer work that will be done in connection with the improvement work.

Engineer George Wilhelm and assistants started work at once canvassing the bids and will not be able to determine the exact amount of each bid until sometime tomorrow. The different bidders submitted bids on several kinds of work including bituminous paving, asphaltic concrete and repaving with brick.

Ninety per cent of the property owners of Second street petitioned for the resurfacing of the street with asphalt or any other bituminous material.

Get Your Seats Early

The Pageant box office will be open each evening from 6 to 8 o'clock. It will also be open daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. People are urged to get their seats now, and to get them reserved at no charge.

British Government Refused To Take Turk Envoy Seriously; Then He Ordered The War

PARIS, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Ali Fethi Bey, a Kemalist envoy to Western European governments, is the man who gave the signal for the attack upon Greece, according to semi-official information received in Paris. Fethi Bey was in London endeavoring to see Lloyd George to propose a peace. He was refused an audience and was referred to the chief of the bureau of near eastern affairs, it was said. The British foreign office is described by the Kemalist envoy as having laughed when he suggested that unless peace could be arranged quickly, the Kemalists would turn the Greeks out of Asia Minor.

when he suggested that unless peace could be arranged quickly, the Kemalists would turn the Greeks out of Asia Minor.

The Kemalist diplomat then rose and told the British official soberly:

"I am sorry that you have laughed. Turkey has lost two millions of her people by war and there are two many orphans for us to join in the laughing at the idea of another war. I feel very sad."

Fethi Bey then sent his cipher message to Mustafa Kemal Pasha, saying that nothing could be done with the British government toward peace and that the offensive need wait no longer for he had exhausted every effort.

Do You Remember Biggs House Ball?

Features of the Taylor House ball, the predecessor of the Biggs House ball, of interest to George Freshell, who lived in Portsmouth more than three years and ten years and who recalls the ancient hostelry that stood at Market and Front street, and was known in still earlier days as the "Red States."

The rear or Market street portion of the hotel was occupied by the colored help, the laundry and, and a small stand owned by Dick Melcher. This portion of the hotel property was also the stable, without which the hotel was complete, and it was here that the staves and stage horses were housed that were driven in trips carrying passengers and mail to Chillicothe and Columbus.

Davy Hahn, later fire chief, was the driver of the stage coach. Drays were in common use in those days and Uncle Haeley was the driver of one. He supplied river water by the barrel, to those few persons who had cisterns and only a few persons had them.

Market street and in fact all streets were composed largely of chuck holes and the roadway to Chillicothe was via the present route, although, instead of being a continuation of Chillicothe street as now, the pike

First "Extra" Was Issued In 1872

The first "extra" ever issued in the city, so far as is known, was one of the Weekly Times, issued from its office in the Massie Block in April, 1872, a copy of which has been loaned the Pageant exhibit room, by the Times Publishing Company which values it highly.

The paper is only about four inches by ten, printed only on one side and not dated. It is about the size of the funeral notices distributed in former years, before the day of the daily paper and is framed for preservation. It contains but one item of news, namely the destruction of the Lower Market House. Council had accepted a pledge of two thousand dollars towards the erection of a fountain on Market Square, providing the Market House was removed. Following the action of council at eleven o'clock, a large body of Market street merchants met surrounding the doomed building and with axes, picks, ropes, bars etc., proceeded to tear down the ancient landmark that had been erected in the early 30's and had passed through the 1847 and the Civil War periods and was in a state of decay. It was also a nuisance and a menace.

At one o'clock the Market House was a mass of ruins and a wreck. The "Extra" sets forth that the removal would in no wise interfere with the holding of semi-daily market.

And it did not as markets were held there for many years thereafter and until finally discontinued. The projected fountain did not materialize, although $2000 had been raised to that end, and much regret was expressed over the final disastrous outcome. A bank in which the money had been placed, failed and as a result the amount was lost, and no further effort was made towards a fountain.

W. G. Cooper was at the time city editor of the Weekly Times, and he it was, who, alive to what was news, was largely responsible for the issuing of this special "Extra." Small as was the paper it was eagerly sought after at the time of its publication, as it certainly was an unusual act of enterprise.

Mr. Cooper was responsible for another piece of newspaper enterprise quite unusual in a town the size of Portsmouth in the early 70's. The Children's Home burned about three o'clock on Saturday morning, when the Weekly Times was printed, the press being operated by hand and the type setting all hand work also.

There were no street cars in those days, no electric lights, no telephones, no night calls, no automobiles, and livery barns were closed early in the evening. The streets were not paved and one could see but little from the small light made by gas lamps far apart. The streets were but mud roads and the "Home" was "away out town" with only the Havelotte's, Timmonds, Micklethwaits, Lawsons, and Stewarts living on what is now the Hill Top section. There was but one road leading anywhere near the scene of the fire and it was necessary to enter another small private road. Securing some manner of a conveyance, Mr. Cooper made his way through the mud and impenetrable darkness, secured his data and Saturday morning's Times contained a full account of the disaster, together with losses, etc. It was a master stroke of enterprise.

Concordate Advocated As Move In Interest Of Church Unity

PORTLAND, OREGON, Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press).—The concordate declared by those who advocate it as a movement in the interest of church unity was before the House of Bishops today for final action.

This proposed agreement with the Congregational church provides for the ordaining by Episcopal bishops under certain conditions of ministers of the Congregational church who may ask for such ordination. Both houses of the convention have adopted a change in the constitution of the church which will make possible the putting into effect of the concordate.

Addition of an eleventh commandment, one quoting Christ's words, urging brotherly love, is before the house of deputies, having been approved by the house of bishops.

Election of members of the national council is the task ahead of both houses.

Assertion that people nowadays do not believe the Biblical statements that heaven and earth were made in six days and that inhibition against covering one's neighbor's "ox or ass" would be more effective if changed to "his automobile" were made in the house of deputies in a debate on acceptance of a plan to print part of the ten commandments in black face type and the rest in different type.

Going After Speeders

Autoists who have been making a regular speedway out of Gallia pike through Wheelersburg, had better watch their step in the future and instead of "stepping on her" to get more speed should stop on the brake for war has been declared on speeders who have been endangering lives of pedestrians in the village.

Constable Carl Conklin is the arresting officer. He has not been able to stop speeders who have been ordered into court but has secured their license numbers and ordered the owners of the cars to appear in Squire Byron Jones' court at Wheelersburg. The license numbers of five were taken last Saturday and Sunday and the owners were ordered to appear for trial next Saturday evening at Squire Jones' office at the G. E. Koch hardware store in Wheelersburg. Two of the five appeared last night. Norman Fraley, who gave his address as New Boston pleaded guilty and was let off with a $3 fine. H. D. Hicks who gave Portsmouth as his home, pleaded not guilty but later admitted he was going over 20 miles an hour and was fined $5.

Twenty miles an hour is the speed limit in the village. Constable Jones has ordered a motorcycle and in the near future will give chase and order speeders or drivers into court personally without looking up their license numbers.

How to Banish Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROLD.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause. Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay Wurster Bros. and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROLD with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROLD today. — Advertisement.

Victorious Turkish Cavalry in Rapid Advance

This is the first picture in America to give an accurate idea of Mustafa Kemal Pasha's cavalry, the wing of his army that has been most used in his rapid advance to within a few miles of Constantinople. Notice that some of the horsemen are equipped as regular troopers while others have the nondescript accoutrements of irregulars, brigands and marauders who attached themselves to the Turkish chief as he crossed Asia Minor.

Huntington Dentist Ends Life

HUNTINGTON, Sept. 21.—Despondent because of financial difficulties, Dr. H. E. Hyde, dentist, 32 years old, of 2623 First avenue, committed suicide at 12:30 o'clock this morning by shooting himself in the right temple with a .32 calibre automatic revolver, shortly after he had gone to his bedroom to retire for the night. His wife was in the room when he fired the shot.

Dr. Hyde, who had practiced dentistry in Huntington the last four years with offices at 901 1-2 Third avenue, last night attended the coal and industrial exposition with a party. Upon his return he discussed with Mrs. Hyde his financial difficulties and during the discussion threatened to kill himself, she stated.

"I didn't think he would do it," she sobbed. "I thought he was only in fun."

Dr. Hyde fired the shot as he knelt beside the bed in the room, his widow stated. There were no others in the room, she said. The couple have two children, the oldest a boy of five years.

Body Of One Of Gold Miners Missing

JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 21.—(By The Associated Press)—One body was missing today among those of the 47 gold miners who perished from gas nearly a mile down in the Argonaut shaft. By a whim of fate it was the body of Wm. Fessel, the man who wrote on the rock, with the smoke of his miner's lamp a farewell message for all the doomed 47.

Fessel wrote "gas getting bad, 3 o'clock." It was hoped to find Fessel's body today. It was believed possible that he had crept from the chamber of death to a higher level, hoping to find some means of escape for his comrades. The men from the bureau of mines were certain however, that they counted 47 bodies when last Monday night the gruesome discovery was made. They considered it more likely that Fessel's body was buried by a cave-in since the work of removal began.

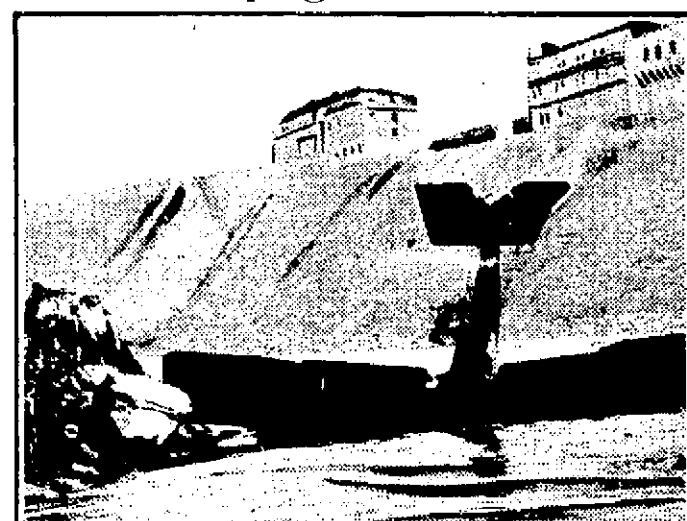

A. F. Seaberry of Cleveland has been in the city several days discussing new hotel plans with local parties. Mr. Seaberry has been discussing the new hotel project with the members of the Hotel Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. He has also talked with business men in various parts of the city and believes that there is no time like the present in starting a new hotel project. His plan is to have out of town parties provide three-fourths of the needed money with the other one-fourth raised by stocks sold to local persons.

33rd Masons Choose Gotham

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 21.—(By The Associated Press)—New York City was selected as the place for holding the next convocation of the supreme council of the 33rd degree Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of the Northern Masonic Jurisdiction of the United States of America, at the closing session here today. The date of the next convocation was not announced.

Crude Oil Stocks Show Increase

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(By The Associated Press)—Pipe line and tank farm gross domestic crude oil stocks in the United States increased 5,263,000 barrels in August, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute.

The daily average gross crude oil production of the United States decreased 10,700 barrels for the week ending September 16, totalling 1,493,700 barrels, as compared with 1,504,400 barrels for the preceding week according to the weekly summary.

No changes were reported in crude oil prices for the major districts. Mid-continental crude is quoted at $1.25 a barrel; Pennsylvania at $1 a barrel and Gulf Coast at $1.25.

According to figures collected by the Institute, the imports of petroleum (crude and refined oils) at the principal United States ports for the week ended September 16, totalling 1,861,051 barrels, compared with 1,765,121 barrels for the week ended September 9.

Browns Are Blanked By Washington

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Barring an upset of the most sensational order, the New York Yankees have clinched the 1922 American League pennant by taking the second game of the series from Detroit 6 to 5, while Washington blanked the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 0, the Yankees increased their lead to three and a half games. They can split even in their eight games and still finish no worse than in a tie for first place if St. Louis wins all seven of its contests. Victory in five more games will give the title to the Yankees, regardless of what the Browns do.

Pittsburgh, pursuing what seems to be a "rainbow chance" for the National league pennant, took the first of a three game series from New York 4 to 1, but the Giants today were still four and a half games in front. Delving into the mathematics of the situation, Pittsburgh can tie for the top by taking all nine of its games, if the Giants obtain only an even break in their twelve contests. McGraw can see up the race by winning but seven more games, regardless of his rival's showing.

The Yankees were forced to call on their best to down (old) the Tigers in the second struggle. Bob Meusel dealt the decisive blow with a homer in the ninth, after Hughes had thrown into the fray his two mounds, Shawker and Bush. "Bull" Joe named the Tigers in the ninth, after they had tied the count off "Sailor Bob" in the eighth.

Southpaw Cooper of the Pirates and Hugh McQuilhan of the Giants battled on even terms until the seventh when Hughes delivered a homer that clinched the game for the invaders. Cooper displayed his versatility by slashing out another circuit drive off Ryan in the ninth.

Rogers Hornsby's consecutive hitting streak was stopped by Grimes of Brooklyn in the first game of a double header with the Cardinals after it had reached thirty-three contests, but the St. Louis Mauler came back in the second hit with a brace of home runs that brought his season's total to 39, tying Ken Williams of the Browns. The Dodgers annexed the first 6 to 1, and the Cardinals the second, 13 to 7.

Umpires by Williams and Parkinson helped the Philadelphia Nationalists take two slugging matches from the Chicago Cubs, 9-8 and 11-1. While Cincinnati scored a double triumph over the Boston Braves 9-3 and 6-5.

The White Sox clinched to within a game and a half of Detroit, in third place, by taking a hard fought twin bill from the Athletics, 1 to 0 and 3 to 2. Cleveland captured its second double header in two days from Boston 5-2 and 5-4, and uncovered another rookie twirling star in Bedgood, Chattanooga recruit, who won the second contest.

The Day After

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 21.—Brooklyn and St. Louis split yesterday's double header, the Dodgers winning the first 6 to 1 and the Cardinals the second 13 to 7. Grimes held the visitors to three scratch hits in the opener, and incidentally stopped Hornsby after the latter had hit safely in 23 consecutive games. Hornsby resumed his slugging in the second game, making home runs in the first and ninth innings and bringing his total circuit drives to 20. Score—First Game:

NIG BLAIR, RUNNING TRUE TO FORM, HANDS YOUNG WEBB, OF DAYTON, A REAL LACING*Local Boy's Hand Broken

There is no longer any doubt as to who is the better man, Nig Blair of this city or Young Webb of Dayton. In their ten round go in Chillicothe last night, Blair was awarded the decision after ten grueling rounds, every one being to Blair's credit. He no doubt would have put his opponent away, had he not suffered a broken hand in the fifth round.

Blair gamely fought till the last bell and as he emerged from the ring a winner, his friends let out a whoop that could have been heard for a mile, more or less. Blair showed that he was a boxer as well as a fighter and his footwork was a surprise to Webb, who received as much punishment as the Greeks in their last battle. Blair almost put Webb away in the first round when he knocked him down twice.

Blair never was in danger for a minute, and it was the consensus of opinion that, while his opponent is sure a game scrapper with science and a real punch, to say nothing of a wonderful ability to be away sometimes when the Portsmouth lad swung at him, the broken left hand was all that saved Webb from taking the count and adding his scalp to Nig's string via the k. o. route.

Nig showed a lot of real class, and although it must be admitted he had a spirited man to go up against there can be no doubt but what he outclassed him and outfought him from the start to the finish.

Skeptics have been flouting around that the Portsmouth lad was losing his class and his fighting ability and that he was on the down grade sure by they had to talk on the other side of their faces after the scrap last night.

There were a lot of Portsmouth fans there to root for Sergeant Nig and their rooting was added to by delegations from Dayton, Circleville and Washington, C. H.

In the semi-finals, Frankie Wells knocked out Young of Logan, in the fourth round.

Harry Forbes of Columbus put Jack Leslie to sleep in the second round of their eight round semi-final. In the prelim Sailor Cain was awarded the decision over Ernest Blankenship.

Team Will Be Light, But Speedy

New Boston high school's football eleven this year is to be light, but speedy, the same as last year, which was the first adventure of the school in the football field. There are only four letter men left for the team this year, but with these four, Coach Clarence Seavers is endeavoring to build up a team that will more than hold its own with any opponent on the team's schedule this season.

Coach Seavers, who helped coach football eleven at Warren and Kent, O., is putting the candidates through some stiff workouts in the daily practice sessions held at Millbrook park.

The four letter men are Counts, Combs, Bartlett and Norris.

Other candidates for the team include Stratton, Staten, Harris, Levine, Fitch, Jenkins, Kelly, Brannon, York, Bener, Shoemaker, Bender, Wintersole, Madmon Lee, Bowen and Lewis.

New Boston plays its first game Saturday, Sept. 30, with P. H. S. on the Industrial League lot.

NEW WRINKLE IN FOOTBALL

Football fans who are not as keen on the rules as baseball enthusiasts are on the diamond game, will be interested to know that there will be one radical change in the grid game this season.

Instead of being confined to trying for goal after a touch-down by a kick from placement, the scoring eleven will be given the option of placing the ball anywhere beyond the five-yard line with the privilege of putting it into play in scrimmage—a line plunge or end run, by passing, or by kicking a field goal. The ball must be put over with one try to get a point to score of one. The new play will be known as the "try for point." Another rule—a player taken out in the first half cannot return until the second half, and a player taken out in the second half is out for the remainder of the contest.

Team Has Open Dates

The New Boston high school football eleven has several open dates in November that will be filled with schools close by, if possible. Jackson and Wellston, or schools of a like calibre, are wanted for these open dates.

The schedule arranged so far is as follows:

Sidelights On Blair-Webb Scrap

Blair surprised the Chillicothe boys when he tipped the scales at 142. Webb was also surprised—in fact he was surprised in every round.

"It was the worst lacing I've taken in eight years. Nig has improved 100 per cent since I saw him last winter," Webb said after the match.

Chillicothe fans are anxious to have Nig come back and Matchmaker Tanager has asked for the Portsmouth Panther's services at their next show. Lots of money changed hands as Young Webb was thought pretty well of on Taint street.

Sammy Trott, the referee and a veteran of hundreds of ring battles, said Blair was the best boxer he had seen for a long while, and Sammy sees a lot of them. Trott's arbiting was high-class and his decisions met with unanimous applause.

Bizz Wise and Hughie Rudity deserve oodles of credit for the capable manner in which they handled Blair. It was Nig's fight from the very start. Blair's broken hand in the fifth round was the only thing that saved Webb from slumberland.

Dr. Baird, who attended to Nig's fractured left after the fight said it would be at least six weeks before the latter would be able to box again. Nig was signed to meet Jack Sheppard at Ashland early in October.

Anyone who was at the match last night will dispute the fact that the Portsmouth boxer is unable to go ten three-minute rounds. Nig was in better condition than he ever was and was fresh as a daisy in the tenth.

Joe Jackson of Columbus, a former Portsmouth boy, was at the ringside and also won a nice bundle of kale on Nig. It was estimated that the Portsmouth delegation brought back about $1000 of Chillicothe money.

Trott had to call Webb many times for unfair fighting. Sammy also said Blair was one of the cleanest and fairest boys he ever saw in the ring, which is more evidence that a certain Huntington sport writer (not Duke) is wrong as usual.

You'll notice that it was Blair and not Kearney that was invited back to show his fistic wares in Ashland. There must be a reason—is it not so, Duke?

What Will Portsmouth Do?

Many of the business streets in the downtown section of Springfield, Ill. were paved 28 and 30 years ago with vitrified brick. This summer Springfield is repaving its entire downtown section and is USING VITRIFIED BRICK AGAIN.

An editorial from the Illinois State Journal, one of the foremost newspapers of the state, reads in part:

"Street Paving Foundations"

"It was not the surface of the old pavement that went to the bad, but the foundation.

"It was the foundation which failed rather than the superstructure.

"It reminds me," said a prominent citizen today, "of a man tearing down a perfectly good brick house and carting the bricks away because the foundation was defective."

"Faulty foundations mean faulty streets. Weak foundations mean rough streets.

"In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred where street pavements sag and roll and crack the fault lies with the foundation and not with the surface."

These streets, like many in Portsmouth, were laid upon foundations which have become inadequate to the present day traffic.

Why Should Portsmouth Experiment?

Brick streets pay dividends by lowest maintenance costs, long life and continuous service

PEEBLES BLOCK are produced from Scioto County Shale, which is recognized as perhaps the choicest of deposits in the United States, by a modern plant, furnishing employment to hundreds of men, who are living and spending their earnings in this city.

Portsmouth Stands Pre-Eminent From Financial Viewpoint

Portsmouth claims all times and all conditions as her own in steady and sturdy growth and development. Last year was not a healthy one in the prosperity of the country at large, but while the nation, as a whole may have weakened and slackened under the stress of dull times Portsmouth continued in such growth and development as to confirm her title of the Peerless.

Basic wealth and progress lie in three things, labor, savings and home and in the activity and conservation of these Portsmouth stands pre-eminent for 1921-1922. For while there was not abnormal demand for labor her factories of many sorts were running far ahead of those of most places and wages remained at a high level. This year is, indeed, especially notable because it marked the building of several industrial plants of importance, including a large new department to the Portsmouth steel works and a third stove foundry.

So as 1922 draws to a close so is the turn in the general and financial depression reached and a new era dawning of peace and prosperity, in which this community will garner its full share. Labor from now on will be in greater demand than it was ever before and more thousands will come here seeking abode and employment.

A BUSY THRIFTY PEOPLE

It has been remarked of Portsmouth that its citizens must be good spenders and so they are. They give liberally to every worthy undertaking, they take to themselves the comforts and pleasures of life and, probably there are more automobiles here than in any other place of the size.

But if the citizens know how to spend they also know how to save. It is to be doubted if any other thoroughly American community can equal them there, to say nothing of surpass.

Statistics are dull and dreary, but it is instructive and may it also be healthful to others to know what Portsmouth people are saving. The past twelve months have not been altogether conducive to the virtue of thrift, because the job wasn't exactly hunting the man and prices of everything continued high, while great strikes threw hundreds out of employment, still in that period savings accounts increased almost a million dollars, a full twenty-five dollars for every man, woman and child in the city. At the same time the resources of the banks and building associations increased by a half million dollars, where as elsewhere there was the common story of shrinkage—the proof that Portsmouth people make and save. It is not amiss, however, to observe that even more might have been well and better saved had there not been so many unwise enough to listen to the lure of phenomenal profits that flowed so glibly from the tongue of stock salesmen and made "investments" that in the very promise, if properly analyzed, proved no investment at all.

We might interject here also that one of the reasons and most influential one why this is a savings community is because they are constantly adjured and advised to save. The local building associations and banks are not alone safe and sound they are helpful in pressing the value of thrift upon all possible patrons. They know the value of publicity, the constant and intelligent stressing of a point and they are the biggest and best advertisers in their lines to be found anywhere. And the final big factor is that the people know our banking institutions are in the hands of conservative, level headed business men who are making successes of their undertakings.

THE UNRIVALED HOME CITY

We may boast and rightfully of what we make and save but our glory is in the luminous fact that Portsmouth continues to stand pre-eminent as a home-owning city and never has she shone so distinctly in that respect as in the gain she has made therein. For while conditions have been rather adverse she has, nevertheless, constructed for the year, over two hundred new dwellings, and, not only have all of these passed to the individual ownership of those who abide therein, but an unusual number of homes have been bought and rent houses are becoming scarcer every month. At present building operations are stirring active and scores of houses are under construction.

No matter, however, how many roofs may spring up there will not be enough to shelter in entire comfort the flow of population that is settling hitherward in an ever increasing tide. The population now numbers a full forty thousand. In less than six months it will show, from the workmen and their families the new steel department will bring in alone, an increase of five percent. So that fifty thousand we predicted three years ago is not a figure of fancy, nor a fancy figure. Portsmouth will have fifty thousand population in less than five years, will have it in less than three years, if the village of New Boston, which is now totally enveloped in our loving arms wisely concludes to merge her identity into ours.

Let this be said in conclusion: Portsmouth may not always be able to place at the disposal of the new comer such room as he and she would desire, but it will always have ready for him that ready and unquestioning welcome that gives Portsmouth the reputation of being the best and happiest town on earth in which to live.

SYNOPSIS OF PAGEANT'S STORY

BY BERT LETCH

On September 26, 27 and 28, the people of Portsmouth are going to have presented for their entertainment a pageant the magnitude of which has never been equaled here or in any nearby city. If, incidentally, they acquire some knowledge of local or national history there will be no extra charge.

In sponsoring this pageant, the Chamber of Commerce is following the example of like organizations in such cities as Detroit, St. Louis and Philadelphia.

While the art of pageantry dates back, at least, to the miracle and comedy plays of medieval Europe, in this country it is comparatively young; nevertheless it is a justly important, because its merits make it popular. Pageants may be either historical or symbolic. The PAGEANT OF PORTSMOUTH is both.

Few cities have more interesting history than has Portsmouth. Her well authenticated history covers 175 years.

It has been participated in by five races, red, white and black. It is replete with tragedy and comedy, with pathos and with humor.

It is interesting in time of peace, and in time of war. All these phases of Portsmouth's past will be presented in the pageant as an accompaniment of dancing and music.

The writers of the text of the pageant offer the following summary of the various historical scenes that will be presented by the men and women and boys and girls of Portsmouth.

EPISODE I

Near the middle of the eighteenth century when the long struggle between the French and the English for possession of the North American continent was drawing toward a close, the Marquis de Gallissiere, Commander in Chief of the New France, dispatched another gentleman of high-sounding name, viz. Celso de Bienville, to take formal possession of the Ohio valley in the name of the King of France, Colonel Bouquet with him a chaplain, Father Bon-Jean, eight subalterns, six cannons, one hundred and eighty Canadian and thirty Indians. With these he landed at the mouth of different tributaries of the Ohio, and with formal ceremonies, buried leaden plates engraved to all future generations the ownership by the French of the territory drained by these rivers. At the mouth of the Scioto, Colonel Bouquet solemnly to quit the territory and went on down the river.

EPISODE II

The passed: the Revolutionary war was fought and won. People of the Alleghenies began to press forward into the western wilderness. The Ohio river was the best route, and therefore down it they went. The first of the pioneers, the Shawnees, who made attacks upon the pioneers, were driven down the river. Two of the Shawnees, accurate as to historical detail, will be reproduced in this episode of the PAGEANT OF PORTSMOUTH.

PERCY J. BURRELL

scene will be followed by the Dance of the Choosing of a Husband, in which are exemplified aboriginal matrimonial ideas so far in advance of their time that they out-bless, bless, and out-shaw, Shaw.

In 1794, at the battle of Fallen Timbers, General Wayne, the Mad Anthony of Revolutionary fame, whom the Indians called the Great White Chief Who Never Sleeps, defeated decisively a coalition of Indian tribes, and early in the following year concluded a treaty with them, by the terms of which all Indians ceded their lands in the southern part of the present state of Ohio and moved northward into territory bounded by what is known as the Greenville Treaty line. This opened all the land along the river to settlement.

EPISODE III

Not only are advanced notions regarding things material relics of the past; other social phenomena may be traced to their lairs—or part way there. For instance: The nefarious Scioto Land Company in Paris, during and shortly after the year 1789, defrauded hundreds of middle and upper-class Frenchmen of their money, selling them the land in the Northwest Territory, to which lands the settlers had no title. The settlers came to what they supposed would be a settled and productive region, and found that they had no title even to land in the wilderness. Congress, taking pity on their helpless plight, granted to them 24,000 acres of land in the eastern part of what is now Scioto county.

EPISODE IV

Probably the most picturesque Presidential campaign in the history of the United States is that of 1840, when General William Henry Harrison, the Whig candidate, hosted the then incumbent of the White House, proving that the political cant was true which filled the country with shouts of Van, Van.

Is a used-up man. Try that on your piano, gentle reader, and see if you can't get yourself into an 1840 mood. Think, too—political meetings were held in and outside of log cabins, with con skins on the doors, and—prohibition enforcement officers please take notice—barrels of hard elder stood at the door for anyone who had a thirst—and shouting makes almost anyone thirsty.

Verily, verily, I say unto you, brethren, the world do move. The campaign of 1840 is the theme of the fourth episode.

EPISODE V

From 1861 to 1865 the men, the women and the children of Portsmouth as of all other parts of the country, lived in suspense between hope and dread while the issues of the Civil War were being tried on the battle field. This history is too well known to need repetition; but pictured by skillful actors taking the tragic parts, and the lighter ones, it will be well worth seeing.

EPISODE VI

In the post-bellum days, events have taken a more merry turn. The river refuses to sign a contract to rise on September 26, 27 and 28. Hence it is impossible, much as we may regret it, to re-enact realistically the floods of 1884 and 1913. Those being the big events of that period of local history, the pageant will present in lieu thereof, a typical evening's entertainment of 1868.

The writer of this article is still on the sunny side of three-scores and ten (Save the day! his day of making this boast are mighty few, and getting fewer) but he never saw publicly done some of the funny things they did then, calling them entertainment.

In 1872 the Biggs House was opened. It was formally opened with a ball, and the ladies were costumed that in our days of abbreviated attire, will look strange indeed. Note the Will: this ball will be reproduced. And so will the costumes. The waltz was just coming in then, and the conservative older people were shocked by it. Funny, isn't it? History is said to repeat itself.

There were pretty ladies in Portsmouth then. There were also sweet babies. There were popular preachers. There were then—ladies have changed since Hannah died—homey men. There is a monument in the middle of Tracy Park. Funds for this monument were raised partly by a fair; at the fair was decided who was the prettiest lady; who was the sweetest baby; who was the most popular preacher; who was the most homey man. They also decided irreverently who possessed diverse other virtues in the superlative degree. This monument fair, too, will constitute a part of the sixth episode.

FINALE

At the end will be gathered all of the participants, grouped, with the dancers who during the interludes between historical episodes, have interpreted symbolically, the influences which have made Portsmouth what she is. The names of the six interludes, requiring about 250 dancers, are: Forest, Flowers, Corn, Boats, Steel, Rising Waters. Those who see this pageant will agree that their city has an interesting history, and that one way of presenting history beautifully and vividly, is through the fine art of pageantry.

LA BELLE RIVIERE

The name of the Ohio river has been traced to a Seneca or Iroquois word, "O-hee-yuh," meaning "Beautiful river."

Thomas Jefferson was much impressed by the Ohio river, and by the reports of its beauty. In "Notes

On the State of Virginia," written in 1781, he thus describes it: "The Ohio is the most beautiful river on earth, its current gentle, waters clear, and bosom smooth and unbroken by rocks and rapids, a single instance only excepted."

WILL DISMISS SCHOOL AT NOON

Prof. Frank Appel, superintendent of the public schools, informed Chairman Albert Marting of the Pageant Association that the grade schools would be dismissed at noon each day.

Pabst Military Band Is Recalled By Many Persons

Pabst's Military Band and Orchestra of 1875-80 is recalled by many persons.

Both were composed of German citizens, who made good music under the leadership of Anton Pabst, who was an employee of the J. M. Ramsey and Co., wholesale dry goods company, and later of Reed and Peebles, also in the wholesale dry goods trade. Pabst's orchestra that played for the Germania Mueorchor, the Germania, and other fine companies as well as for other organizations, giving dances at Wilhelm's Opera House or Daum's Hall or at Dreege's Grove, was made up of the following, at the time, well known citizens: Anton Pabst, Wm. Lahmering, Albert Knittele, A. Clausing, John Wurster, Chas. Zottman, and Chas. Amann Sr., not one of the members are now living, unless perchance it may be Anton Pabst, who years ago moved to Los Angeles. Mr. Lahmering was a book keeper and for years was with J. F. Towell and later with Sanford Varner & Co., and lived with his family in a brick house that stood where the Columbus Theatre is now. The Lahmering family owned the present Royal building also and it was known as the Rosenberg building. Mr. Rosenberg conducting a queensware store there and which was later occupied by W. L. B. Jack, whose "Star Anchor Bitters" had more than a local reputation. On the death of Mr. Lahmering to family sold the property and moved to Columbus. Mr. Knittele who played the bass viol in the orchestra was the well known baker whose place of business was at Fourth and Court streets until in later years he moved to the Doctor McDowell property on Second street. Mr. Zottman died several years ago. Mr. Clausing was a cabinet maker and was later with J. H. Walt and later with the Walt Furniture Company. His eldest son took employment with the same firm as a boy and is still with the company, having seen fully 40 years service with the one concern. The family was a musical one and grandsons play with the River City Band to the present day.

YE OLDE TYME

An "Emigrants' Directory," published at Auburn, N. Y., in 1811, in which appears notices of cities on the Ohio below Pittsburgh has the following to say in reference to this city and section.

"Portsmouth, the seat of justice of Scioto county, stands on a peninsula formed by the confluence of the Scioto with the Ohio river. Alexandria is situated below Portsmouth, and immediately below the Scioto. It was formerly the Scioto county seat, but was abandoned in consequence of an inundation caused by an extraordinary rise in the Ohio. The river rose four feet above the level of the plain on which it was built.

There are fifteen old buildings and a tavern well supported by the votaries of Bacchus. Indolence and dissipation characterize the inhabitants. They have a constant supply of fish.

NEW BOSTON HIGH SCHOOL PLEDGES SUPPORT TO PORTSMOUTH'S PAGEANT

Adam Frick and W. S. Harris, president and secretary, respectively of the Chamber of Commerce spoke to the student body at Glenwood High School, New Boston in chapel Wednesday morning and the talks were greatly appreciated by the teachers and students. Mr. Frick outlined the Pageant of Portsmouth in detail and urged the students to host the big undertaking and to witness the Pageant because of its historical value and learn more of Scioto county's first inhabitants. The student body pledged support for the big production and were enthusiastic in their reception of the speakers.

PAGEANT PICK-UPS

The lunch and novelty concessions at the Pageant grounds with stands at Court and Chillicothe streets, are for sale. Persons wishing to bid on these should see Julius Baesman.

Paul Williams, Jno. Underwood, and Julius Baesman have purchased the soft drink and ice cream concession for the Pageant grounds. They will have two stands, one at Court, and one at Chillicothe street.

B. E. Conners, of Bellevue, O., will be in the city in a few days to arrange for decorating the Pageant grounds, and to do such work for business houses that may wish it.

Lutz in 1875, as she would like that it be placed here with some descendant of the members, and where the sight of it might serve to please some of the older residents and the picture is expected any day. It will be placed in the Pageant exhibit where those who recall younger and happier days may see it.

Labor from now on will be in greater demand than it was ever before and more thousands will come here seeking abode and employment.

A BUSY THRIFTY PEOPLE

It has been remarked of Portsmouth that its citizens must be good spenders and so they are. They give liberally to every worthy undertaking, they take to themselves the comforts and pleasures of life and, probably there are more automobiles here than in any other place of the size.

But if the citizens know how to spend they also know how to save. It is to be doubted if any other thoroughly American community can equal them there, to say nothing of surpass.

Statistics are dull and dreary, but it is instructive and may it also be healthful to others to know what Portsmouth people are saving. The past twelve months have not been altogether conducive to the virtue of thrift, because the job wasn't exactly hunting the man and prices of everything continued high, while great strikes threw hundreds out of employment, still in that period savings accounts increased almost a million dollars, a full twenty-five dollars for every man, woman and child in the city. At the same time the resources of the banks and building associations increased by a half million dollars, where as elsewhere there was the common story of shrinkage—the proof that Portsmouth people make and save. It is not amiss, however, to observe that even more might have been well and better saved had there not been so many unwise enough to listen to the lure of phenomenal profits that flowed so glibly from the tongue of stock salesmen and made "investments" that in the very promise, if properly analyzed, proved no investment at all.

We might interject here also that one of the reasons and most influential one why this is a savings community is because they are constantly adjured and advised to save. The local building associations and banks are not alone safe and sound they are helpful in pressing the value of thrift upon all possible patrons. They know the value of publicity, the constant and intelligent stressing of a point and they are the biggest and best advertisers in their lines to be found anywhere. And the final big factor is that the people know our banking institutions are in the hands of conservative, level headed business men who are making successes of their undertakings.

THE UNRIVALED HOME CITY

We may boast and rightfully of what we make and save but our glory is in the luminous fact that Portsmouth continues to stand pre-eminent as a home-owning city and never has she shone so distinctly in that respect as in the gain she has made therein. For while conditions have been rather adverse she has, nevertheless, constructed for the year, over two hundred new dwellings, and, not only have all of these passed to the individual ownership of those who abide therein, but an unusual number of homes have been bought and rent houses are becoming scarcer every month. At present building operations are stirring active and scores of houses are under construction.

No matter, however, how many roofs may spring up there will not be enough to shelter in entire comfort the flow of population that is settling hitherward in an ever increasing tide. The population now numbers a full forty thousand. In less than six months it will show, from the workmen and their families the new steel department will bring in alone, an increase of five percent. So that fifty thousand we predicted three years ago is not a figure of fancy, nor a fancy figure. Portsmouth will have fifty thousand population in less than five years, will have it in less than three years, if the village of New Boston, which is now totally enveloped in our loving arms wisely concludes to merge her identity into ours.

Let this be said in conclusion: Portsmouth may not always be able to place at the disposal of the new comer such room as he and she would desire, but it will always have ready for him that ready and unquestioning welcome that gives Portsmouth the reputation of being the best and happiest town on earth in which to live.

SYNOPSIS OF PAGEANT'S STORY

BY BERT LETCH

On September 26, 27 and 28, the people of Portsmouth are going to witness a pageant, the magnitude of which has never been equaled here or in any nearby city. It, incidentally, acquires some knowledge of local or national history there will be no extra charge.

In sponsoring this pageant, the Chamber of Commerce is following the example of like organizations in such cities as Detroit, St. Louis and Philadelphia.

While the art of pageantry dates back, at least, to the miracle and morality plays of medieval Europe, in this country it is comparatively young; nevertheless it is a lusty infant, because its merits make it popular. Pageants may be either historical or symbolic. The PAGEANT OF PORTSMOUTH is both.

Two cities have more interesting legends than has Portsmouth.

Her well authenticated history covers 15 years.

It has been participated in by three races, red, white and black.

It is replete with tragedy and with comedy, with pathos and with humor.

It is interesting in time of peace, and in time of war.

All these phases of Portsmouth's past will be presented in the pageant as an accompaniment of dancing and song.

The writers of the text of the pageant offer the following summary of the various historical scenes that will be re-enacted by the men and women and boys and girls of Portsmouth.

EPISODE I

Near the middle of the eighteenth century when the long struggle between the French and the English for possession of the North American continent was drawing toward a close, the Marquis of Gallisoniere, Commander in Chief of the New France, dispatched another gentleman of high-sounding name, viz, Colonel de Bienville, to take formal possession of the Ohio valley in the name of the King of France. Celeron led with him a chaplain, Father Bon-Belcamp, eight subalterns, six cannons, one hundred and eighty Canadian and thirty Indians. With these he landed at the mouth of different tributaries of the Ohio, and with formal ceremonies, buried leaden plates addressed to all future generations of the ownership by the French of the territory drained by these rivers.

At the mouth of the Scioto, Celeron found four English traders; he warned them solemnly to quit the territory and to go down the river.

EPISODE II

Time passed; the Revolutionary War was fought and won. People east of the Alleghenies began to press forward into the western wilderness. The Ohio river was the great route, and therefore down it came ever-increasing numbers of pioneers and flatboats.

The part of what is now Ohio, but was then the Northwest Territory, was held by the Shawnees. They were guarding their ownership. They made attacks upon the pioneers who came down the river. Two of the attacks, accurate as to historical fact, will be reproduced in this pageant. The PAGEANT OF PORTSMOUTH.

The sight of sculps, dripping with blood, would make a wooden Indian shudder. It will have some effect upon a 1922 Portsmouth audience. So to restore the emotional equilibrium of the audience, this scene will be followed by the Dance of the Choosing of "Husbands," in which are exemplified aboriginal matrimonial ideas so far in advance of their time that they out-Bsenn, Bsen, and out-Shaw, Shaw.

PERCY J. BURRELL

In 1794, at the battle of Fallen Timbers, General Wayne, the Mad Anthony of Revolutionary fame, whom the Indians called the Great White Chief Who Never Sleeps, defeated decisively a coalition of Indian tribes, and early in the following year concluded a treaty with them, by the terms of which all Indians ceded their lands in the southern part of the present state of Ohio and moved northward into territory bounded by what is known as the Greenville Treaty line. This opened all the land along the river to settlement.

EPISODE III

Not only are advanced notions regarding things material relics of the past; other social phenomena may be traced to their birth or part way there. For instance:

The notorious Scioto Land Company in Paris, during and shortly after the year 1789, defrauded hundreds of middle and upper-class Frenchmen of their money, selling them the land in the Northwest Territory, to which lands the sellers had no title. The settlers came to what they supposed would be a settled and productive region, and found that they had no title even to land in the wilderness, congress taking pity on their helpless plight, granted to them 24,000 acres of land in the eastern part of what is now Scioto county.

Among these skilled, educated and cultured French people was one illustrious stayaway named Francis Valodin. Undaunted, himself, nevertheless he was solicitous that his children should have what he had missed. Yet they were, perhaps, a trifle unappreciative. M. Valodin remarked once to a neighbor: "Humm! Sacre Dieu, no use to send Duput to school any more. Got got in de head."

The enlistment committee of the Pageant are earnestly seeking some young man qualified to play the part of Duput realistically.

In 1796 Colonel Thomas Parker of Virginia, bought a large tract of land on the west side of the Scioto river. On this land Major John Belli platted the village of Alexandria, and there most of the very early settlers of the vicinity located. Some readers of this article may recognize names of their ancestors in the following list of Alexandria pioneers: David Charky, Martin Funk, Uriah Barber, Dr. Thomas Walker, William Russell, Phillip Iyer, Christian Hartman, Thomas Collins, Conrad Thorne, Phillip Moore Stephen Smith.

In 1802 Henry Massie bought several sections of land on the east side of the Scioto and platted the town of Portsmouth. The ground on which Alexandria stood, being low, was subject to frequent inundations, and for that reason, most of its original settlers either moved away or settled in Portsmouth.

Incidents of these pioneer days varying from the visit of the renowned Bishop Francis Ashbury, to the rollicking old-fashioned country dance, make up this episode.

EPISODE IV

Probably the most picturesque Presidential campaign in the history of the United States is that of 1840, when General William Henry Harrison, the Whig candidate, bested the then incumbent of the White House, proving that the political cant was true which filled the country with shouts of Van, Van.

Is a used-up man. Try that on your piano, gentle reader, and see if you can't get yourself into an 1840 mood. Think, too—political meetings were held in and outside of log cabins, with corn skins on the doors, and—prohibition enforcement officers please take notice—barrels of hard cider stood at the door for anyone who had a thirst—and shouting makes almost anyone thirsty.

Verily, verily, I say unto you, brethren, the world do move.

The campaign of 1840 is the theme of the fourth episode.

EPISODE V

From 1861 to 1865 the men, the women and the children of Portsmouth as of all other parts of the country, lived in suspense between hope and dread while the issues of the Civil War were being tried on the battle field. This history is too well known to need repetition; but pictured by skillful actors taking the tragic parts, and the lighter ones, it will be well worth seeing.

EPISODE VI

In the post-bellum days, events have taken a more merry turn. The river refuses to sign a contract to rise on September 26, 27 and 28. Hence it is impossible, much as we may regret it, to re-enact realistically the floods of 1884 and 1913. Those being the big events of that period of local history, the pageant will present in lieu thereof, a typical evening's entertainment of 1868.

The writer of this article is still on the sunny side of three-scores and ten (Save the day! his day of making this boast are mighty few, and getting fewer) but he never saw publicly done some of the funny things they did then, calling them entertainment.

In 1872 the Biggs House was opened. It was formally opened with a ball, and the ladies were costumed that in our days of abbreviated attire, will look strange indeed. Note the Will; this ball will be reproduced. And so will the costumes. The waltz was just coming in then, and the conservative older people were shocked by it. Funny, isn't it? History is said to repeat itself.

There were pretty ladies in Portsmouth then. There were also sweet babies. There were popular preachers. There were then—times have changed since Hannah died—homeless men. There is a monument in the middle of Tracy Park. Funds for this monument were raised partly by a fair; at the fair was decided who was the prettiest lady; who was the sweetest baby; who was the most popular preacher; who was the most homesly man. They also decided irreconcilably who possessed diverse other virtues in the superlative degree. This monument fair, too, will constitute a part of the sixth episode.

FINALE

At the end will be gathered all of the participants, grouped, with the dancers who during the interludes between historical episodes, having interpreted symbolically, the influences which have made Portsmouth what she is. The names of the six interludes requiring about 250 dancers are: Forest, Flowers, Corn, Boats, Steel, Rising Waters.

Those who see this pageant will agree that their city has an interesting history, and that one way of presenting history beautifully and vividly, is through the fine art of pageantry.

LA BELLE RIVIERE

The name of the Ohio river has been traced to a Seneca or Iroquois word, "O-hee-yuh," meaning "Beautiful river."

Thomas Jefferson was much impressed by the Ohio river, and by the reports of its beauty. In "Notes on the State of Virginia," written in 1781, he thus describes it: "The Ohio is the most beautiful river on earth. Its current gentle, waters clear, and bosom smooth and unbroken by rocks and rapids, a single instance only excepted."

WILL DISMISS SCHOOL AT NOON

Prof. Frank Appel, superintendent of the public schools, informed Chairman Albert Marling of the Pageant Association that the grade schools would be dismissed at noon each day of the Pageant, to permit the children to attend the big production.

The high school will be dismissed either at twelve or 12:30, the time not yet having been definitely decided upon, each day of the Pageant.

Pabst Military Band Is Recalled By Many Persons

Pabst's Military Band and Orchestra of 1875-80 is recalled by many persons.

Both were composed of German citizens, who made good music under the leadership of Anton Pabst, who was an employee of the J. M. Rumsey and Co., wholesale dry goods company, and later of Reed and Peebles, also in the wholesale dry goods trade. Pabst's orchestra that played for the Germania Maennerchor, the Germania, and other fine companies as well as for other organizations, giving dances at Wilhelm's Opera House or Daum's Hall or at Droege's Grove, was made up of the following, at the time, well known citizens: Anton Pabst, Wm. Lahmering, Albert Knittele, A. Clausing, John Wurster, Chas. Zoltman, and Chas. Amann Jr., not one of the members are now living, unless perchance it may be Anton Pabst, who years ago moved to Los Angeles.

Mr. Lahmering was a book keeper and for years was with J. P. Towell and later with Sanford Varner & Co., and lived with his family in a brick

The lunch and novelty concessions at the Pageant grounds with stands at Court and Chillicothe streets, are for sale. Persons wishing to bid on these should see Julius Baesman.

Paul Williams, Jno. Underwood, and Julius Baesman have purchased the soft drink and ice cream concession for the Pageant grounds. They will have two stands, one at Court, and one at Chillicothe street.

B. E. Conners, of Bellevue, O., will be in the city in a few days to arrange for decorating the Pageant grounds, and to do such work for business houses that may wish it.

The world's finest cinnamon is produced in Ceylon.

The finest emeralds are produced in Colombia.

Columbus wrote to Mr. Warster's only son and child, Eugene, suggesting that if desired he would send to him a large original photograph of the orchestra, taken by the J. N. Lutz in 1875, as she would like that it be placed here with some descendant of the members, and where the sight of it might serve to please some of the older residents and the picture is expected any day. It will be placed in the Pageant exhibit where those who recall younger and happier days may see it.

Pabst's Orchestra furnished the music for all the performances dramatic and otherwise at Wilhelm's Opera House while the band always led the parades, military and fraternal.

Mrs. Goetz Improving Mrs. Ed Goetz, who has been ill for several weeks, was removed from Hempstead hospital to her home 1538 Seventh street in Daehler's ambulance yesterday. Mrs. Goetz is on the road to recovery and her many friends will be pleased to learn of her convalescence.

This Is Something

Kipling and the rest of our critics who said we went into the war to make money should make a note of the fact that the United States Shipping Board has just sold for $750,000 a $300,000,000 fleet of wooden vessels.

Formosa has a world monopoly of camphor.

An "Emigrants' Directory," published at Auburn, N. Y., in 1813, in which appears notices of cities on the Ohio below Pittsburgh has the following to say in reference to this city and section.

"Portsmouth, the seat of justice of Scioto county, stands on a peninsula formed by the confluence of the Scioto with the Ohio river. Alexandria is situated below Portsmouth, and immediately below the Scioto, it was formerly the Scioto county seat, but was abandoned in consequence of an inundation caused by an extraordinary rise in the Ohio. The river rose four feet above the level of the plain on which it was built.

There are fifteen old buildings and a tavern well supported by the volarles of Baesman. Indolence and dissipation characterize the inhabitants. They have a constant supply of fish.

The student body pledged support for the big production and were enthusiastic in their reception of the speakers.

The Working Man

who makes this bank His bank—and thousands of them do—receives the same careful advice upon his problems as they come up, as we accord any other depositor, large or small.

It is the little things that count and we welcome the small account of the workingman. OUR SAVINGS DEPARTMENT pays a good rate of interest and you can rest assured your money is safe here.

A Dollar will start an account. Why wait until you have more? Many working men deposit with us every pay day. WHY NOT YOU?

Advice

Part of our service to you as a depositor in this bank is consultation on your difficult business problems.

It is a real pleasure to have you come to us. We may not always be able to assist—but be your problem great or small—it will always have the same careful consideration.

Our interests are mutual, and our policy is to be of helpful use to our depositors.

This bank is nearing its 60th Milestone. Of something like 10,000 National Banks in the United States this bank stands in the list as No. 68—you will find these figures over the door of our big building as you enter.

The home of the bank is in the largest building in the city—and even then the counting room is hardly adequate to meet the demands.

Every citizen of Portsmouth from two years up will tell you the exact location of the bank—it's on the busiest corner.

It towers in the air—a land mark for miles around.

It's a real big bank too. A bank where you get real service. While it is a busy place, we don't allow any one to leave the counters who has not received courteous attention.

It has grown with Portsmouth—it has been a most important factor in the development of this fair city. The needs of any honest citizen has ever received due consideration from the hands of its officials.

The Salaried Man

The Salaried Man who makes it a plan to save a regular amount each week is in a great many cases the owner of his own business in a few years. Opportunity does not find him without capital.

The Salaried man who does not save his money, is in many instances, without a steady job or money enough to tide him over in time of trouble or sickness.

This bank will help you save. You may start with as small a sum as a dollar. Your money will be safe and at your command. Why not start NOW?

Women Patrons

They have adopted a plan that they are using with excellent success. Each month they transfer the balance from their checking account to a savings account.

This not only gives them an automatic check on their expenses for the current month but it allows the unused balance to earn interest on a savings account.

We will be glad to explain this plan to you more fully anytime you have the opportunity to call.

Will Reproduce Historical Events

Portsmouth has had a most glorious past--and faces a most promising future. The city has become one of the most progressive in the nation. Her mammoth steel plant, large shoe factories, growing stove foundries, big brick works, last plants -- her progressive retail stores and stable wholesale houses--her well managed and conservative financial institutions--her happy citizenship in well kept homes--her schools and churches -- all look well, and there is not a pessimistic member in the Portsmouth family of more than 40,000. All we now have and enjoy was made possible through the hardships overcome by our forefathers, who instilled in their sons and daughters the same indomitable characteristics that marked their achievements when Portsmouth was founded.

Portsmouth has grown and developed as a matter of course--there was no other way than the right way. The slogan of this institution, "WHAT'S RIGHT, WE DO," must have been the motto of all who have played their part in the development of this fair city--the best town of its size in the country and getting better with the rising and setting of every sun.

THE CENTRAL NATIONAL BANK

Has ever kept pace with the city--in fact, that institution has played a most potent part in helping to make the city what it is today. There is no one in an honorable business but who can always receive a most respectful audience with the officers and directors of the bank. A helping hand is always extended to those who have a safe honorable proposition and who need financial assistance. We want to see the town grow--for with the growth of the city we will grow and become an even greater factor in times of assistance.

We trust the Pageant of Portsmouth will prove a distinct success--we know it will, for what Portsmouth has undertaken she has done well. We invite you to call around during the big doings and we will do our best to make it pleasant for you.

Scenery Of County Unsurpassed

On the West Side one passes through scenes of ravishing beauty until one reaches what might be termed a climax. Ascending a hill near "The Land of Nod" (formerly Crick-ton's Inn) and overlooking a valley of most entrancing and picturesque beauty to the east, the vision is bounded only by the human sight. To the north, the valleys fade off in long undulations into the misty line, where heaven and earth mingle in a vague, mysterious purple. The Scioto valley, famous in song and story, is intersected by contributing hills rising in amphitheatre form as though each were rivaling the other in a vision of beauty and grandeur. Little streams mark a winding way, and oak and maple, brilliant with the brightest leaves, and roadways run here and there through out the wool and warp of the sweet sylvan scene. White clouds sailing the sky, cast purple shadows ever and anon upon the growing wheat, and fields of ripened corn, which fall upon the varied hues of earth, and the golden sunlight sifts in mellow splendor through the motesless air and over all the still unbroken, restful azure of the sky, bends like a voiceless benediction.

Visit Historical Structure

In order that an exact reproduction may be made of the old stone home of Phillip Moore on the West Side where Bishop Asbury preached, and John H. Turner and a few faithful organized the first Methodist church, Messrs. Branch and Phillips visited the old house Thursday.

The old structure has stood for more than 100 years, and looks like it might stand for another 100 years. Methodists of the older type, who live in the city, often visit this shrine dear as it is to the hearts of all who love to soligize on the early struggles of the pioneers who blazed the way that eventually resulted in Portsmouth developing into the city that it now is. John Peebles occupied the house at one time.

Growing With Portsmouth

Portsmouth has made rapid strides during the past quarter of a century. She is now recognized as one of the most progressive communities in the country, and getting bigger, better and more progressive each year.

The Pageant Of Portsmouth

Will record many of the early incidents of this happy and contented community. It will give vivid portrayals of the lives lived by our ancestry, and we wish for the Pageant all the success possible.

Our Growth Is Substantial

Because we employ only those methods that are recognized as consistent with conservative management. This institution has kept the faith of its founders and points with just pride to its long list of satisfied patrons. We believe in Portsmouth and her people. As the city pushes ahead, it means bigger things for this bank. It means we will be in a position to lend aid, assistance and advice as new industries are developed or old ones enlarged. And we are never better pleased than when called upon for financial assistance by the deserving.

Our Savings Department

Is growing each week. People now know the full value of thrift. Many are saving a part of their earnings that they may enjoy the comforts of life when they are forced to step aside for the ones more agile. If you will start with only a dollar and methodically follow a course of saving, you will be surprised how rapidly the sum will grow. And of course we pay interest on savings accounts.

Thousands of Portsmouth citizens who will view the great Pageant have been born since the organization of this Solid Old Company, with Assets of over Two Million Dollars, and with a record second to none in Ohio.

The following points we wish to emphasize:

First--Our entire assets are loaned upon First Mortgage Real Estate Security.

Second--The Association has accumulated a large Surplus Fund, which has always remained intact.

Third--Each year since organization has shown a substantial Increase in Assets.

Fourth--A 6 Per Cent Dividend has been declared without exception.

Fifth--And most important of all, is the fact that in the 31 long years, in which millions of dollars have been received and disbursed, we have never sustained the loss of one single cent.

A RECORD WITHOUT A PARALLEL!

That is a strong statement to make. Yet it is the simple, unadorned truth, when it comes to speak of the career of the Commercial Building and Loan Company, of this city. A truth marvelous in its scope and in its actual meaning. The Commercial has been in business now for full twenty-seven years. So successfully, so prudently and so wisely have its affairs been conducted by the men who founded it and still manage it that in all that time it

Has Never Lost A Dollar Invested And Has Never Foreclosed A Mortgage

No other like institution in the whole country of equal age and importance can show such a record.

No wonder if the investor and the borrower catch the full significance of this achievement. The business of the Commercial, in common with all other like institutions, is to help people save and acquire homes, to make it possible for the man who can lay by only a little at a time to invest so that it will yield a fair interest and in time accumulate a goodly sum as provision against loss of earning capacity; to so arrange payments that even the most modest wage earner can acquire his own domicile at a scarce greater strain than paying rent. In the transaction of business for more than a quarter of a century we have handled not tens of thousands but millions of dollars, in the aggregate. We have had to invest that so as to get return from it, yet, let us accentuate it again, so carefully has investment been attended to that not one single dollar has been lost, so sufficient has been the security required, that we have never been forced to the necessity of bringing suit and selling the property to recover the loan.

We make only two classes of loans, upon stock in the company, or upon real estate. If you have paid up stock, you can, of course borrow against that, but such loans are not frequent, nor of great amount in the total of any one period. Loans principally are made upon first mortgage. The real estate upon which a loan is sought is viewed and valued by our finance committee composed of men who we do not exaggerate in saying, are familiar with every piece of property hereabouts. It has been their business for years to study values. They examine the property, its location, its condition and its comparative desirability and fix the figure, that in their judgment it is worth. This is laid before the board of directors, with the application for a loan. If on view of the whole matter the board concludes the property is saleable and the loan asked for is from one quarter to one third below the actual value of the real estate, it is granted. In the bald statement this policy may appear rather over conservative. It is conservative, but not too much so. Remember a building and loan association handles other people's money and its first consideration must always be safety. Safety to the point of conservatism is not incompatible with progress and success. This company proves that conclusively. There hasn't been a year since it began operation that it hasn't grown, grown substantially, yes, even rapidly, and this year has witnessed our greatest growth.

Our Assets $1,346,381 at Close of Our Business Year

Portsmouth citizens have saved more this year than in any other one year. They have found no better place to deposit their savings than the building and loan associations and the Commercial has been generously recognized in this respect. If you have got $100 you can buy a share of stock in the Commercial. If you are a wage earner and wish to begin laying something aside the Commercial is the place for you to start. You can begin with a dollar and after that pay in weekly, or from time to time as little as 25 cents. We want to say to you to accumulate a tidy sum in the course of years there are just two things necessary, starting and keeping at it. The Commercial will do the rest, it will invest your money safely and pay you interest.

It is our business to help people save and to buy homes, but it is far more our desire. We would like to see every citizen of Portsmouth laying by something and every head of a family the owner of the house that shelters him. We have stated how you can save. You can acquire a home in much the same way. You pay us back the sum you borrow in weekly payments. Any time you have a hundred dollars you can pay off that much of the loan and reduce your interest by that much. We solicit you as a patron.

We Pay 6 Per Cent Interest On Money Left With Us

The Commercial pays the cost of a general tornado policy out of its surplus earnings and the cost therefore is so small when divided as it is among several thousand persons in interest, is so small to each one as not to be considered at all.

PLACE YOUR MONEY WHERE IT IS SAFEST

A Record of Glorious Achievement

We are all proud of the fact that we live in Peerless Portsmouth---a city that has kept pace with the times---a city that has not had its spurts---its mushroom growth---but one that has grown steadily and more substantially as it increased in size and importance. The young men of today---the men who are playing their part in the development of this fair city---can look back but a few years and recall their cherished dreams of 20,000 population. It only seems a comparative short time when there were horse drawn street cars ---when only the well-to-do enjoyed their evening paper by the aid of electricity---when it was necessary to wear overshoes to preserve a shoe shine---when only the wealthy owned their homes.

Now---well Portsmouth has blossomed forth into a city of almost 40,000 happy and contented people. We have practically all city conveniences, and best of all THOUSANDS OWN THEIR OWN HOMES AND THOUSANDS ARE BUYING THEM. Many of the proud home owners were assisted by this institution---many who are now paying for their homes were accommodated by this institution.

We can claim a record of glorious achievement

Of what we have done we are proud---when we help a deserving couple to own their home we are doing a big part in the development of this city---we are helping to make substantial citizenship---we are doing a service that means something.

We like to help you

Our savings department is constantly growing. As Portsmouth grows, so do we, and we would be pleased indeed to have you drop in any time and open a savings account with us. We pay you 6 per cent. interest---we protect you from every possible loss and remember when the time comes that you need our assistance you will have a claim upon us that could not be refused---in fact, we are just as much pleased to help you as we are to be patronized. ONE DOLLAR HERE MAY MEAN A HOME FOR YOU WHEN YOU NEED IT---LET'S TALK IT OVER.

Hey, Mr. Man, Strike a Trial Balance

There is not a successful or methodical business man in the city, but who insists on a trial balance every day. When he arrives at his office the next day he wants to see that trial balance sheet--and if it don't balance--well, several things may happen of which we do not care to speak -- one thing -- that trial balance has to BALANCE before there is any peace in the establishment.

Life Is A Big Business---Bigger Than Any Other Business

It's absolutely fatal for anyone to go through life in a hit and miss fashion--without striking a trial balance every day at least --to see if he has spent more than he earned--or scattered his money on foolishness and frivolity--for life is a serious proposition any way you take it.

If a man spends more than he earns, there is always a deficit on the wrong side of life's ledger; if a man spends all that he makes, he is operating his business at a loss; if a man saves a part of his earnings, he is operating at a profit.

There are a lot of folks whose "overhead" can be reduced considerably for remember, it's the pennies that count. There is not a person in the city but who could "shave" expenses more or less. The more you save, the more your balance totals--the more you have when your earning power diminishes.

We'll Help You Solve The Trial Balance

If you start a savings account here, laying aside in this strong and conservative institution a part of your earnings, we assure you that all worries as to your future will have been solved. We pay 6 per cent. dividends on your savings--and this adds mightily to your account. Then, you can always get your money when you need it--won't you open an account here right NOW--for NOW is the big word.

We invite you to call around and see us during the three big Pageant Days--and we trust that those three days will be full of joy for all. The Pageant is one of the biggest things Portsmouth ever attempted--and when all Portsmouth gets behind a proposition it is going to be a real success and deserving climax.

Certificates To Be Resumed January 1

An effort to protect the holders of the 1918 series of war savings stamps, which are to be redeemed January 1, from fake stock salesmen and investments of doubtful value, building and loan officials in Scioto county, through James A. Derine, secretary of their state organization, have offered the services of their institutions to United States treasury department officials. Figures in the hands of treasury department officials show that approximately $683,400 worth of war savings stamps of the 1918 issue still remain in the hands of Scioto county purchasers to be redeemed January 1.

It has been suggested to the government that the house shortage existing in Ohio could be materially alleviated if the money to be returned war stamp purchasers was placed in local financial institutions where it could be loaned for building purposes.

"If the money to be returned in January to the people of this county is placed in local institutions which finance home building, what a wonderful impetus it will give to business in this section," said W. D. Tremper of Portsmouth, speaking for the building and loan men in this county. The government has been cited the record of building and loan companies in Ohio which during the last 20 years have not lost a single penny of their depositors' money. On the other hand it is pointed out that many millions of dollars are lost yearly through investment in worthless securities. "This county needs every dollar that the government is going to refund us for legitimate business," said Mr. Tremper.

Twenty-four Years Ago

Levi D. York announced his intention to fix up a park at New Boston, on the Chick farm, northeast of the Burgess mill.

Will Brown, superintendent of the Lawson Heights school, died at his home at Davis Station.

Sherman Miller opened a lunch room in the C. I. & V. passenger station.

Samuel Briggs, of South Wayne, Wisconsin, after an absence of twenty-five years, arrived in the city for a visit to his old home.

"Jimmy" Riley, who was shortstop of the famous old Riverside ball team in the early '70s, arrived in the city for the first time in 20 years. He was warmly greeted by many old friends. Riley at the time of his visit lived in Paterson, N. J.

Harry Schreman resigned his position at Wurster Bros. pharmacy and left for Ann Arbor, Mich., to enter Michigan University.

The corner stone of the new Pleasant Green Baptist church was laid with appropriate ceremonies under the auspices of Trinity Lodge No. 3, F. & A. M., with Leroy Johnson as grand chaplain.

Golden Rule Service

Service is the one thing that we sell—service in line with the Golden Rule

WE distribute this same Service to all car owners and to all makes of batteries without discrimination.

When you pay money for a new USL you are buying Golden Rule Service, of which the battery is but an essential part. It's just the same as paying your employees, your lawyer, your doctor, your dentist—for Service.

Service is the most important thing in the world today. To all car owners, we aim to be the "greatest Servant of them all."—Our Golden Rule Service, we think, makes us so. But we invite your careful co-operation in caring for your battery so as to assure you long battery-life.

Often when a man thinks his battery is "done for" and he is ready to buy a new USL, we show how we can save him money by repairing his old battery and giving an adjustment guarantee for eight months.

We sell only USL Batteries with the durable machine-pasted plates. The factory ships them to us "Dry-Charged." This avoids all before-sale deterioration so that you really get a perfect, full-life battery.

We are a USL Golden Rule Service Station—not a battery-store

The Portsmouth Savings and Loan Association

Always, it's more fun working than loafing. Why not let your savings work for you where they will earn 6 per cent. To squander time is just as wasteful as to squander money. To take less than 6 per cent on your savings is not doing yourself justice. We have paid 6 per cent compounded semi-annually for 31 years. We are under state supervision, and make our loans only on first mortgage on real estate.

Read our statement and you will find that we are conducting a Savings Association for your benefit, where you can get the full earnings on your money.

Few people are so poor that they can't make boast of at least one rich relative. Make your rich relative a savings account in this Association and you will never have cause to regret it.

An ounce of business judgment is worth a ton of statistics, for conditions usually change while you are looking at the statistics they represent. Use good business judgment and open a savings account with this Association. If you have never received 6 per cent on your savings account a new sensation awaits you.

LITTLE HISTORY ABOUT UNION MILLS

An interesting picture at the Pageant exhibit is that of the old Davis Union Mills, now but a memory and which has been reproduced in far more ways than any other scene in Scioto county.

The mill, as well as a distillery north of it, was owned by George Davis, who also owned the bridge that spanned the Scioto, and which was later bought from him by the county. The late "Doc" Hurd and George Staten were gangers at the distillery where hundreds of logs were fattened on the refuse that came from the plant. Mr. Davis turned out splendid flour at the union mills and operated a retail store on Second street, where the Stahler hardware store is now, and Martin Becker was his salesman, assisted by Felix Lath, John Warner and Pat Corbett, bookkeepers. The former died only the past year, while Pat Corbett died many years ago. Pat was a ball player and a member of the locally famous Riversides, recalled by many persons. Originally, the club had grounds in the "hot-toms," but later with Sam Johnson, Alex Adkins, Hiram Brown, George W. Brown and others, played on the Robinson-Glidden lands at Offshore and Twelfth streets. Newt Huddle-son was a member of the original club of 1869-71.

Familiar figures about the Davis store were Uncle "Dick" Fleming and Isaac Farley, Conrad Neal and "Speed." Neal was a porter at the Taylor House, while Speed was a "cuddled gentleman" whose only occupation each day was to learn how much he weighed and discussions with his associates and others was the usual topic of the entire day.

Speed lived in the days of Charlotte Weaver, Aunt Piety, Uncle Henry and Jerry Washington.

The old mill continued to turn out flour and by-products, but after the death of Mr. Davis, was abandoned, as was also the distillery, the stone being sold to city parties who used it in various ways. "Union Mills" was a staid settlement and grew very slowly. For years the roads which met at the store, forked there, but that was about all the excitement in the settlement. Later the place was called Berlin Post Office. Neal Barberie conducting a general store at the junction, and still later the name of Nauvoo was given the place, while Ed Shump says that's a misnomer and that West Portsmouth is the correct name. At the time the Davis mills were in operation, the Ohio canal was much in evidence and much of the corn and other cereals were brought to the mills via the canal, and the finished product was sent north over the same route. The late Capt. Lee T. Beatty was in charge of the Davis bridge while Happy Joe Jeffords was in command of the canal boats and the mules that furnished the motive power. Corney Jeffords, then a very young boy, recalls that at one time his father took him on a trip to Chillicothe and he swears by a stack of billiard balls that it required thirty days to reach the ancient metropolis. Stops were made at Bear Creek, Jasper Basin and all way points. While passengers other than Deloss Larkins would leave the boat to pick pawpaws or huckleberries along the route. In the language of Corney, "them were the happy days," and he oftentimes as does his aged mother, live over again the days of the long ago.

In the early part of the last century great things were in development in and about the West End and Union Mills. The New York Steamboat and Basin Company was organized and plans were made for extensive terminal facilities but for some cause not known, the project "died a-bornin'" and the great warehouses planned, never materialized. The old mill is now but a memory and the canal that in its day was a great feeder to river traffic, is no more, in fact, only a memory. Where once the show boat made its way there are now paved streets, electric lights, mail carriers and automobiles and splendid homes and schools abound with numerous others in prospect. Practically the entire West Side has been subdivided into building lots and the growth of that section is marvelous.

City View, and Valley View, Hill Crest, Beckman Heights and other subdivisions extend north almost to Rushtown and the camps along the Scioto river and Brush Creek and the West Side is not now the sleepy hamlet of a score of years ago. Union Mills is gone, but the beautiful scene of the old water wheel has been perpetuated, and has been reproduced in every known pictorial form. A splendid bridge now spans the Scioto and optimists see the electric car line, extended north on Galeana pike providing a fifteen minute schedule to the heart of the city.

Display Room Is Open

The elegant display room in the Lehman building on Gallia street, is now ready for visitors. They will find much to entertain them, of material, besides the many pictures that always draw attention.

Two rooms are being fitted up, one as an old living room, and one as a kitchen.

There will be shown numerous articles of furniture and other equipment used by citizens of earlier days in furnishings that will appear unique to the younger generation who are accustomed to vacuum cleaners, natural gas, electricity and what not, inventions and discoveries that have taken the burdens from the shoulders of the modern housewife. There is, of course, no admission charge to the exhibit.

COME TO THE PAGEANT

The people of Portsmouth realize what a wonderful, spectacular production the Pageant of Portsmouth is going to be and it is one of the main objects of this edition of The Times to carry the message of the Pageant to its thousands of readers in South Central Ohio and Northern Kentucky, and to especially invite them to attend one of the performances. There will be comfortable seats for everybody, and the hours of the spectacle are such that visitors can easily attend and return home the same day. We are not exaggerating when we say this is going to be one of the most magnificent and elaborate spectacular performances in the history of this section and all citizens of Southern Ohio and Northern Kentucky should make it a point to attend and to bring the whole family with them.

Portsmouth, with her splendid retail stores, her great manufacturing plants, her wide-awake citizenship invites you to visit us, to see us as we were One Hundred years ago and as we are today.

Come to the Pageant.

THE NEWSPAPERS' JOB

THE city of Vienna, Austria, has been without newspapers for a week and one of the most striking results, according to correspondents, has been the circulation of sensational rumors that have not the slightest foundation in fact. Reports "by word of mouth" have told of the murder of statesmen and of all sorts of disasters and naturally have greatly excited the public.

It is significant that these rumors were all of an alarming and depressing character and also that no such reports were in circulation before the suspension of the newspapers. When the press was functioning cautions of this nature would have been short-lived. The explanation is simple. A citizen who hears a sensational story looks in his newspaper for confirmation. He finds no mention there and wisely concludes that the story could not have been true. If the story had circulated sufficiently to warrant a newspaper in taking notice of it, then the reader found the authoritative denial. But where there are no newspapers rumor gets in its deadly work. This was particularly true in early times when there were no printed mediums of general information. The people were constantly excited over reports of strange happenings, reports that expanded with each repetition.

During the great war there were many illustrations of how stories spread and of the function of the newspapers in stopping the progress of falsehoods. Every editor remembers the yarns about the shooting of spies at training camps, the "two nurses from Belgium with their hands cut off" who were reported seen in every state in the Union, the officials in high places who had been arrested and sent to Leavenworth for treasonable conduct. These baseless rumors did not spare even the White House. Without newspapers there would have been no way to squash these stories.

When their press resumes business the people of Vienna will learn what really has been taking place and they will wonder why they were so credulous when all these silly stories were flying about.

SALVATION ARMY PAY

CORNETS and tamborines, troubones, drums and voices of the Salvation Army will continue making music and the gentle, earnest workers will continue their rounds to the homes of sorrow and sickness, despite what to ordinary mortals would seem justification for discouragement if not a strike. It is announced that the pay of 4,000 officers in the United States is to be reduced $1 each a week if single, $2 a week if married.

The lowest grade in the army is that of cadet, who receives only board and lodging for his work. A single woman who is a lieutenant receives $11 and a single man $12 a week. If a woman is married she forfeits her pay, and a man is not permitted to marry until he is above the rank of lieutenant. The rate of pay is increased about $1 a week for each grade advanced and furnished quarters are provided for all officers. After an officer has served seven years as a captain he is eligible for appointment as an ensign. He receives 50 cents more in this grade and must spend the first four weeks' increase for silver insignia which he is then entitled to wear.

The maxim that a worker receives what he produces, however, holds good for the Salvation Army. It is the mission of its members to produce human happiness, to relieve distress and to teach simple goodness, and their reward is not the pay they receive but the joy of the performing their mission. The majority of workers in the United States are not recruits, but sons and daughters of Salvation Army people, who have learned that service to others is the path to contentment.

With the announcement that salaries would be cut came word from Bramwell Booth, head of the organization, that the retirement of Miss Evangeline Booth, Commander in the United States, had been decided upon. She has served the army well, cementing rifts with love and good will, and leading the organization to greater and more real accomplishment. It will be difficult to find some one who can fill the place which she occupies in the hearts of workers and friends of the soldiers of peace.

Paris Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

PARIS, Sept. 21.—The Parisian admits that the best dressed woman in Paris is the gay creature of the half-world—the demi-mondaine. At the smartest cafes they are registered so that the head waiter may in case a patron desires a vivacious companion for the evening send for them. I am speaking of the superior type. Not the amorphous du pape.

The demi-mondaine in Paris has a certain standing. She has charge accounts at the best shops and if she dines alone in the cafes signs the check. There are several who own magnificent homes along the Bois. They ride in liveried broughams and gleam with the finest jewels.

I am told reliably that a woman who figured in a prominent international marriage recently was once registered at the Cafe de Paris. All Paris knows this. One paper printed it. But Paris does not arch the supercilious brow. It applauds.

It is a national weakness of France, it seems to me, to gild its vice. It is one reason why, despite the magnificent beauty of architecture, the boulevards and the parks, one has a sense of ugliness. Paris boasts of its Arc de Triomphe along with its baguette, the "House of All Nations."

The demi-mondaine is welcomed at afternoon tea at the Ritz. The Calcutta or any of the smart places, it appears to me, just a bit more enthusiastically than her respectable sister. For after all she is more expensive to entertain and her cheeks are more sizable.

A Parisian journalist tells me a Madame B., famous for her beauty and notorious for her liaisons, has the biggest account yearly with the most exclusive jeweler on the Rue de la Paix. "And why not," he shrugged, "the poor creature earns it."

Of course, there is a reverse side to the picture. When Beauty fades they pay their toll. The old snazgle tooth woman who peddles flowers in front of the opera was once the most notorious of the Parisian courtesans. The Parisian points her out as one of the eight. She sleeps in the alleys on a piece of burlap she carries.

There is less cigarette smoking in public in Paris among women than in New York. The young Parisian girl is content bred usually. If she smokes at all, she smokes in the privacy of her boudoir.

The hotel keeper here steps out from behind the desk in the morning when a guest leaves the elevator and with one hand over his heart bows to the floor. He flutters about with characteristic solicitude. And then I think he sneaks back to the accounting department and adds one hundred francs to the bill.

Perhaps there is a national tradition about slicing peaches in France. I have tried five times for sliced peaches for breakfast. The peach is brought in a little basket and is imbedded in soft cotton. A small paring knife, accompanied the peach. But the paron refuses to bring a peach sliced. He shrugs and walks away. They eat snails and horse meat here, and for the life of me I can't see why they turn up their noses at a sliced peach.

I saw Georges Carpentier and his little son walking along one of the principal streets today and, of course, a big crowd tagged at his heels. He wore a gorgeous pink shirt with a spotted blue tie and carried a cane with a white knob handle that was almost as large as an old-fashioned bed post. He bestowed his winning smile upon those who waved at him from the windows. He is a national idol indeed.

The Little Samaritan
By Agnes M. Hickey
God's own little Samaritan!
I saw you fill the old tin can
With gurgling water from the brook.
And with your baby hands you took
It to the horse beside the road.
And lifting high your sparkling load
Held it close to his thirsting mouth.
To drink; and so you quenched his drouth.

Wee! ah, they may be proud of you.
Proud, I say, for your heart is true.
Though your clothes are ragged and torn, Stout hearts like yours are not forlorn.

For they are friends of birds and bees,
Their brows are cooled in God's sweet breeze.
And always they'll be lords of fate,
With all to love them, none to hate.
So, dear little Samaritan,
You make life good for beast and man.

Her Reason For Anxiety

A wedding party in the Northwest was bound for the church where the ceremony was to be performed, when they came to a river where a ferryman stood ready to take them over in his stately boat. As they were embarking, the bridegroom lost his balance and fell into the river.

"Oh, save him! save him!" shrieked the elderly bride, who was not only older than her intended but was reported to have been the one who did most of the courting.

"Calm yourself, my dear," her father said, soothingly. "he's an excellent swimmer."

"Yes, I know," she replied hysterically. "but save him! Catch him and pull him out. Look! He's swimming hard away from us."

Upheld the Family Dignity

Little Ethel was an only child and one day, when the minister called she was told to entertain him in the parlor until her mother could see him.

A few minutes later the mother, on her way downstairs, heard the visitor ask Ethel how many brothers and sisters she had, and, to her surprise and consternation, the little miss answered, "Seven."

After the minister had left, the child was taken to task and asked why she had said there were seven children. Ethel replied:

"Because I didn't want that strange gentleman to know that you were so poor that you didn't have but one child."—Everybody's Magazine.

A Dry Country

A man who drove across the country last summer to a little town in western Kansas, met a farmer hauling a wagon-load of water.

"Where do you get that water?" he asked.

"Up the road about seven miles," the farmer replied.

"And you haul water seven miles for your family and your stock?"

"Yep!"

"Why in the world don't you dig a well?" asked the traveler, exclaiming.

"Because, stranger," the farmer said firmly, "it's just as far one way as the other."

That Would Hold Him for Awhile

The city man was looking over the farmer's garden in a patronizing way and noticing a very fine gooseberry bush, the berries of which were covered with abnormally long hair or bristles, he asked the owner the cause of it.

"Well, you see, sir," said the farmer after a moment's thought, "them berries used to be quite smooth, but we had one of them long haired Persian cats, and it died. So I buried it under the bush; and ever since them berries has always had long hair on them like that."

It Cured Her

Not a hundred miles from Folkstone, a few months ago, a wife lay very ill. Having brought up a clever orphan girl, the sick woman called the young woman to her and said:

"I shall soon leave my little children motherless. They know you and love you, and after I am gone I want you and my husband to marry."

Left Earful

Right Earful

The schooling season's started. But still it can't be true. For school, it never starts, until The football season's through.

Women first appeared on the stage in the latter part of the seventeenth century.

A Question of Color

An old colored man was burning dead grass, when a "wise guy" stopped and said:

"You're foolish to do that, Uncle Eb; it will make the meadow as black as you are."

"Don't worry 'bout dat, sah," responded Uncle Eb. "Dat grass will grow out an' be as green as you is."

Just As Old

How are you, today, Sandy?" asked the landlord of his Scotch tenant.

"Verra well, sir," replied Sandy. "if it wasna for the rheumatism in my right leg."

"Ah, you must not complain, Sandy. You are getting old like the rest of us, and old age does not come alone."

"Auld age, sir?" exclaimed Sandy. "Auld age has nothin' to do with it. Here's my ither leg just as auld an' it's sound."

Stop

"Well! What are you stopping for?" asked the young man, as the taxi came to a halt in the middle of the block.

"I heard the lady say 'STOP,'" said the taxi driver.

"Well, she wasn't talking to you, was she?"

If You Are Well Bred

YOU do not introduce two people to each other unless you are quite certain this will be agreeable to both.

You never interrupt a conversation to introduce a new-comer.

You do not make haphazard or careless introductions, and you always pronounce the names of both persons distinctly. To slur over names is to create a strained and uncomfortable atmosphere.

WORDS OF WISE MEN

Fear and cruelty are ever twins.

The duty of a man as man is thought.

That man never grows old who keeps youth in his heart.

Great thoughts stand up like church spires.

Justice in its highest sense is the spirit of distributive order.

Education is not learning, but the exercise and the development of the powers of the mind.

One thing is a part of all things. If we knew everything of one thing we would know all things.

The intoxication of anger, like that of the grape, shows us to others, but hides us from ourselves.

We injure our own cause in the opinion of the world when we too passionately and eagerly defend it.

The pride of an ancestry is a superstructure of the most imposing height, but resting on the most flimsy foundation.

No one can ever hope to know the principles of any art or science thoroughly who does not write as well as read upon the subject.

Youth is not the age of pleasure. We then expect too much, and therefore are exposed to daily disappointments. When we are a little older, and have brought down our wishes to our experience, we become calm and begin to enjoy ourselves.

Is blessed health! Then art above all gold and treasure. He that is so wretched as to want what wants everything with thee.

The qualities of your friends will be those of your enemies. Old friends, old enemies, half-friends, half-enemies—fervid enemies, warm friends.

If you wish success in life, make perseverance your bosom friend, experience your wise counselor, caution your elder brother and hope your guardian genius.
